

1,000 DIE IN FLOOD AND FIRE

FACTIONS IN OHIO G. O. P. INCREASING

Reaction and Progress Cannot Long Go Together In Peace

FESS WARNS THEM

Roundup of Political Gossip In Columbus for the Week

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU
Columbus, June 4

COLUMBUS — (Special) — In the face of old factionalism was known in politics in Ohio, but nothing of the kind of the present day. This statement is made by Dr. S. D. Fess, one of the many facts which are known of all men and fully appreciated by them. The divisions are attested by leaders of greater and lesser degree and are deeper than is suspected in all save the direct participants in the strife. At the bottom of the division is a fundamental fact and that is that reaction and progress cannot go together for long. They are bound to drift apart and thus the struggle for the Republican party is on. That it has many complexities seems likewise. In the first place, the cleavage is not a simple one, for there are overlapping in many places. But it is not to be gainsayed that the divisions are along the fundamental lines indicated. For instance, Governor Harry L. Davis occupies the progressive position on a few points and the highly reactionary position on the other. The same can be said of the Daugherty-Halley faction.

A by-product of the situation is that with factions are seeking now to place the mass and the odium of the steadily underhand assault on the workmen's compensation law last winter on the other group. Consider, in this connection, the statement of Floor Leader C. C. Crabbe of the House of Representatives, speaking for the Governor, that Senator F. E. Whittemore, the higher branch floor leader, was trying to knife the workmen's compensation law and that reason he wanted the session adjourned. Then consider again that the other faction now tells that it was Governor Davis who fostered the Burns liability insurance company bill and personally asked members to vote for it. Then consider again the fact that James N. Linton in his argument against the emergency clause of the reorganization bill exclaimed in a dramatic manner: "Why, if the other side is right they can repeal the workmen's compensation act, declare it an emergency and deny the people a referendum." And James had no doubt at whom he was striking.

From Washington chirps Hon. Simeon D. Fess that the internal strife is wrecking the party and that there will be lost next year, if it goes on, 12 congressmen, one Governor and one United States Senator. Well, if he feels that way about it, let him come out here and settle the matter. Hon. Carmi A. Thompson refused the job. Let Simeon D. Fess take it up and all the family, not merely a string of 90 percent, will be placed on the payroll and he may have a senatorship and a starry crown for his efforts. Can anyone offer more? The trouble is that if the disturbance cannot be settled, then the party will be shown unfit to rule and power will slip from its hands. It depends more than one man. The party must first determine whether it wants to be reactionary or progressive or just grabbing. Let that be settled and all things will be added as a certain Teacher said of those who seek the kingdom of Heaven and righteousness.

One will not blame the Governor and his friends for asking Attorney General John G. Price to play every card the other day at the Armed Forces in the Supreme Court between the random friends and its enemies. The case justified such tactics. The quarry is so big, the pastures so luscious and the defeat so terrible that anything was justified and anything and everything was tried. The amusing part of it was that Judge Harvey C. Smith, the Chief Secretary of State, sat on the side lines like a man tied to a tree and could not say a word while violence was done to his inner beliefs. The strong in the courtroom bore testimony to the deafness with which the referendum is held and to the fact that it will be nullified only after the advocates of it (which are the vast majority of the forward looking people) have exhausted every resource.

They say that every cloud has its silver lining, which is another way of saying that the next time there is a Stephen Pottocase in Ohio a different man than Harry L. Davis will be in the Governor's chair. So much can be said now. The Governor is afraid of pardons and this

DR. SCHURMAN TO BE MINISTER TO CHINA

NEW YORK.—Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell University, has been nominated to be United States Minister to China, according to a report emanating from a high source in Washington.

Dr. Schurman is a native of Prince Edward Island, Canada. He is a graduate of the universities of London, Edinburgh, Heidelberg, Berlin and Göttingen. He also holds degrees from Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Dartmouth and Brown in this country.

Dr. Schurman has been president of Cornell since 1892. He was United States Minister to Greece and Montenegro in 1912. Previous to that he served as chairman of the first United States Philippine Commission. He is a deep student of the Darwinian theory and has written books on that subject and evolution generally.

MILLION CUT IN JOBLESS LIST

Unemployment in U. S. Shown Largely on Decrease.

FACTORIES ON FULL TIME

Mines and Railroads Swinging Back to Normal.

(BY RALPH F. COUCH)
WASHINGTON — Approximately 2,225,000 workers now are jobless, according to estimates made here Saturday, based on reports to several branches of the government, indicating that unemployment is decreasing.

At least 3,500,000 men and women were idle in January, a survey by the United States employment service shows. Now, however, no exact reports are available for the entire country, but data dealing with selected industries collected by the labor department, the federal reserve board and other agencies, indicates that war-time wage scales are now generally deflated.

Deflation makes it possible to operate at full-time factories which formerly were closed or running only two or three days a week.

Production of bituminous coal is shown to be greatly increased in reports to the United States geological survey proving that thousands of miners in the central, eastern and middle western fields are returning to work.

Railroads are now getting into the swing of summer track maintenance jobs and are hiring men daily. Railroad shops are also beginning to hum with activity following the winter period when thousands of maintenance and other workers were laid off.

Members of Kiwanis Club will be entertained by a double bill at luncheon at the Elks club Tuesday noon, when they will listen to addresses by Mayor Hall, and Thomas Henderson, of LaSalle Extension University of Chicago.

WEATHER FOR THE WEEK

WASHINGTON.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday are:
Ohio Valley and Tennessee—Region of Great Lakes: Cool and fair first part, normal temperature and local showers thereafter.

SIMEON FESS WANTS TO BE U. S. SENATOR

Edging Nearer and Nearer to the Flame as a Candidate

EDWARDS MAY WIN

Lima Man In Running for Collector—Political Gossip

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU
Washington, June 4

Dr. S. D. Fess, one of the many graduates of Ohio Northern University's School of Politicians, who represents the Seventh District in Congress, is edging nearer and nearer to the flame.

He all but precipitated himself this week in an adroit lecture to the warring factions in Columbus in a letter he made public in which he admonished the Boy Governor and the recalcitrant Legislature to make up, be friends and preserve a solid front to support him for the Senatorship.

In all the time that Professor Fess has been in Ohio politics, never has he injected himself in an issue which concerned him no further than the solidity of the party did. Of late years he has been more anxious about the election of Representatives from Arkansas and Maine than the selection of a Governor for Ohio.

But now it is different. He has been assured that the Administration chieftains admire the tick of his party regularity. He told that he is popular. Some, who should know better, have said he is the only man who can defeat Alice Pomerene next November, a year.

And the Dr. has taken it seriously. Always he has had an ambition to be Senator. He had it last summer. But like all good Republicans and all observant Democrats, for that matter, he believed Warren G. Harding was entitled to a second try at the Senatorship, not being quite convinced that Mr. Harding would even be nominated for President.

Whatever is said against him, it never can be doubted that the Dr. lacks courage. His letter to a Canton publisher this week demonstrated that. He showed it conclusively when he voted against the soldier bonus last year because it was against his convictions and misstep in regularity. Besides, Dr. Fess had two sons in the army who have been cared for lovingly by the governor, since he has had them placed on the pay roll.

Dr. Fess' letter this week narrowly misses a straightforward announcement of his candidacy for the Senatorship. In it he says publicly, if you'll notice, that he'd like to run and it adds, between the lines, that he will run unless he has to have half of the state party for him and the other half and Alice Pomerene against him.

These cynics who complain that a Congressman loses touch with the home folks as soon as he is ensconced under a postoffice frank have proof of their criticism.

Outside of Dr. Fess, not one Ohio Congressman evinces the least public interest in the Ohio situation, which if it develops as can be imagined, will be the crux of the national fight two and four years from now.

NEW PICTURE OF LEADER OF REVOLT IN UPPER SILESIA

Admiral Adalbert Korfanty, the high chieftain of the Polish insurgents in Upper Silesia is Admiral Adalbert Korfanty. He was appointed by the Warsaw government as Polish commissioner in Upper Silesia after the signing of the treaty of Versailles, but following the plebiscite in Upper Silesia he resigned, alleging that the German residents of the country were oppressing the Poles. He gathered troops of Silesian Poles and was joined by thousands from Poland. These troops now control three-fourths of Upper Silesia.

TERROR REIGNS IN SILESIAN CITY

German Population Tortured by Polish Insurgents.

LIKENED TO BELGIAN STORIES

Women Horribly Mistreated, Infants Dying of Hunger.

(BY CARL D. GROAT)
GLEIWITZ, Upper Silesia.—Resumption of fighting between Germans and Poles was threatened momentarily here Saturday night.

The German population of this great factory district, anguished at delays by the allies, held in terror at night by armed Polish insurgents, threatened again to take affairs in their own hands and make a final desperate effort to clear the region of their enemies.

I ran squarely into this threatening situation Saturday night at the conclusion of a three-day trip around the Silesian "factory triangle" of Neuthen, Katowitz and Gleiwitz.

The German population never speaks of Polish offensives—always it is "atrocities." They present violence to tell tales of violence exceeding the German efforts in Belgium and France.

Men are treated brutally, the Germans declared. The women are made victims of unspeakable mistreatment.

Darkness brings signs of terror, according to these reports which were heard everywhere in the factory region. Women no longer venture from their homes, but sometimes their male relatives are overpowered and the women dragged into the darkness to struggle helplessly with horrible stories of their treatment by the enemy.

Conditions have grown so bad that many arguments between the British and French troops. The French for the Germans and tell them it is just a ridiculous story that the British capture the Polish activities, but the fact, have not had sufficient numbers to make their decisions prevail.

Early Saturday morning, a machine gun squad, its weapon mangled before the insurgents, was stationed to prevent any one touching the flag.

ELABORATE PARK PLANS PROJECTED

System Suggested that Will Provide More Pleasure Grounds

BOULEVARD PLAN

Park Commission to Submit Idea to Council at Proper Time

Plans for a system of parks, which will provide pleasure grounds and breathing spaces for generations to come, with a connecting boulevard system linking one park to another, are to be submitted in the near future to Mayor Burkhardt by the city park commission.

Outline of the plan has not yet reached a comprehensive stage, but rough sketching of the entire idea have been drawn and the commission is going over the territory and making a study of it for selection of park sites.

As it stands, the general plan for the system being discussed by the commission is one that may not be realized for years to come. Members of the commission believe that the idea should be developed and worked out step by step, as finances will permit.

ACQUIRE MCCULLOUGH PARK
At present Lima has but two parks, Lincoln, located in the east section of the city and Faurst, on the west side. Among the first steps which the commission may recommend will be acquisition of the lake and grounds at McCullough's tracks. The site is already largely cleared for a park, but is owned privately.

Another site under consideration is Hoover park, adjacent to the Solar plant. It is now privately owned and has been partially improved. If acquired by the city, it is proposed to link it up with Faurst park, situated on the opposite bank of the river. A bridge constructed across the stream at some future date would connect the park with Woodlawn and Gethsemane cemeteries. The commission also favors purchase of low lying land on the west bank of the river, situated south of Faurst park and east of Woodlawn cemetery. The rapid growth of the city in that section makes it a certainty that additional park space will be needed in the future.

It is also deemed advisable to include the grounds and lake at McCullough's in the park plan.

The commission is making a study of woodland situated near the southeast and northwest portions of the city, with a view to acquiring them for park purposes.

PARK SYSTEM PLAN
If this is done, they point out that Lima will have parks near to every section of the city and their creation will provide pleasure grounds for at least twice the population now in Lima.

To connect the various parks contemplated in the plan outlined, F. E. Harman, chairman of the commission, advocates construction of a connecting boulevard system.

He and other members of the commission have gone over the ground and have found that such system could be constructed along with the normal improvements incident to growth of the city.

Commencing at Woodlawn cemetery, the system plans would extend north along Woodlawn-ave to Robb-ave. A portion of this stretch is now paved, but the majority is still a dirt road. Turning east, the boulevard link is planned to follow Robb-ave to the State hospital, and south to McCullough's lake, past the Gramm-Bernstein plant and fair grounds to the Perry-st line. Thence east it would pass thru the industrial area on the south side, thru Hoover park and south west along Amanda-rd to Shawnee-rd.

This would bring motorists within easy access of the Country club and Children's home. Running north on Shawnee-rd, the route would pass McBeth park and intercept Spencerville-rd and thence east to the point of beginning.

HOMES SWEEPED IN DISASTER AT PUEBLO, COLO.

Water Ten Feet Deep, Swirls Thru the City, Carrying Death and Destruction, Following Cloudbursts, Overflowing Nearby Streams

Fires Started by Lightning Add to Horrors of the Situation—Thousands Without Shelter or Food—Property Loss Put at Ten Millions

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — The death toll at Pueblo will reach nearly 1,000, according to latest reports from the city swept by flood and fire Saturday night.

Ivus Dailey, state representative from Huerfano-co, who was directing some of the relief work, said the number of deaths would be close to one thousand.

Rain started falling in Pueblo Saturday night, adding to the suffering of the survivors. Fires in the business district were extinguished with the new downpour late Saturday.

The water was 9-12 feet deep in the Pueblo railroad station Saturday night.

SEARCH FOR DEAD CONDUCTED UNDER DIRECTION OF MILITARY

PUEBLO, Colo. — Lives of five hundred men, women and children were snuffed out here when floods swept down from the mountains on this city Friday night.

One hundred and ninety-nine bodies were recovered and were in the improvised morgues Saturday night.

Hundreds of survivors viewed the corpses in an effort to identify the dead.

Search for the dead continued Saturday night under the direction of military and civil authorities.

There was intense suffering from the cold.

AMERICAN LEGION MEMBERS GO TO PUEBLO TO BURY THE DEAD

Damage from the flood and fires which followed was estimated at least at $10,000,000.

Flood waters receded Saturday night, but heavy clouds gave promise of more rain.

Refugees were being cared for in municipal buildings. Many were without adequate clothing. Food was being doled out in small quantities to women and children. Military guards were ordered to shoot looters on sight.

Rescue work was carried on under greatest difficulties. The light plant was put out of commission with the first flood waters and relief workers were forced to work in darkness.

Burned buildings stood with bare walls covered for a height of five to ten feet with mud and slime, left by the onrushing waters.

300 PASSENGERS BELIEVED KILLED WHEN TRAIN OVERTURNS IN FLOOD

CANON CITY, Colo.—Fear was expressed here Saturday that probably 300 passengers had perished when Missouri Pacific passenger train number two and Denver and Rio Grande passenger train number three were overturned by the flood water in the Pueblo railway yards. The report came from railroad officials in Pueblo as a confidential communication to the offices here.

Both trains had just pulled into the yards when the wall of water struck the cars, undermined the tracks and toppled over the coaches. Although authentic details were lacking, railroad men feared many of the passengers had perished. Efforts to reach Pueblo from this city had failed Saturday night although several rescuers have left here for the flooded district.

AMERICAN LEGION MEMBERS GO TO PUEBLO TO BURY THE DEAD

DENVER, Colo.—More than 500 are dead in Pueblo, Colo., Colonel Patrick J. Hamrock, commander of the Colorado rangers, said Saturday night.

"Five hundred would be a conservative estimate," he said. Hamrock had been receiving word from his aides in the stricken city. Hamrock left for Colorado Springs Saturday night. Arrangements were made under his direction to send supplies to Pueblo from Colorado Springs by motor truck. They will carry bedding and food.

Sixty members of the American Legion who were with an engineering outfit in France, left here Saturday night for Pueblo to bury the dead, build roads and bridges, in the flooded district.

Health officials planned sanitary precautions to prevent the outbreak of pestilence.

BEGINNING OF DISASTER

The flood swept from the Arkansas and Fountain rivers at 7 o'clock Friday night. Police drove the crowds back from the main bridges and in half an hour the water was pouring over the top of the railings of the bridges and the main business section was flooded. Street cars stopped running. Electric lights went out as the water receded and fires broke out all over the downtown district. There was no water to fight the fires.

Buildings collapsed after foundations were swept out. The Colorado rangers, police and firemen performed miraculous rescues. The fire spread.

Ambers Company plant, a paint company's factory, the gas and the ice plant were burned. Newspapers were put out of commission by the flood. At 10 p. m. Friday the waters receded, only to be followed by a second cloudburst which sent the torrents raging thru the streets again. Stores were damaged. Stocks ruined.

WATER 10 FEET

Water stood ten feet deep in the business section. Grant Fryor, a merchant, was rescued from the top of one of the remaining walls of his store, which collapsed. Warning of the approaching flood was given by whistles and fire alarms. The first direct word of the disaster to reach the outside world was the story brought to Colorado Springs by C. R. Rallsback, a railroad agent. Rallsback said he estimated 1,200 were dead. Damage was estimated by him at several million dollars. His description follows: "Fires continued to break out Saturday. Refugees are housed in church and schools and in private residences in part of the city not under water. The local Red Cross members are adding the homeless. Captain S. L. Fitzsimmons, in command of the city military force Saturday, had orders to shoot looters on sight. A food administrator has been

PERILOUS POSITIONS

"Thousands of Mexicans with their worldly possessions tied in bundles on their backs, were wandering about in the dry parts of the city, hungry and with no beds but the pavements."

Edward Pryor, a merchant, spent the night on the one wall of his four-story building, while his wife was endeavoring to rescue him. The building collapsed while Pryor was in it, but he managed to climb to the top of the one wall. The rescue crew finally brought him to safety with the aid of ladders and boats.

Richard Philbin, of the Colorado Rangers, spent the night on top of a telephone pole. His horse was swept from under him and drowned. Philbin swam to the pole and clambered up out of reach of the water. He perched on the cross arm until rescued by firemen.

"American Legion members took charge of guard patrols about noon and were carrying on a systematic campaign of searching for probable dead and aiding refugees."

"Great crowds of spectators gathered on the bridges to watch the rising waters of the Arkansas and Fountain rivers. It was necessary for police and state troops to drive them back out of danger. Within half an hour after the curious mobs had been sent home, water was pouring over the railings of the bridges."

PUEBLO, THE CITY OF SORROW

Altho it has an elevation of 4,565 feet above sea level, Pueblo lies in a large basin at the east of the foothills of the Rockies and directly at the confluence of the Arkansas and Fountain rivers. This location fits in well with Pueblo, the industrial center, but proved disastrous in Saturday's flood disaster.

The city's main business section is only a few feet above the Arkansas river, with the stream at normal stage and danger from the flood has long threatened life and property altho protection is afforded by levees.

Called "the Pittsburgh of the West," Pueblo is the center of a section which derives great wealth from rich deposits of coal, limestone, oil, gas, sand and clay. The city has many smelters and factories including the great Colorado Fuel and Iron Works. Six railroads have terminals there.

In size, Pueblo is second to Denver among Colorado cities. The estimated population is 20,000.

A typical industrial center, Pueblo's showiest building is the State Mineral Palace, noted for its architectural beauty, which contains a complete collection of Colorado's minerals. Other structures include a $1,000,000 court house, the McClelland Public Library and the State Insane Asylum.

Three hundred and thirty acres now inundated by the flood waters—stretch out in what is normally beautiful Public Park and Children's playgrounds.

Pueblo's educational institutions include two modern high schools, Benedictine College, two academies, 18 grade schools and two business colleges.

Pueblo was founded by Mormons in 1846, but the few pioneer residents were massacred by Indians in 1854. The present city was laid out in 1859 and was chartered in 1874.

MOTOR TRUCK WRECKED BY OHIO ELECTRIC CAR

Theodore E. Fisher, residing east of Wapakoneta, escaped with only eight bruises Saturday when a three-ton truck he was driving was struck by a south bound Ohio Electric freight car on a crossing at Wayneville.

Fisher saw the rapidly moving car approaching and tried to stop the truck before reaching the track. The front wheels were over the rail when the impact came. The truck was practically demolished.

BOY'S FOOT CRUSHED OFF BY CAR WHEELS

John Balard, 17, who declared his residence is at 1301 N. Central, Chicago, had a foot crushed off when he attempted to board a moving Chicago & Erie freight train at the Metcalf-st crossing, Saturday at 4:30 p. m.

Balard, in company with another youth, said he was trying to get home and attempted to board the train to complete the journey. Balard was removed to the City hospital.

STRICKEN BY ILLNESS

Roland B. Mikesell, 356 Jameson-ave, office manager for the G. E. Blum company, fell in a faint while in his office Saturday afternoon. At the time it was believed over-exertion from work caused the attack. He was removed to the City hospital. At that institution at midnight Saturday it was announced that Mikesell is a talented singer and choir leader at the First Christian church.

RED CROSS SENDS $50,000 FOR FLOOD VICTIMS AT PUEBLO

WASHINGTON — The American Red Cross Saturday night, thru its national headquarters here, authorized use of up to $50,000 of its funds for the relief of sufferers in the Pueblo, Colo., flood area, W. Frank Parsons, vice-chairman of the central committee announced. Telegraphed instructions were sent southwestern division headquarters at St. Louis to draw on the national organization's treasury for the money if it is needed.

Large quantities of supplies are being rushed to the relief of victims of the flood area by the army, Adjutant General Peter C. Harris, of the war department said Saturday night.

The relief supplies are being sent out at the direction of the commanders of the eighth and ninth corps areas with headquarters at San Antonio, Texas, and San Francisco, respectively.

HOME COMFORTS FOR WORKERS

State Employees to Have Offices in Hotel

COLUMBUS. — (By Associated Press.) — Governor Davis has signed the bill empowering the state to purchase the Hartman Hotel here for office purposes, and when state employees go into their new quarters July 1, they will have "all the comforts of home."

They may eat their three daily meals there, and after the day's work is over the men may shave, if they want to, and the women "fix up," aided by all the fixtures and conveniences of a high class hotel.

According to plans now, the state will move into the building just as it stands. "The convenience of having all the departments under one head appealed to me as much as the economy phase of saving rental now being paid out," said Adjutant General Florence, who put thru the deal securing the hotel.

When Florence took his first look at the hotel, he never thought of leasing it. He went there to see if the big dining room might be suitable to house the state industrial commission. The room appealed to him for that purpose, and then he saw more of the hotel.

"If I could only lease this place, my troubles would be ended," he said.

He voiced the sentiment to a local real estate firm, and a deal was made.

The industrial commission will have the main dining room as its workroom. The only other department that needs a large room, the state highway department, will use a big parlor on the second floor.

There are 106 bedrooms, large and small, to take care of the other divisions and bureaus. Twenty-six of the rooms have baths.

MAYOR OF CORK FLEES U.S.

Sinn Fein Leader's Destination Is Not Known.

CHICAGO — Donal O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, has obeyed the mandate of the United States and fled the country, the United Press was reliably informed Saturday night.

O'Callaghan, the 27-year-old Irish mayor of one of the largest Irish cities and leader of the Sinn Fein movement, has been out of the United States for three days. The destination of O'Callaghan and how he slipped out of the country he picked for political asylum, was not known.

HARDINGS ON VISIT TO HOME OF SENATOR KNOX

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. — At the historic home of Senator Philander C. Knox, President Harding enjoyed complete relaxation Saturday night.

The president and Mrs. Harding arrived here late in the afternoon after a 140 mile automobile trip from Washington. They spent the evening on the wide veranda of the senator's Colonial dwelling and enjoyed a moving picture show brought out from Philadelphia.

Before dinner the president managed to get a round of golf at the Phoenixville club with Senator Knox and Secretary Christian.

WELL-KNOWN AUTHOR TO WRITE OF HAWAII

HONOLULU, Hawaii — Frederick O'Brien, author of "White Shadows in the South Seas," will write his next book about Hawaii, according to an announcement he made at Honolulu this month while passing thru on his way to Samoa. O'Brien says that after the publication of "Mystic Isles of the South Seas," now in preparation, he will devote his attention to material he gathered about Hawaii when he was city editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser of Honolulu twenty years ago.

BODY OF MISSING GIRL FOUND BY BOY SCOUTS

DES MOINES, Iowa — The body of Miss Sara Barbara Thorndale, 24-year-old country school teacher who has been missing since Thursday, was found Saturday by a party of Boy Scouts who were aiding the authorities in the search for the girl. The body was found under a bush near Valley Junction, a suburb.

LINDALL ESTATE $3,336 — The real estate of Charles Lindall, late of N. Park-ave, amounted to $3,200 and the household goods to $136, according to appraisement filed in probate court. P. C. Beck, W. H. Macdonald and Seward Palsom were appraisers.

COMPLAINTS POUR IN CONCERNING DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE FROM CITY

Numerous complaints that garbage and other refuse is being hauled from the city into the country districts and either fed to animals or otherwise disposed of in a manner contrary to law, are still pouring into the office of Dr. J. J. Sutter, Allen-co health commissioner.

So great has the nuisance become in certain sections of the surrounding country that Dr. Sutter has decided that vigorous methods must be pursued. It is planned to make a thorough survey of all places concerning which complaints have been made, early this week and, after a conference with Prosecuting Attorney E. T. Lippincott, definite action will be taken. It is possible, the prosecutor will be one of the party making the survey.

Just what action will be taken has not been decided. It is possible that arrests will be made in some cases. A system of licenses is also under consideration and will probably be put in force, according to Dr. Sutter. Hot weather, together with the fact that definite action has not yet been taken by the city to abate the nuisance, has caused this action.

VOLSTEAD AIMS BLOW AT BEER

Plans to Kill Palmer Ruling with New Bill.

WASHINGTON — Representative Andrew J. Volstead, dry law legislator, will make a determined effort this week to knock another prop out from the hopes of the wets. He will try to force thru congress his supplemental prohibition bill forbidding the prescription of beer as medicine. He intends to rush the measure thru before the famous Palmer beer ruling is put into effect.

Believing that even a brief regime for the Palmer ruling would weaken prohibition enforcement, he hopes to prevent its becoming effective.

He will ask a privileged status for his bill in the house and hopes for its passage before the end of the week. Then he will try to rush it thru the senate.

SHIPBUILDER GIVES BIG SEND-OFF TO FINANCIER; WERE PALS AS RIVETERS

NEW YORK. — The east may be out and the west may be west, but oh, boy, when the twins do meet. No, this isn't the story of the California-Princeton bat race. It's about boats—but something altogether different.

William H. Todd of the Todd Shipbuilding Corporation and Joseph T. Tynan of San Francisco knew each other as riveters when they both were below the first rung in the financial ladder.

They're millionaires now. Sometime ago Todd made a trip to the Golden West. He was met at the station at San Francisco by a brass band and about 200 automobiles and a Golden Gate reception committee. And Todd remembered it.

Today the liner Silver State sailed for San Francisco and Seattle via the Panama canal. Mr. and Mrs. Tynan were aboard. And here's where Todd got even.

A brass band escorted them to the senator's launch and the launch conveyed the big ship thru the narrow and two bi-planes zoomed swooped and circled overhead, dropping flowers on the deck.

PASTOR DIES WHILE HIS WIFE IS CRITICALLY ILL

CINCINNATI — Mrs. George Edward Jackson, Oxford, Ohio, who is a patient at a hospital here, was not informed Saturday of the death of her husband, the Rev. G. E. Jackson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Oxford, because of her serious condition. Her husband died unexpectedly of apoplexy. Mrs. Jackson was operated upon a few days ago. Dr. Jackson was 55 and moved from Canton last fall to take the Oxford charge.

The company claimed $187.60 for merchandise sold. A jury in justice court returned a verdict of no cause of action.

TERRIFIED WOMEN FAIR BOARD HAS SWEEPED AWAY

Eye Witness Describes Horrible Scenes of Flood.

BABIES FACE STARVATION

Refugees Desperate for Food and Drinking Water.

(BY C. S. RAILSBACK)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — The number of lives lost in the disaster which struck Pueblo like a bolt of lightning, will never be known.

I spent the entire night with hundreds of others, rescuing women and children. My mind is so befuddled now that I can scarcely collect my thoughts to write of the terrible thing.

The main business district of the city is gutted by fire and water. Entire residence districts in some locations were completely wiped out. It was so horrible that I cannot find words to describe it.

I saw several frame rooming houses topple over and plunge into the raging torrent, each filled with screaming women and children. The scene was sickening.

At one time over fifteen feet deep was rushing thru the Santa Fe yards. The yards were completely destroyed.

Fires broke out in many places at once.

The river broke over its bank near the asylum for the insane. There was a torrent from the high cliffs to the west of the Union depot, as far as Seventh-st.

Bailey said the refugees were beginning to feel the pangs of hunger when he left.

The biggest need was for milk for the babies, he said.

Hundreds of babies will be in danger of death if milk does not reach them by tomorrow, he said.

Scores of refugees found temporary shelter in automobiles, garages and barns with only lap robes to cover them.

In the outskirts of the city grocers were said to be supplying sufficient groceries to take care of the women and children.

Milk and clothing was badly needed, Bailey said.

Added to that, is the continual cry for water, he declared. Altho the city's streets are surging with water in some places as high as the second story of business buildings, water mains were broken and drinking water is not available.

Physicians strongly urged the thirsty from drinking the flood water, altho many were tempted to, because of the great danger of spread of disease.

Charles Hughes, district attorney of Pueblo, left here Saturday night in an attempt to reach his home city in an automobile. He carried a barrel of water in the machine.

PROF. J. E. COLLINS TO ADDRESS MERCHANTS

How the schools may aid the merchant by training students in the elements of selling will be discussed by Prof. J. E. Collins, superintendent of schools before the regular meeting of the Lima Merchants' association at the Lima Club Tuesday evening.

Lima is to one of six cities in Ohio installing vocational work in the schools, which will afford courses of training for sales people. Superintendent Collins will explain the details by which students are made valuable assets to the merchant.

The annual outing of the association will also be a subject for discussion. Programs in charge of L. Rose, chairman of the entertainment committee.

CHANGE MADE IN WELLS FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS

Funeral services for Francis Wells, private in Company C, 15th infantry who died in France from injuries received in the world war, will be held at Second-st. M. E. church Monday at 2 p. m., instead of at Trinity M. E. church, as first planned.

The American Legion will conduct services at Woodlawn, where the body will be laid to rest. The Rev. Charles Fulkerson, pastor of Second-st. church, will officiate.

MEN AND MATTERS

J. H. Wallace, manager of the J. C. Fenney Co., will arrive in this city Sunday from a week's business trip in New York City.

Camp meeting services beginning Sunday, will be held during June at a big tent on W. Spring-st. Rev. N. H. Calhoun, Columbus, a traveling evangelist will be in charge. Meetings will be held thruout the day Sunday.

Thirty days of revival services will be conducted in a tent erected south of Main-st. Ottawa river bridge, under the auspices of the Christian Army. First service was conducted Saturday evening, by Col. Matthews, of Bellefontaine.

A window display that is creating comment is that of Bastringer's where the theme of an old Chinese story is carried out, depicting the Feast of Jewels. In the center of the display is the holy shrine of Buddha. Surrounding the shrine is grouped the worshippers bearing in their hands precious gifts on velvet pads. Special lighting effects aid in telling the story and complete the effect.

McKERNNEY APPEAL DENIED — CLEVELAND — The appeal of Mrs. Dolla McKernney, recently convicted of subornation of perjury in the McGannon murder trials for a rehearing of her case, was overruled Saturday. Her only hope now of escaping sentence of from one to ten years in Marysville reformatory is an appeal to the court of appeals.

FAIR BOARD HAS GROUND OFFERS

Locations Considered at Saturday's Meeting.

THREE SITES SUGGESTED

Near $10,000 Offered in 1921 Speed Events.

Choice of three sites for new fair grounds was offered the Allen-co Fair board at a directors' meeting Saturday afternoon, but no action was taken by the board.

A tract of 127 acres, owned by J. D. Tam, located near the overhead at the C. & E. tracks and a 74-acre plot of land at Cole-st and Elida-rd, belonging to R. E. Davis and others are the two tracts most favored. Another tract of 37 acres, known as the Riley farm, Cable-rd and Pennsylvania railroad, was considered too small for fair purposes.

At least two more fairs will be held on the old grounds, "M. L. Mayer, secretary of the board, said. "Our lease on the old grounds will not expire until March, 1923. Since announcement was made that the board contemplated seeking new grounds, we have been flooded with inquiries and three offers of sites were submitted in writing Saturday.

In order to purchase property, the board must submit the matter to the voters at the fall election in 1922."

SPEED PROGRAM RATIFIED — Speed program as arranged two weeks ago was ratified by the board Saturday. Prospects for the fair were never better, was opinion expressed by Secretary Mayer. All but a few lunch concessions have been sold. Purposes offered in speed events total $9,630, and are the largest ever offered on the racing track in Allen-co. Among the free attractions offered will be singing and vaudeville and balloon ascensions daily, with a parachute leap. All judges for the racing and show rings have been employed. Entry list is complete.

Lima will be a member of the Northwestern Ohio shortstop circuit this year and will be the initial city on the ring. From this city horsemen will ship their racers to Findlay, Toledo, Kenton, Bowling Green, Fremont and Bellefontaine. Van Wert was a member of the circuit but dropped out.

PRIEST ARRAIGNED

Pleads Not Guilty to Charge in Toledo Robbery.

TOLEDO — Father Anthony Gorek, New Chicago, Indiana, parish priest, was arraigned before Federal Judge Killits Saturday and pleaded not guilty to a charge of conspiracy in connection with the Toledo $1,000,000 postoffice robbery. He was released on a $10,000 bond.

John Paulek and Paul Bartnikowski, of Indiana Harbor, Indiana, were arraigned with Father Gorek and also pleaded not guilty to the same charge. Their bond was fixed at $5,000 each.

The trio brought here from Chicago Saturday morning, will be put on trial with a score or more other suspects in federal court here Monday.

BRENNEMAN ESTATE $4,000

John Olt, West Cairo, was Saturday appointed administrator of the estate of the late Jesse Brenneman, who died May 31. Brenneman was a grocer at West Cairo. He leaves a widow and four children. The estate total $4,000, of which $2,000 is real estate. J. M. Yant, Harry Miller and Sherman Ross have been named as appraisers.

LIMA IS HEADQUARTERS CITY FOR WHITE TRUCKS

Lima will be one of the three headquarters cities for the Overland Herring Co., Mansfield, the largest distributing agency for White Trucks in Ohio. K. M. Watkins, formerly of the Lima Motor Car company, will be in charge of the Lima agency, at the Moon garage, 206 E. Market-st.

The agency will be known as the White Truck Sales & Service company, Joe C. Hartline, formerly manager of the Lima Overland company and the Lima Motor Car company, is in charge of sales for the entire district, comprising 11 counties. Main offices will be located in Mansfield, with a branch in Marion.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL USE COLLEGE

Institution, 103 Years Old, Purchased by Village

NEW ATHENS, O. — Franklin College, established 103 years ago in this village, is to become a part of the village public school system, as the result of a vote taken recently. The college was not operated last year, due to lack of funds, and a proposition was made to the village that it might have the main building and the gymnasium, if it would pay a debt of $15,000.

The village high school will use both of the buildings.

Franklin College, in 1838, was known as Alma Institute. In 1839, the state legislature changed the name to Franklin College. The school has specialized on courses leading to the ministry, and hundreds of ministers are among its graduates.

John A. Bingham of Cadiz, first American ambassador to Japan, counsel in the trial of Lincoln's assassination, and author of the sixteenth amendment, is its most famous graduate. Judge John Pollock of the Kansas City federal court, is a graduate.

Absence of transportation facilities is blamed for the death of the college. The town is six miles from a railroad.

WIFE ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Cleveland Woman Claims She Did Not Kill Husband.

NEW YORK — Mrs. Katharine Eva Kaber, under indictment in Cleveland, on a charge of murdering her husband, was arrested here Saturday night at the apartment of a friend.

Mrs. Kaber's daughter, Mary McArdle, accompanied her to the police station. The prisoner said she was willing and ready to return to Cleveland and face her accusers but that she is innocent of the charge of killing her wealthy publisher husband.

Disabled Portuguese Soldiers Having Hard Time

DECIDED TO BEG ALMS

Complaints Made to Parliament Against War Office

LISBON—(By Associated Press)—American soldiers who complain that the government does not take care of disabled veterans of the great war probably are in no worse a fix than some of the Portuguese, who similarly suffered and on whose behalf indignant protests are being made to the Portuguese government. The greatest indignation has been aroused here by the discovery that 25 wounded soldiers had been discharged from a government institution with an allowance equivalent to about 35 cents a day. Finding themselves destitute, the disabled men had decided to form a group and beg alms in the streets of Lisbon but they were induced not to do this by promises that their case would be presented to Parliament and complaint would be made against the action of the war office. Subscriptions were taken up for them. All the leading newspapers joined in the agitation and one of them threatened that if the government did not properly aid the disabled men they would be formed into a procession to march thru the streets begging alms. As showing the distress of some of the men who fought for Portugal in the great war the Imprensa says that one soldier nearly blind is still wearing the spectacles given to him by the Germans, that another is wearing a wooden leg given by the French while another is trying to support a wife and three children on his allowance of 35 cents a day. On the other hand, the war Ministry has denied any lack of care for the disabled soldiers and asserted that many have been offered posts in the public service but have refused them.

JOURNEMEN PLUMBERS. ON STRIKE HERE, GIVE THEIR SIDE OF STORY

Journemen plumbers affected by the disagreement between them and employers in Lima over a new wage contract, which resulted in a strike June 1, and the declaration by employers that they would operate open shops, issued a statement Saturday concerning the situation. The journeymen said their wage committee proposed an hourly reduction of 10 cents, making the wages 90 cents an hour, which was rejected by the employers. They had been receiving $1 an hour. In their statement the journeymen said that the employers had charged the public $1.50 an hour for work, while the wage scale was $1, and that they had agreed to cut the price to the public to $1.25 an hour if the journeymen would accept the 80-cent scale offered by the employers, which was rejected by the workmen.

JORDAN

BALANCE is the dominant characteristic of Jordan cars. This depends upon the careful distribution of weight, the length and quality of the springs, the delicate point of their suspension, and the arrangement of the steering apparatus.

Jordan bodies are hammock-swung between the axles, with long springs—of chrome vanadium steel.

Men who are weary of big bulky cars will choose it with joy.

PLAYS LONE HAND IN POLICE GAME

Mayor Seeks Prosecution of Goebel and Eberle.

PROBERS REFUSE TO INDICT

Resignation of Cops May Not Be Close of Incident.

With practically all cards apparently lying face up on the table, indications are that Mayor Burkhardt will reveal his "hole card" this week in the Eberle-Goebel game, in which the mayor appears to be playing the lone hand.

Persistent rumors about police headquarters Saturday were to the effect that Burkhardt anticipates signing an affidavit against the two former police sergeants, charging them with disorderly conduct in Earl Smith's cigar store on E. Market-st last Saturday night. The former officers are alleged to have been in an intoxicated condition and to have entered Smith's place and started a row.

ADVICE IS SOUGHT
According to information from authentic sources Saturday, Burkhardt made interrogations of Police Judge Jackson concerning the legality of arranging Eberle and Goebel in police court. The mayor was told that it was within the law for anyone so desiring to file an affidavit against the two men.

However, up to a late hour Saturday the mayor had not filed his charges. The mayor practically admitted to a representative of The News that he had anticipated the filing of affidavits, before the grand jury took the case for investigation. He previously hinted that he would file charges in event the grand jury refused to act on the case.

When the grand jury, after examining nine witnesses Friday, returned no indictments, the mayor sought information concerning the legality of his proposed plan. As far as can be ascertained the mayor is the only one endeavoring to push the charges against the two former officers. Chief of Police Roush, who incidentally is being fought by the chief executive, is apparently sitting quiet in the boat awaiting developments. Safety Director Fisher is not preferring any charges against the men, allowing the matter to rest when Eberle and Goebel handed in their resignations last Tuesday morning.

HOW IT ALL STARTED
The affair started last Saturday night. Police Sergeant John R. Goebel and Frank Eberle, are alleged to have entered the cigar store of Frank Smith on E. Market-st and demanded to be allowed to search the place for intoxicating liquors. When Smith refused them, it is alleged, the two officers drew knives or revolvers and assaulted customers.

Captain Dawson, who is really high chief of police, was called and conducted the men to headquarters. Chief Roush was notified. Safety Director Fisher went into conference with the two men Sunday and Tuesday he was handed their resignations. At that time, Fisher expressed his regret of the incident, and praised the two officers for services rendered the public while the men were members of the police department. The safety director declared that the resignations of the two officers closed the incident insofar as the department was concerned.

Chief Roush also made a statement to the effect that he would not push the charges against the men, since they had handed in their resignations. Smith, proprietor of store in which the trouble occurred, visited police headquarters and declared he had no intention of charging the two officers with a violation of the law.

CITY AND BONDING CO.
WILL CONFER WEDNESDAY

After being twice postponed, the conference between city officials and representatives of the U. S. Guaranty & Fidelity company to adjust final payments on construction of dock creek basin, is to be held Wednesday, June 6. Service Director McClain announced Saturday.

The company as bondsman for J. H. Jones, defaulting contractor, finished the work on the reservoir, and is now demanding final settlement, amounting to $29,000. Collection of the claim has been blocked to date by City Auditor David L. Rupert, on the ground that failure to finish the work on time has caused the city a loss of water revenue, about equal to money owing the bonding company.

The bonding company officials will be given an opportunity to tell their side of the case Wednesday.

LIMA PARTY ENJOYING OCEAN JOURNEY

"Party thousand miles out, beautiful sea, no sickness," was the cheerful message received by The News Saturday from L. S. Galvin, member of the party of Lima Rotarians en route to the International Rotary convention at Edinburgh.

The wireless message was relayed by wire from Boston. Included in the Lima party are Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Blattenberg, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hulken, B. F. Thomas, Dr. T. R. Thomas, W. E. Bayly, G. E. Bayly and L. S. Galvin.

REGENT THEATRE IS CLOSED

Will Reopen September 4 —
Vaudeville May Be Offered.

Shrinking patronage, due to hot weather which has turned public inclination toward out of door amusements, coupled with excessive prices demanded by producers for films, caused the Regent theatre to close its doors for the summer Saturday night, according to the management.

After the last film had been seen the last flicker of the film, Manager F. Zartman locked the front door last night, and made preparations to go to his home in Dayton for a vacation. He is undecided whether to return to Lima or accept management of another of the 28 houses operated by the Bijou Theatre Enterprise company, Battle Creek, which leases the Regent.

Moving picture business, it is stated has been hard sledding in Lima and elsewhere for some time past, owing to economic conditions, and over the producers, who gouge most of the gate receipts out of exhibitors in the form of film rentals.

A meeting of exhibitors of the city was held last week to try to perfect co-operative buying of films shown, but no agreement was reached.

According to announcement made by Manager Zartman, the syndicate of the house, will reopen it on Sunday, September 4. During the interim, the house will be made into a picture house, and as there is a possibility that both pictures and vaudeville will be shown, the Market-st show house when it re-opens in the fall.

The Bijou syndicate, which operates in Ohio and adjoining states, has a majority of its movie houses each summer, according to the picture and vaudeville theaters are operated.

MASONBRINK IS RELEASED BY CLEVELAND OFFICIALS

WAPAKONETA, (Special)—Herbert Masonbrink, arrested on a charge of disposing of diamonds taken in this city when a gambling house was held up several weeks ago, has been released by Cleveland officials. He was taken to Cleveland a few days ago in an effort to recover the stolen goods. Cleveland officials declined to prosecute.

All of the diamonds taken from men when the holdup was staged have been recovered with the exception of one belonging to Harry Saunders. Lima officials announced last night.

NEW DISARMING PLAN APPROVED

House G. O. P. Leaders Frame Substitute for Borah Bill.

DOESN'T DIRECT, ENPOWER

Gives President Unrestricted Choice of Action.

(BY HERBERT W. WALKER)
WASHINGTON—A new disarmament proposal, giving the president wide and unrestricted powers to effect reduction of fighting establishments in the manner he deems wisest, was approved by Republican leaders of the house Saturday.

It is a substitute for the Borah disarmament measure authorizing the president to call a conference of Great Britain and Japan and the United States to discuss a reduction of naval building programs. Leaders say they believe the house will insist that their proposal be included in the naval bill in preference to the Borah plan.

PORTER SEES HARDING
It was indicated that the house more nearly meets the wishes of the president, who, while expressing no objection to congress expressing its opinion on disarmament, believes it would be wiser to place no limitation upon the executive.

Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee conferred with the president on the disarmament question Friday night.

The house resolution, unlike the numerous disarmament proposals placed before congress, does not "authorize", "empower", or "direct" to take any specific steps toward disarmament. Instead, it is merely a notice to the world that congress believes in disarmament and approves the position taken by the president. It provides an appropriation of $100,000, for the preliminary expenses of a disarmament conference.

LIMA MEN ARE HONORED BY LIFE UNDERWRITERS

The regular monthly meeting of the Lima Association of Life Underwriters was held Saturday noon at the Elks Home. Charles Bourk, L. R. Stemmmons, both of Lima, and C. R. Mouser, of Marion, were received as new members of the association.

O. N. Young was elected to the National Executive Committee to serve for a period of three years from next September, and P. R. Marshall was appointed to the Nominating Committee of the National Convention which will meet at West Baden, Indiana early in September.

There will be no regular meetings of the association during the summer months. An outing at Orchard Island is being planned however and will be held sometime in July.

"LEARN TO SWIM" CAMPAIGN PLANNED

"Every Lima boy an accomplished swimmer" is to be the slogan of a "learn to swim" campaign to be instituted by the Y. M. C. A. commencing June 13.

All boys in the city between the ages of 12 and 16 who desire will be taught to swim. It is not necessary to become a member of the "Y" in order to take lessons.

Altho the classes are for boys, primarily, men will not be barred. The aquatic instruction will be under the direction of I. G. Maxwell, physical director.

VITAL WORK FOR RED CROSS

Home Service Section Still Has Much to Do

That the Red Cross home service section still has vital work to perform rendering aid to returned war veterans is shown by the report for May. Service was given 126 veterans or their families during the month. Thirty six of these men had not hitherto applied for help.

A majority of these men, Mrs. Irene Mills Jackson, secretary states, applied for compensation for injuries incurred while in service. A number of them are entering vocational training in Lima.

MONTH'S RECORD
Record for the month shows that 175 consultations were made by ex-service men or their families. Claims for compensation were made by seven injured veterans and one claim for additional compensation was filed for the child of a disabled soldier.

Claims for compensation were also made for parents of a soldier who died as a result of disability incurred in service.

Difficulty of obtaining aid for veterans is increased, the report states, because many of the applicants have neglected to have discharge papers recorded with county recorder and have lost the original certificates.

In these cases it is almost impossible to secure evidence of service and claims for compensation made by these men are greatly delayed. Two applications for Victory medals were made and one for uniform not issued at time of discharge.

Betterment of industrial conditions the country over, is resulting in reduction of applications for aid made by out of town soldiers. There has been a considerable falling off in number of appeals for help.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING
More than thirty veterans are now taking vocational training in Lima, two men having been placed during May. Finding the right sort of work for the individual in one of the vital problems of the office, according to Mrs. Jackson.

Establishment of a central office for combining war work agencies in this district, was decided upon as result of the conference of Home service workers held here recently.

BANDIT'S MOTHER CLAIMS AUTO

Marmon Car Found After Death of Townsend, Appraised.

The Marmon automobile recovered by police from a garage on S. Elizabeth-st after Raleigh Ross Townsend, alleged bandit, was killed in a gun battle with police, was claimed Saturday by his mother, Mrs. Burt Townsend, Douthat, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Townsend came here Friday, especially for the appraisal of the estate of her son. She left for her home in the southwest Saturday night. Accompanying her was the son, Jefferson, 17, who came here with his mother at the time she removed the body of her slain son to the southwestern home on Thursday night, May 25.

Appraisal of the estate of Townsend amounted to more than $3,700. The Marmon car was valued at $2,500. Townsend's diamonds at $1,000 and other personal effects at more than $200. Appraisers were Frank Kilian, William Brennenman and J. G. Zimmerman. Roy E. Bowersock is administrator of Townsend's estate.

Mrs. Townsend will secure the entire estate, after expenses are paid, it is stated.

Mrs. Townsend said that she had recovered physically from the trip and the excitement attending taking home the body of her son for burial and that she withstood the trip to Ohio last week remarkably well.

DAUGHERTY DOPED FOR SENATOR

Attorney General May Be Used to Nip Davis' Ambition

CABLE IN THE "LIMELIGHT"

Roundup of Pertinent Political Gossip for the Week

(BY J. W. FISHER)

There is a man for every crisis. That is an old observation, designed to be applied to the serious things of life, such as war, great national questions and the like, but it is pertinent also to a state of affairs that exists in our own state of Ohio at this very minute.

Ever since the duck shooting, Legak Walton, "ripper" designing Governor of Ohio got it into his craw that he wanted to be looked upon as an avowed candidate for the United States Senate, to step into the shoes of Albee Pomerene is expected by Davis and his followers to vacate, the Washington end of the Ohio contingent—President Harding, Attorney General Harry Daugherty and Senator Francis Bartlett Willis—has been casting about for a candidate that will have no difficulty of disposing of Harry in a primary contest. In the height of the hunt for a suitable candidate, one guaranteed not to rip, tear, ravel or run down in the heat of the election, Attorney General Daugherty let it be known, in a casual manner, that he might—only might, mind you—prefer a seat alongside his compatriot Francis Bartlett in the United States Senate to a cabinet position down Columbus way.

Then the dope makers got busy but Daugherty moved faster than they. Just when it was thought that he was all right, he was still maintaining a hold on the dear old home strings as a happy as a bunch of sparrows in a community nest on a cold night, it began to trickle thru from somewhere that Daugherty was making friends and enemies so fast that there was some question as to which he was accumulating the more rapidly, the former or the latter. Daugherty has been fighting—rather crossing—party organization everywhere, in and out of Ohio. He even got into a state of being at "odds" with Senator Joseph S. Frelinghausen of New Jersey, one of the President's closest friends. Likewise and also there is bitter enmity between the Attorney General and Senator Selden P. Spencer of Missouri, as well as some lesser figures and small fry.

Daugherty has a way of ignoring local organizations and endorsements, while demanding a large number of personal appointments. To a man up a tree it looks like the Attorney General is being used as a cat-paw by the administration to pull the chair out from under the feet of the Ohio bunch, so that, at the proper moment, he can step down and out of the cabinet job, with the pins all nicely set in his home state to be transported back to Washington on a United States Senatorial special.

Governor Harry and his trusty henchmen have taken cognizance of all this, quite naturally, and while the whole caboodle are running around in circles Harry wreathes his face with a smile in public, but in private he is probably grinding his teeth with impotent rage, as the villain does in the stage drama. Harry hasn't forgotten that he promised the "deer people" in the campaign that if he didn't reduce the "high cost of government" for Ohio he wouldn't ask for a second term as Governor. Knowing that he has not—and cannot—do the financial reduction act, he doesn't see much hope for another term as Gov., but he didn't say anything about not asking for a second term.

The Governor probably "figgers" that the public mind is rather short, but he may be fooled as was his late Republican predecessor by name, Francis Bartlett Willis—who fondly believed that the electorate would forget his difference in attitude as applied to Hamilton-co and Delaware co. Politicians, like children, have to have their fingers burned to learn that fire is dangerous. Davis is getting his lesson right now and is getting it good and plenty.

In the meantime, the smiling President to heal the sore spots and is keeping an even balance by remaining in the middle of the road—the little trick he learned last summer and fall in his home town of Marion. Committed to nothing, he has no explanation to make afterward. That's the rule of the successful politician, generally.

Congressman John L. Cable's press bureau in Washington is still on the job and working overtime. Of course it didn't fail to record that John was handed the gavel in congress for a couple of hours the other day, to riot that riotous party thru a parliamentary maze while in its daily deliberation of more or less weighty questions including the deficiency bill.

Then John is busier than an Arkansas razor-back getting rid of wood-hicks in his efforts to get votes for folks in his particular district. Seriously speaking, this part of John's work is commendable. Those who are entitled to pensions should have them. It is the only manner in which Uncle Sam can properly attest his appreciation of the sacrifices made in this country.

It is recorded that John has once more stepped into the limelight, this time via the route of recording in the mass of "facts and figures" in support of the proposal to make the "Packers and Stockyards Act of 1921" a law. Cable records it that whereas a loss is shown on the books of Wilson & Company packers, that in reality the company paid off nearly $3,500,000 note in 1920, paid added $2,200,000 floating debt, added $2,200,000 to cash and assets, invested over $9,000,000 in securities, paid more dividends on common stock and yet did not borrow a penny to increase its capital.

And that isn't all, as the clever attorney says in summing up a case. John points to other packers—Armour & Company and Swift & Company, as accumulators of large war clearances in the business, in the handling of live stock products, dairy products, poultry, poultry products and eggs. John thinks their wall about having made nothing extraordinary in the way of dividends during the war is all bunk. And maybe John L. is right.

Congressman Cable even goes to the trouble to explain why President Harding, requested George Harvey, Ambassador to Great Britain, to sit with the preparations commission. On May 1, 1921, Germany is reported to have owed the United States $286,840,000 for expenses of the American Army of Occupation. She has paid 17,160,000 paper marks in the shape of food-stuffs and materials. It is pointed out that this huge debt may be one of the reasons that impelled the President to have a representative sit with the European councils that are arranging peace settlements.

Our Congressman might explain, further, as to "how come" that Ambassador Harvey made a frightful mess of things before he even got going. It will be many a long day before the echo of Harvey's London speech dies away, out of the minds of the folks over here who made it possible for him to nestle Uncle Sam's interests across the sea. And that self-same speech hasn't improved the bitter taste with the public his appointment brought into being.

F. H. Moyer, general manager of the Mines Developing & Royalty Co., has written the remainder of comment and opinion of this column, asking a very pertinent question. Our friend Moyer asks: "Did Wilson ever play such brazen politics as the present Harding Senate evidences in the cute little trick embodied in the budget bill just adopted by the House conference committee and sent to the President for his signature?"

Mr. Moyer continues with this comment: "The appointment of a comptroller general, in substitution of a comptroller of the currency, for a term of 15 years and only one placed by a resolution of congress and even then subject to the President's veto! Can you beat it for brazenness?"

We'll have to confess that in the category of things political, never before has there been brought to the surface for air anything that quite equals the clever little plan all nicely wrapped up in the latest Harding manipulation. "Would make no difference to the G. O. P., if the party head was kicked out bag and baggage four years hence, so long as the Republicans controlled congress. They would continue to have complete control of a function of the government that is not only desirable, but highly necessary."

Mr. Moyer, in his letter to the person delegated to direct the utterances in this particular column, speaks of himself as a "Loyal Democrat." Comment betokens that fact, without the necessity of the added qualification.

You'll have to hand it to Tom Edwards for being a persistent one. He isn't an opportunist, but he has the faculty of recognizing an opportunity when the thing comes along and knocks persistently at his front door. They say that opportunity knocks only once. Tom was at home when the old girl called.

Tom was a fast friend of otherwise known as a fast train and arranged to bombard the seats of the mighty in the furtherance of an opportunity to have his ambitions realized. It was even arranged that Tom carry his nice little set speech into the White House, to soothe—or irritate—the ears of the President himself. Knowing Tom's persistence, 'twouldn't be at all surprising to hear that he had landed. Here's hoping you do, Tom.

Hopping over into the next congressional district for a few moments (theoretically speaking) it might be observed that while other congressmen are theorizing and attempting to interpret to their personal satisfaction the executive order of the President's matter of post-offices, Representative Charles Thompson of Delaware is giving his ideas a workout.

After getting Frank Gamble safely barnacled in by Frank Wert, office, trying Isma H. Malik loose from his job as a Democrat, Thompson let out a regular congressional roar of defiance and sought new postoffice worlds to conquer. Gamble's appointment is only temporary, until an "snail service" examination is held, but that gives Gamble the "pole" position, as possession is nine points of the law. Then, too, he served in the same office as Uncle Sam's chief stamp baker for seven years before Wilson was elected.

Congressman Thompson recommended to Postmaster Will Hays the appointment of T. A. Sherman for the Napoleon, Henry-co office, in spite of the fact that Sherman failed to make a passing grade in a civil service test, but who, notwithstanding, was nominated by former President Wilson, but not confirmed by the Senate.

Charles can't see why Sherman won't do, regardless of his civil service failure, since the official report of the postoffice inspector baptizes him as all right to run the orfice; since the people of Ohio say he's all right; the Republican organization of Henry-co says he is all right and Charles himself is satisfied that Sherman will do. Thompson feels there is no argument about it.

Whenever one hears the name of United States Senator Albee Pomerene mentioned, or sees his cognomen in print, it recalls an incident of the not altogether dim and distant past, when this self-same Albee, a Cantonian of undeniable fame, so beautifully put the skids under one Myron T. Herrick, standing high in the councils of a party drunk with power and obsessed with the idea that its favored ones need only ask, to be accorded what they desired.

Myron T. had been Governor. He rose to fame out of Cleveland. Then he wanted to be United States Senator, but the manner in which he went about it, he quered the thing for him. At least one county of the grand old state his personal representative became imbued with the unhappy thought that money was all that was needed. It flowed freely. And the same thing must have been done in about every other county, for a mighty roar went up all over the state.

Ohioans were more particular keeping money out of politics than were the people of Michigan, so they just naturally set down on Myron and did it quickly and effectively. Pomerene was the beneficiary. Herrick was chastened. Now they're talking about naming Associate Justice William R. Day as Chief Justice of the Supreme court, to succeed Edward Douglass White, deceased, and Senator Pomerene to succeed Day. This is in conformity with the rule of political equalization of the court and at the same time would help the G. O. P. crowd in getting Pomerene out of the way as a candidate for a second term as United States Senator.

Any doubt that heretofore may have existed as to Ohio getting more than the Hon. Sherman of Federal appointments under the present administration has been altogether removed with the latest announcements from Washington that C. R. Painter of Bowling Green has been named director of the bureau of trusts in the alien property custodian's office, a $5,000 a year job while Earl Fenning of Cleveland, was awarded a $3,500 place as second assistant commissioner of patents.

The Ohio names, previously listed, with their respective annual stipends are: Myron T. Herrick, Cleveland, ambassador to France, $17,500; Harry M. Daugherty, Columbus, attorney general, $12,000; George B. Christian, Marion, secretary to the President, $7,500; Dr. C. E. Sawyer, Marion, brigadier general in the United States army, as the President's physician, $7,000; D. R. Crisinger, Marion, comptroller of the currency, $5,000; Randolph McAdams, Urbana, federal prison inspector, $4,800; Newton M. Miller, Columbus, collector of internal revenue, $4,500; E. H. Hard, Portsmouth, appointment clerk, the White House, $3,500; E. L. Porterfield, Delaware, assistant solicitor of the postoffice department, $3,500; Sherman A. Cusco, Upper Sandusky, assistant superintendent of the senate stationery room, $2,000 and Charles Patton, Marion, attendant at the White House, whose salary is not a matter of public record.

Note the number of times the name Marion appears in connection with the favored ones. Is it any wonder that the G. O. P. adheres in other parts of Ohio so well when the name Marion is mentioned and Republicans of other states grant when Ohio is referred to?

With a little more than a month in which to frame up city commissioner tickets, there seems to be no real hurry on the part of anyone to get into the game for a future municipal job, or activity for the purpose of getting somebody else into it. According to advices from the precincts of the board of elections, there has been no rush of patriots to that part of the Holmes blow for the purpose of annexing nominating petition blanks, necessary adjuncts of the chase, but this has in no wise proven that there isn't a lot of gab-testing going on beneath the surface in picking possible patriots for the jobs to be given out.

If inclined to believe that politics will cut no ice in naming the candidates for commissioners in August, forget it. While posters and lithos will not emblazon the fact to the world at large, everybody who knows anything at all about how cunningly the political bug gnaws away at a proposition, will readily understand that politics will rule the roost just the same as it always has in the past.

The different party representatives and the factions within the aforesaid parties, are engaged even now in looking each other over. They're holding back, ready to join in any scramble that may be started—for or against it. The bars are down until July 9. But there'll be a lot of activity before that time. June is the month of brides, roses and sunshine. It's also the time for the hatching of ambitions for job hunters and municipal controllers for Lima. Watch 'em.

FACTIONS IN OHIO G. O. P. INCREASE

FESS SOUNDS A WARNING

Roundup of Political Gossip in Columbus

week he shut the door when somebody asked him to intervene for a yegg who faced death for killing a detective while prisoners with near death certificates from the prison physician were subjected to the closest kind of scrutiny. There will be very little to the pardon brokerage business for the "boys" from now on.

There are men at the Ohio State university who do not yet know this to be a fact but there is a whole peck of trouble wrapped up in this little paragraph from a bulletin sent out by the center of learning, culture, erudition, practical and scientific knowledge on the banks of the Oloutangy. The university is telling all about its new farmers' institute lecturers and it observes:

"These speakers will discuss problems of production, farm and home management and marketing. In addition to these topics, new features to be stressed include a discussion of the basic principles upon which a just and equitable system of taxation should be based and the needs of Ohio's highways and her highway laws."

And when they get into the details of this taxation thing, oh boy! Of course, everybody wants a just and equitable taxation system and most everyone will admit that the present one is not such and that is the reason why the present General Assembly is cursed for having made such a botch of it. But to carry propaganda to the farmers when you are on the payroll is another thing.

If anybody does not believe there is trouble ahead on that matter let him ask Hon. C. A. Dyer and L. J.
Taber, the farm organization leaders. Originally O. E. Bradfute, president of the farm bureau, was with them, but they do say that he has all the rural hornets began to buzz around. Evolving what they thought was a nice theory was easy for the two gentlemen, but getting the farmers for it was such a different matter; so very, very different. Representative John H. Chester of Paulding announced this week that his battalion of death will be kept together and his long distance counterpart, Hon. C. H. Fouts of Morgan-co is already grinding out reams of stuff against anything that smells like classification, especially if the General Assembly is to have full sway. So any one can see at this distance that a lovely fuss is brewing.

To paraphrase an ancient proverb, when friends of liability insurance legislation fall out, friends of workmen's compensation come into their own. This modern revision of Solomon—or was it Confucius?—will serve to introduce the lovely row between Hon. C. C. Crabbe, of Middleton, speaker pro tem of the dissolved House of Representatives and Hon. F. E. Whittemore, President pro tem of the Ohio Senate which was dissolved but does not yet know it. Now both these gentlemen have records which are not such as to cause them to be decorated for gallant service to the industrial accident law. And both of them know it perfectly well. Mr. Whittemore's has the merit of being more aggressively hostile to the law than that of Mr. Crabbe, who imitated a mole and operated about twelve inches below the surface, but not so far down that there were not some ridges left on the surface to show where he had been. When the Hon. Crabbe said that the Hon. Whittemore planned to "do dirt" to the compensation law the statement demanded proof, not so much because of the charge as because of the record of the man who made it. So far as this watcher on the tower can see, there never was a time when the Hon. Crabbe joined in standing up for the law. Now that the time for the victor's song has come it is easy enough to join in the chorus, especially when one is running for Attorney General. It will be recalled, however, that Mr. Crabbe helped bring S. H. Wolfe, the liability insurance actuary, to Columbus and that said Wolfe whaled into the Ohio plan. Until Mr. Crabbe explains this incident, his protestations now are somewhat at a discount.

Speaking of workmen's compensation, how many in the class know that there is pending a bill in Washington to write the Ohio plan into the federal laws for the District of Columbia? It is true and it is also true that every battle against the principle has been sent there to fight
it. Likewise, it is true that the only Ohioans who have championed the great reform in Washington are T.
J. Duffy, chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission and Senator Atlee Pomerene. Mr. Duffy found himself face to face with the same gang that fought former Governor James M. Cox and himself in Ohio and fought the extension of the Ohio plan in other states, successively occupying positions a little more to the rear after each battle. Do you wonder that the sleek vultures around the city of Columbus say it is necessary to "get Duffy."

Just set it down that this observer of minute things is making the statement that a bunch of influential people have been shocked by the methods that were applied in the closing days of the General Assembly. Political influence came very near being sold by the pound.
This group includes no Democrats, who could easily be shocked at most anything, but it does include some humiliated members of the party dominant at present. At this time no specific illustrations will be given, but in due course they will be furnished in good season. Take the Columbus anti-perpetual franchise bill. The leaders here who favored it were grieved to learn from whence the lobby against it was directed. Mayor George S.
Marshall knows and so do others.
There will be reasons for telling later on and it is a pretty sure bet that the men who know will tell.
Any one with political experience expects a reasonable amount of activity by men who have appetites, but some things occasionally are carried too far. Selah!

Here is one they are telling at Marion which was famous once upon a time as the possessor of the most visited front porch. The story is about the number of Harding badges that are being worn. When the visitor opines that he has seen none, the residents tell him he is mistaken. They turn their pockets inside out and ask him if he recognizes them. Pockets worn in this way are said to be Harding badges just like the soup houses are called "Harding cabarets" in Youngstown, while down in Hamilton two-day work weeks are called "Harding weeks." In coining these terms, facts and not theories are the guide and the authors will not recognize that the epithets may be unfair. If they are, let the most be made of them, say the inventors. Let them be cheered by the fact that the bankers from New York called at the White House and presented plans to nullify the federal reserve act.

One of those delightful instances of economy which saves pennies where hundreds of dollars are thrown away, is the determination of the Ohio civil service commission not to send out bulletins unless persons specifically ask for them. The commission evidently does not care how many or how few people hear about its tests, all of which argues that the old spoils system is back on earth and in the state of Ohio at the rate of 100 per cent efficiency. As for the savings, they are wonderful —perhaps a hundred dollars in three months. This will balance one per cent of the $10,000 wasted a few days ago when the highway commissioner let a contract at just that amount over the lowest and responsible bid. Those who imagine that the public is impressed with the economy effected by the pinch-penny devices and that it has not its eye on the place where the stout bearers off are carrying the "jack" away in buckets, do the public intelligence a sorry disservice.

Like a lot of other statutes of regulation and direction, bakers insist that the Brand bread law which requires loaves of one pound at least will be given a trial before anyone may know whether it will work or not. It may interfere with settled customs and habits. For instance, everyone is used to paying a fixed amount for a loaf of bread, but the theory is that under the Brand law the price will fluctuate with the price of flour or that poorer bread will result if the prices of ingredients goes up. The custom has been for prices to remain the same and sizes of loaves to switch about like a cork on the boundless deep. The new statute has added nothing to the popularity of the lawmakers with the bakers, for they cannot become enthusiastic over having to charge more for bread when flour goes up nor having the housewives ask why bread does not come down the same instant that flour does. It will be interesting, then, to see the bakers switch from low gear to high and back to low again and to learn which they can do the quickest.

A character unusual in public life went west as the heroes in France were wont to say when Mayor C. B. Shough of London, died. He was 62 years of age and was a statesman without knowing it.
He ruled the metropolis of the Brad-son-co plans with an easy way and he had a habit of going to points straight as a dart, where others moved in concentric circles. Just for instance, one day he was attending a natural gas conference in Columbus when he felt moved to tell his fellow sufferers in mayors' offices that the only way to have peace with the gas companies is to let them have more money, get the gas and let it go at that. Of course, he denounced gas company morals but he knew there is little use to argue with a man who has the drop on you, when you have no more weapons than a toothpick. Mayor Shough was a livestock man and never wanted to wear the wig at all but the Democrats nominated him and he was elected because formally Mayor Gordin interfered with holding at the races and committed sundry other acts that militated against the peace and happiness of the sports element of the town.

Probably he would have been re-elected because he let the town run itself and they say no Londoner can remember such a good government.

Every once in a while some little thing as well as some big thing can come along to remind us each and all that there is such a thing as evolution. The older readers of these lines can recall the days when every house was shingled with wooden shingles and they have heard their parents tell when first shingles were put on houses.

Now, if they live some 12 or years longer, they will see the when many a shingle will adorn reason is that there is a moveon by the state fire marshal's of-to outlaw the wooden shingle. I a breeder of fires. At the chief's club this will be taken and a form of ordinance submit-for each city and even villa-make the change, this being re-oned a reasonable time. This is ready the law of 101 cities of Am-ica. If it will prevent fires, I doubt the Ohio burghers at will consent to this infringement in personal liberty—almost for-ten term.

Motor Car Value

Your automobile should cost you less today—considerably less—than its price of a year ago.
Are you paying less for it? 1921 materials are lower. 1921 manufacturing costs are lower.
1921 automobile prices should likewise be lower.

Auburn prices are lower. They have been reduced $200.

The car buyer of today is entitled to value based on today's production cost. That is exactly what you get in the Auburn Beauty-SIX.

In reducing Auburn prices $200, we absorbed our loss on materials remaining from last year's purchases. Strong financially, and free from debt, we were able to do this. You benefit.
Why pay 1920 prices for 1921 automobiles?

In the Auburn Beauty-SIX you get a 1921 car—a 1921 value—at a 1921 price.
Moreover, in Auburn you get a car whose character and worth have been established through twenty-one successive years—a car on which you can rely for faithful, day-after-day service with a minimum of trouble and expense.

The Auburn Beauty-SIX is the result of long, unbroken experience. Its principles are time-tested. Its construction is sound to the last detail.

Small wonder that Auburn Beauty-SIX owners speak with enthusiasm of Auburn dependableness. Small wonder, too, that they point with pride to Auburn's trouble-free performance; its remarkable economy; the all-around satisfaction it gives!

BEST "COMMANDMENTS" WRITTEN BY GIRL OF 18

Miss Marie Fries Wins First Prizes In Lima News
Contest

Unmarried Girls Lay Down Rules for Married Couples

Common sense attitudes toward the problems confronting married couples of today is advocated by Miss Marie Fries, 200 1-2 E. McKim-

Miss Fries, who is the author of the set of "Commandments" for married couples, which was awarded first prize in the contest recently conducted by the Lima News. This set of rules was adapted for either a man or woman and was chosen by Judge F. C. Becker as the best of the many submitted.

An unexpected feature of the contest lies in the fact that the main prizes for writing the best "Commandments" for married couples were won by unmarried girls. The prize was distributed among cash prizes were not had experience those who have not had experience in married life, while the minor prizes were merited by women who have ventured on the matrimonial sea.

In selecting these ten commandments, Judge Becker stated that the rules laid down by Miss Fries fully met his approval and were the best of all those submitted, either for a man or a woman.

As a consequence the first awards in both classes were given to Miss Fries and she will receive $15 for her "Commandments."

Advocates "COMMON SENSE." "I believe that the use of just plain everyday common sense by married people will do more to bring about happy lives than any fixed set of rules," Miss Fries told a representative of the Lima News when informed of her good fortune. She is a charmingly petite Miss of 18 and meant every word she said.

"Daddy and mother have been married a good many years and although they have raised nine of us children and have been up against all the troubles of life," she concluded Marie. "When I saw the set of rules laid down by the French officer and the others I decided to send in some that would take into consideration the personal desires and individual tastes of the husband and wife. Of course, 'she added,' I have never been married and can't speak from actual experience."

Here she stopped and laughed. "Miss Fries has not resided in Lima all her life. She came here with her parents about four years ago, from Cincinnati. She is a very ambitious, hardworking young woman and at the present time is employed during the daytime in the Lima House and the Hotel Norval and studying at night school three evenings a week."

"What will I do with the money I receive for my 'Commandments'?" Well, it will come in mighty handy when I go to Cincinnati on my vacation in a few weeks. I make all my own frocks and $15 will mean some very nice new clothes to wear during my visit. I certainly thank the Lima News and Judge Becker for speaking so well of my letter and for awarding me the first place in the contest."

MISS FRIES' RULES.

The common sense rules which Miss Fries believes will lead to success in married life, if followed by the married couple, are as follows:

FRED C. BECKER

Judge F. C. Becker, of Common Pleas Court, who awarded the prizes in "The Lima News 'Commandment' contest."

- 1—Use common sense; remember that you are human.
- 2—Express your affections; do not suppress them.
- 3—Don't take things too seriously; be cheerful.
- 4—Don't both get angry at the same time.
- 5—Have faith; believe not in idle gossip.
- 6—Don't preach or nag at one another.
- 7—Don't neglect constant efforts to be clean and neat.
- 8—Cultivate your common likes. Strive to conform habits and doings to each other's pleasure.
- 9—Let no troubles come between you; face them together.
- 10—Be loyal; love is loyalty.

ELIDA GIRL WINS.

Second award for rules, for the guidance of husbands, went to Miss Dorothy Morgan, Elida, who receives $5 for her set of commandments. In these Miss Morgan states that the head of the family should:

- 1—Show respect for his wife at all times.
- 2—Always show an interest and appreciation for the many things she does in the home. The little things count in married life.
- 3—Never deceive his wife. The truth itself is not believed from one who often has deceived.
- 4—Have only one pocket book and one check-book, as the money question in the home causes much trouble.
- 5—Think of his wife's enjoyment as well as his own.
- 6—Not get angry and say words that he will wish that he had not said.
- 7—Always make his wife his confidant for she is his life partner.
- 8—Not be a spendthrift with his hard earned money; save something for a rainy day.
- 9—Choose his wife's company instead of that of others.
- 10—Not forget his marriage vows, to love, honor and obey.

third, fourth and fifth are, Mrs. E. E. Burkholder, Bluffton; Mrs. Robert Burdick, 407 W. Wayne-st; and Miss Marguerite Weldy, 527 Woodward-ave. Each of these will receive two tickets to their favorite movie theatre.

ANOTHER "MISS" A WINNER.

In the contest for "Commandments" for women, Miss Rowena Leedy, R. F. D. No. 7, Lima, won second honors and $5 with her list of ten rules. Here is what she says to wives:

- 1—Don't allow your husband to leave the house without a good breakfast.
- 2—Don't be afraid to apologize even if you have not been the cause of the quarrel.
- 3—Don't scold your husband if he stays out at night occasionally a little longer than you think he should. Scolding never did any

- 4—good.
- 5—Keep yourself and your house clean and attractive.
- 6—Interest yourself in your husband's employment.
- 7—Encourage him when he is downhearted. Be glad with him when he is happy.
- 8—Let him know by words and actions that he is appreciated.
- 9—Don't neglect your own household duties by interfering with others' affairs.
- 10—Don't fret over trifles.
- 11—Always be kind and cheerful.

Tickets to their favorite movie theatre will be given to Mrs. Robert Burdick, 407 W. Wayne-st; Mrs. Glen H. Alexander, Lima; and Mrs. Mary Nichols, 649 Dewey-ave. Each will receive two tickets for writing the letters which won third, fourth and fifth places.

A. B. Critchfield, of Shreve, former Adjutant General of Ohio, is going where he'll do no harm. That's saying a great deal for Critchfield and should be modified to mean that he's enroute where it will be impossible to edge into Ohio politics for a season.

He wanted to be appointed in charge of the Militia Bureau of the War Department, but was considered too small in the or, more properly, he wasn't considered. What was resolved was a long cruise. So he was given his choice of Santo Domingo or Panama. He chose Santo Domingo and will be fiscal agent there and won't have to wear a uniform.

Representative Edwin D. Ricketts, of the Eleventh District, whose only campaign cry is: "I haven't missed a roll call!" is being pursued by Representative John C. Speaks, of Columbus.

Classifying a Diamond

(By J. W. PUEZT)

It is when one takes up the study of diamonds that he realizes that to say that a person owns a diamond does not mean very much. Diamonds are classified according to their color and placed in twelve grades; other things being equal the sequence of value is as follows:

Rivers; Jagers Blue Wesseltons; Wesseltons; Top Crystals; Crystals; Very light Brown; Top Silver Capes; Silver Capes; Capes; Yellow and Brown.

The finest white stones, those called "Rivers" are either snowy white or bluish white; they are exceedingly snappy and full of fire; the finest of the old Brazilian and Indian stones belong to this class. Compared to a cut piece of purest rock crystal, this stone does not suffer by comparison and this is one of the severest tests for a diamond. These stones owe their brilliancy to the fact that they do not absorb the light that enters them, passing the rays on to the beholder.

Next after the "Rivers" come the "Jagers" so-called after the Jagersfontein mine; they are very fine stones if a trifle more steely in the quality of their color. Stones with a faint tint of yellow are termed "Jagers" by some jewelers but the term is properly only applied to stones of steel blue color.

After these two classes come the "Blue Wesseltons" and the Wesseltone. One could not detect a shade of yellow in these stones if he did not compare them to the two higher classes. The values of these two classes, however, are exceedingly high and they are called the finest of blue white diamonds by the trade in general. Of course the best of the Wesseltons are the Blue Wesseltons, the name being derived from a South African mine which has produced some extra fine specimens.

The shrewd jeweler aims to please the desires of every diamond purchaser and if he has not the particular class in stock which the customer wants, he will use his personal discrimination in selecting one.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR C., N. & Z.

All Property of Old O. E. System Is Now Involved

Appointment of Patrick A. Berry, of Columbus, as the receiver of the Columbus, Newark & Zanesville Railway, Saturday, place the entire property, either owned or operated by the Ohio Electric Railway Co., under the control of receivers.

This action was taken by Federal Judge Sater, Columbus, upon petition of the Girard Trust company of Philadelphia. The petition asserts that the interest on a bond issue of $1,211,000 has neither been paid when due, nor within a period of three months and that the mortgage is subject to foreclosure. As a result obligations amounting to $4,704,000 are now due, the petition said.

H. J. Jones, receiver of the Ohio Electric Co., has been named by Berry as the managing receiver of the Columbus, Newark & Zanesville Railway.

As the situation now stands, the property once controlled by the Ohio Electric is divided into three parts. The Ohio Electric Railway Co. which owns the street railway and light plant in Lima and the Toledo division of the road are placed under the receivership of B. J. Jones and are managed by J. H. McClure. The Indianapolis, Columbus &

Eastern Railway Co., which owns the lines east of Columbus and the various interurban roads, is under the direction of J. H. McClure, who was appointed receiver last January. The latest action, taken Saturday, places the third section of the property, the C., N. & Z., which was operated under lease by the Ohio Electric and which was not under the original foreclosure order, under der the charge of P. A. Berry as receiver.

Agreements have been entered into by the three receivers, with the consent of the various courts which have charge of the receiver-ship proceedings, by which the entire system will be operated as a whole, altho the technical ownership has been changed. The Columbus, Newark & Zanesville road will be operated by receiver pending proceedings to foreclose the mortgage.

HOW IRON STARVATION OF THE BLOOD RUINS A WOMAN'S HEALTH--

AND MAY MAKE HER WRINKLED, AGED AND CAREWORN, GIVING HER FACE A PALE, MAGGARD, SICKLY APPEARANCE

For want of iron you may practically be an old woman at from 30 to 35. Weak, downhearted and "all ragged out." You may be in such a highly nervous irritable state that you "go all to pieces" on the slightest provocation, while 50 or 60 with good health and plenty of iron in your blood, you may still be young in feeling and so attractive and full of life as to defy detection of your real age.

It's not always the youngest woman that is most sought after—there is an indescribably alluring fascination in the rosy cheek, the inviting lips and sparkling eyes of a blood filled with iron. You may be afflicted with iron starvation of the blood and not know it, just as thousands of other women are.

It is said that about one person in three in America today suffers more or less from malnutrition—lack of nourishment, which is caused not by lack of food, but in many cases by lack of sufficient iron in the blood to enable you to get the strength out of your food.

Indoor life, over-eating and modern methods of cooking are sapping the iron from the blood of hundreds of thousands of women. Our forefathers, to whom history refers as a nation of red blooded Americans, ate the husks of grains and the skins and peels of vegetables and other coarse foods rich in strength giving organic iron, which the modern woman does not get.

To make up for the great loss of iron caused by the life woman is compelled to lead she should eat more such iron-containing vegetables and fruits as spinach and baked apples and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron from time to time to help enrich her blood and revitalize her worn-out, exhausted nerves.

Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly condensed form that one dose of it is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating half a quart or half a dozen apples. It's like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat.

Over 14,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor, strength and endurance of weak, nervous "run-down" folks in two weeks' time. Your money will be refunded if you do not obtain satisfaction.

Nuxated Iron comes in tablets only—never in liquid form. Always look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.—Adv.

"Distress of Nations with Perplexity" was one of the answers Lord gave the Disciples in answer to their inquiry as to "when these things be?" Seeing this prophecy being fulfilled, we are that there is a great dispensational change now going on and that Golden Age of Prophecy is being ushered in.

The speed kings burn a lot of gas and raise big clouds of smoke. To settle who is fastest they make grim death a joke.

Every fan's happy. Olympic games will be held in 1924. Toledo gets Clyde Menton from Detroit Tigers. Anderson over night entry wins. Giants have finally ousted Pirates from upper berth. Paul turns Carl Schlee, catcher over to Peoria club. Imagine Cleveland getting only two hits off Sam Jones. Wonder if the Giants are willing to pay Grob his $12,000. William Tilden II is hard court champ of world now. Mild captures 21st annual track and field meet at Chicago. One doesn't hear quite so much of jumping players this season. Chicago football October 22. For the first time this season, Tiger Pirates are continuing their march toward the bunting. Austin McHenry, Card outfielder, runner up to his team mate Horning. Wasn't the whitewash brush used recently on the Ohio teams yesterday? Cleveland Indians release Pitcher Pett to Indianapolis in cash. After looking over the Kenton map one might say it's a "New". Two more home Babe, and you'll be more than Meusel and Kelly. Speaking of a tie of a golf ball, how can it be compared with that of a tiger? St. Louis Cardinals have sent pitcher Giam, youngster to Syracuse club. At Nixon, former Texas League outfielder, is making the grade with the Braves. The Ariel says it is double of who was implicated in the Black Sox scandal. Wonder what will become of Rapp if the Giants sign Giam. There are over 150 entries for the Jessville, Wis. harness meet which holds in August. Infielder Francis Pratt is released by White Sox to Nashville, Southern association team. Bloomington in the Three Eyes league gets Leslie Miller, infielder from White Sox. American League is planning to erect a memorial to late Silk O'Loughlin, umpire. Catcher Lew McCarty, of the Kansas City team is out of the game with a charity horse. The Western League has turned Pitcher Olin Lambeth back to Kansas City. Epa Rivey, Red hurler, declares Ponce trouble has kept him from doing his best to club. Clarence Mueller, young outfielder, has been released to the Syracuse club by the Cardinals. McGuffee says Carpenter's spring partners are not hitting him and enough. Dempsey will. Connelmark is going to take steps toward keeping Scott Perry from leaving Independent baseball. In Paris now they are ordering strawberries "avec le Dempsey." Get Dempsey is whipped cream. Hayes of Notre Dame ties big ten 100 yards in 14 seconds at meet in Chicago. Princeton establishes new record when it beats California in rowing, going the distance in 8:55.4. Batted ball in Cleveland hit Stanley Nevada on the head. That's a big hit from Cleveland to Stanley. Rogers Hornsby, who couldn't hit his hand during the spring, continues to lead the National league. Kenton team which plays here today has four brothers on it. Even that's better than a four singers in one family. Lefty Bill James, former hurler, expects to have rough sledding as a member of New Orleans club in the Southern association.

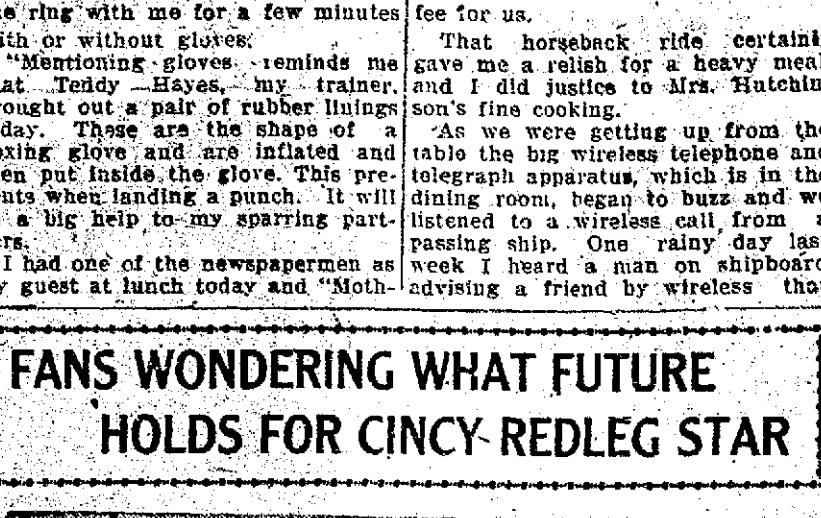

Jack Dempsey's breathing apparatus is causing him considerable trouble. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — "I am in somewhat of a quandary just now. For some days past I have been bothered with my breathing apparatus and last night without saying anything to the boys, I went to one of the local specialists for a further off examination of my nose and throat. I had an operation performed on my nose quite a while ago by a doctor in Philadelphia, but it seems to have been entirely unsuccessful, and now I will have to undergo another. But I cannot stop my training for a trip to the operating room, and I will have to get along as best I may. My breathing isn't so badly impaired that I will not be able to fight, but it is bad enough to cause me discomfort. If the fight were to be postponed, I would certainly have the nose attended to, but I can't afford to stop work now. The best I can do is get daily minor and local treatments, and they will probably help me a great deal. Sometimes I wish I had the doctor who performed the operation in the ring with me for a few minutes with or without gloves. Mentioning gloves reminds me that Teddy Hayes, my trainer, brought out a pair of rubber linings today. These are the shape of a boxing glove and are inflated and then put inside the glove. This prevents when landing a punch. It will be a big help to my sparring partners. I had one of the newspapermen as my guest at lunch today and "Mother" Hutchinson, the cook, set out fish, fried potatoes, stewed tomatoes, stewed corn, apricots and coffee for us. That horseback ride certainly gave me a relish for a heavy meal, and I did justice to Mrs. Hutchinson's fine cooking. As we were getting up from the table the big wireless telephone and telegraph apparatus, which is in the dining room, began to buzz and we listened to a wireless call from a passing ship. One rainy day last week I heard a man on shipboard advising a friend by wireless that it was a shame to have his golf risk anything, but I was lucky. Nowadays I use a lighter bandage than most boxers. Just enough of smooth, soft cotton wrapped around the knuckles to fit comfortably, and a foot or two of adhesive tape to keep it in place is all I need. I usually bandage my own hands while training, but for a big fight my manager, Jack Kearns, attends to the job. It is just as important to have a small detail like bandaging done well as it is to have big things just so. (Copyright, 1921)

FANS WONDERING WHAT FUTURE HOLDS FOR CINCY-REDLEG STAR

Heinie Groh

Fans who have been keeping a weather eye upon the doings of Heinie Groh, Cincinnati Red infielder, are wondering what the future holds in store for the star. They were surprised at an announcement that Groh had signed a contract at the club's terms. Then, came an announcement that Groh was signed, only to be traded. The Giants were mentioned. So were the Pirates. Directors of the Cincinnati club held a meeting Friday and Groh's case was discussed. The Pittsburgh offer was turned down. It is now practically certain that Groh will go to the Giants. Nothing can be done, however, until Groh is reinstated by Judge Landis. President Hermann announces that there is no chance of Groh's remaining with the Cincinnati team.

KANSAS MEETS BEST WHEN HE TACKLES BENNIE LEONARD

By JIM BURBA
For many, many moons, fight fans all over the country have been waiting for the battle which is slated to come to pass in New York Monday night. It is a title tilt, and like the coming heavyweight battle, there will be no official decision rendered. Bennie Leonard, king of lightweight padded mitt pushers, will step into the squared circle in Gotham, and endeavor to repeat a past act. His opponent is Rocky Kansas, a Buffalo fighter, who is not a youngster, by any means, but who jumped into the limelight over night by handing Richie Mitchell, a lacing. Then he kept in the limelight by again disposing of Mitchell, and by putting Willie Jackson to the bad. This Rocky Kansas has gained the reputation of being a hard egg. Some fans believe that he will give Leonard a run for his white-alley. Mebbe so, mebbe so, but we'll not do anything rash and wager on Kansas' chances. For tomorrow night, we believe, Leonard will again prove his greatness. Few will contradict us when we say that Leonard is without a peer in his class, and excusing Jack Britton in the welter class, would shake a wicked mitt in that division. Bennah has his eye on the welter crown, but he will have to go awfully good to vanquish Jack Britton, for Britton is an exceedingly clever boxer. In fact, just about as clever as Leonard. But we're getting away from our subject. Kansas in his battle tomorrow night is going to push Leonard hard for a couple of rounds. As for the other boys Kansas has met is a Leonard. There's only one Leonard, and it's highly probable that Kansas will know that ere the, watching hour rolls around Monday night.

TORRID CONTESTS PROMISED IN CLUB LOOP

Fans watching the progress of the Lima Business Club league should be treated to plenty of excitement in the two games scheduled for this week. The Rotarians are booked to cross bludgeons with the Lions Tuesday afternoon. That this game will be hard fought from start to finish there is little doubt. Rotary last Thursday was dislodged from first place by the Elks, and are now stepping into the frays with blood in their eyes in an effort to get back to the lead again. On the other hand, the Lions are in the basement fighting for more than simply to be somewhere around the top. Much depends upon their hitting the old stride, and annexing a few games. Those who have had experience with losing teams know that the players are apt to become disheartened. In order to keep the Lions from becoming in this condition, it must be captured that it must capture its games. So, combining these reasons, it's pretty easy to see that a good game is promised for Tuesday. KIWANIS ARE CONFIDENT. With confidence instilled by its recent victories Kiwanis will enter Thursday's fray against the Elks. It is not hard to see that this game should be a cracking good one. too. The Elks are seeing the pace in the loop, and it's a bad time the angered tribe is going to battle hard before their relinquish their hold on the top rung. The Kiwanians believe that they have hit their stride now, and are confident that they will meet with few setbacks on their march to the top and pennant. While it is impossible to predict the quality of any proposed ball game, it appears pretty safe to risk a prediction to the effect that fans will be granted an opportunity of seeing two of the hardest fought games of the season at Murphy's at this week. And, there are liable to be several surprises. One can never tell. MAY BOOK SERIES. Information received here Saturday that the Sidney Kiwanis club has organized a team of which it is extremely proud. They are working out regularly, and will soon start out to "get a reputation." As soon as this has been done, it is understood, the team will enter into negotiations with the local manager.

PETER COLEY AGAIN MEETS PETER L.

CLEVELAND — Peter Coley, driven by Harry Stokes a week ago at Findlay in the fastest three heats ever trotted on a half-mile track in Ohio and the fastest ever trotted in May on any half-mile track anywhere, is booked to go against the horse that made him trot that record in the 2:09 trot at Berea track next Wednesday. That'll be one of the banner events carded for any twice around meet this season. Peter L., driven by Billy Crozier, was right at Peter Coley's wheel when he made his record of winning those three heats in 2:08 1-4, 2:09 1-2 and 2:10 at Findlay. And Peter L. is entered against him in Berea. So are Fred Edman's Comet and Speck Elsie's Baroness, Cochato which also raced in the big race at Findlay. The Berea meet opens next Monday.

MAINTAIN CLEAN SPORTSMANSHIP HERE

Clean sportsmanship is responsible in the main, for the success of any athletic undertaking. There is a wonderful lot of enthusiasm being shown in the City League race here, and thus far this season the spirit and its games have been declared a huge success. But at last Thursday's game an element of poor sportsmanship crept into the contest. A player on one club deliberately kicked another player while down. The act was witnessed by practically everyone in the stands. It is needless to call any names. The player who did the kicking, possibly did it as a result of a burst of temper, but that doesn't excuse it. He probably hates the entire affair, but that doesn't excuse him. It may, however, aid him to control himself in the future, and stick to clean sportsmanship. As a result of the act the team of which the player was a member has lost not less than a dozen supporters to our certain knowledge. We have personally talked to that many, who have switched their support from the team, and are now pulling for other teams in the league. Aggressiveness is natural on a ball field, but one can be aggressive without being rowdy, and clean aggressiveness gets a player and his team a lot more with the fans.

JACKSON MAY QUIT UMPIRING

As a result of a controversy over a decision, Umpire Emmitt Jackson, of the City League, threatens to give up the job. The decision was made last Thursday during the Elks-Rotary game. Pitcher Coon was the base runner and Captain Thompson was the fielder. The play was made at third. Jackson called Coon safe. Thompson, the Rotary team and its backers, declared the decision was rotten. In fact, after the game was over, Jackson was accosted by a Rotary player and informed how rotten the decision was. The information is understood, was handed out in such a manner as to instigate Jackson's had reasons for presenting the play to the Elks. All of which is extremely petty.

Kenton Professionals To Play Independents

The Kenton Professionals, four of 'em all well known in this city, are members of the Kenton aggregation. Of the four, perhaps Karl and Marty are best known in this city. Both were members of the Independents last season. Marty Neu is old in professional baseball circles, having played in the Texas League and other circuits on the central west several years ago. His work around the keystone cushion here last season was satisfactory, and Marty avers he has not slowed down one iota since the season of 1920. KARL HERE TOO. Karl Neu only played a portion of the season here last year. The early part of the season, Karl held down the initial base, and played a good game on that corner. However, the old souper went bad on him, and rather than to take a chance on hurting it permanently, decided to give up the game for the time being. This season, however, it is understood, Karl's arm is again in excellent shape, and he's playing a bang-up game at first. The third brother, Otto, was with the Cleveland Indians this spring, but with the impregnable infield that team has, there was little chance of a green boy like Neu sticking. Harry Neu is an outfielder. He is watching over the interest of the center garden for Kenton, and has a reputation of living up to the traditions of outfielders and pounding the old glove at a merry clip. The Independents will enter the struggle with the same team that broke even in the two game series with the fast Norwood team last Sunday and Monday. Wolf, who pitched Monday's game for the locals, will be in the box for the Lima-ites. It is true the Norwoods beat Wolf, but it was due solely to the fact that he had not warmed up enough before he went into the box. The Norwood runs were piled up in the first inning. After that Wolf settled down, and showed the lads from Cincinnati what real flinging was. However, the Norwoods had accumulated enough markers in the first frame to insure the game. What is reputed to be the best team that ever represented the city of Kenton is slated to give the Independents a tussle for supremacy at the Murphy-st grounds here this afternoon. The Kenton team, according to advices from that city, is a re-ramped organization, and has been travelling at a fast clip this season. The Neu brothers, four of 'em all well known in this city, are members of the Kenton aggregation. Of the four, perhaps Karl and Marty are best known in this city. Both were members of the Independents last season. Marty Neu is old in professional baseball circles, having played in the Texas League and other circuits on the central west several years ago. EXPLAINING AN UMPIRE'S DECISION

One more thing which arose in last Friday's Elks-Rotary game, which has caused a lot of comment on the part of fans, is Malloy's attempt to steal home, and Vessels' decision sending him back to third base. That decision certainly calls for an explanation. So far as we know there is no rule in the book which sends a runner back to third on a play of that kind. Inference on the part of Vessels is claimed. It is understood, in his effort to get Malloy at the plate, Seale interfered with the batter and stepped in front of the plate. That being the case, the best we can do is to refer you to Rule 56, Section 21, which reads: "In event a base runner is trying to score from third base on a pitched ball or the 'squeeze' play, a balk shall also an interference should be called if the catcher runs out in front of the plate to catch the ball, and the runner shall be allowed to score and the batsman entitled to first base. The same penalties must be imposed in case the catcher pushes the batsman out of the way, or tips his bat." Another question which arose was when a base runner interfered with a fielder in the act of catching a ball. The rule needs no explanation: "In case a fielder be occupying a base runner's proper path in an attempt to field a batted ball, then the base runner shall run out of direct line to the next base and behind said fielder, and shall not be declared out for so doing."

Spencerville To Meet Delphos Nine

DELPHOS—With a victory over Rockford to their credit, the Spencerville baseball nine will clash with the Delphos city nine at the Clay-st grounds Sunday. The locals have not suffered a defeat so far. Ray "Smoky" Clark and Moore will form the local battery, and Phillips and Owens for the visitors.

Atheletic Carnival Planned For Clev.

CLEVELAND—Ten thousand participants in fifteen branches of sport are included in the athletic carnival to be held here July 22-30 as part of the big program being arranged by Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald's commission to celebrate the 125th anniversary of the founding of the city. Track and field games, a modified marathon, baseball, golf, tennis, boxing, trapshooting, soccer, cricket, aquatic sports, a regatta, roque, quoits and the "Cleveland Olympics" are the sports listed on the program.

SWIM MEET

OMAHA, Neb. — A woman's swimming meet with entrants from ten central western states eligible will be held here June 8. Five events will be held.

MICHAEL'S HOUSE OF BETTER CLOTHES

Sport Snap Shots

The Reds have a new signal code made up of numbers—something strange and wonderful. They talk it in the lobby, and perfect strangers are welcome to listen—only the initiated can understand. Each number, each combination of numbers, means something—very little number has a meaning all its own. This is about the way a code conversation sounds Friday.

Adolfo Laque: "I think we might have done better if we had changed from 1 to 2 when they had men on bases, yes?"

Manager Moran: "Maybe you are right. But I believe we would have stopped most of those runs if we had stuck to 1 and 2 after one man was out."

Jake Daubert: "I think we ought to shift from 1 to 2, and then go back to 1 when they aren't expecting it."

Sammy Malone: "I was playing 2 when that hunt was laid down. If I had been working on 2, I could have got it over in time."

GIBSON LOOKS GOOD

"Frank Gibson, the catcher I bought from the San Antonio club in the Texas league last fall, will make the boys sit up and take notice," says George Washington Grant, Braves owner. "Gibson had one trial in the majors some years ago, but then he was a kid and wasn't ready for fast company. He's ready now, however. He handles himself very well behind the bat, his throwing is fine and he is a timely hitter. He would fit well into any line-up in the big show just as he is, but after he's been up here a while and has had a chance to look around, he'll be even better. Fred Mitchell thinks as highly of Gibson as I do and you'll see him behind the bat in quite a few games for us this year."

POLO PLAYING PRINCE

American polo players practicing at Burlington, England, for the coming international matches, recently watched the Prince of Wales swinging a mallet with no mean result. Judging from the letters received in the United States, the future king of Great Britain might develop into an internationalist who he to devote sufficient time to practice to play a pony.

At present he is considered a novice, although a promising one, and is handicapped at one stroke in the same class as his brother, Prince Henry. That he has the pluck and endurance, however, is shown by the fact that in the game which the United States players witnessed, the Prince of Wales played four periods and appeared to enjoy every minute of scrimmages and rough riding.

NOTHER JERSEY BOUT

Another world championship match will be held in Tex Rickard's big arena in Jersey City this summer after Dempsey and Carpentier settle their differences. Jimmy White, the English flyweight champion, has been matched to battle Johnny Buff, who is the first American flyweight champion to obtain anything like general recognition. Until recently, the flyweight class was not taken seriously and the average fight had not done more than to show that it did not know who claimed the title. Now that Buff has shown real form the fans are showing interest in the midweight class. White and Buff will be fairly evenly matched in regard to weight.

JOEY TO BE BUSY

There are indications that Rantan champion Joe Lynch will defend his title in a championship match for the first time during the summer months. Ever since Lynch circumvented Herman the former has carefully avoided decision fights. Now he is beginning to talk fight. The biggest drawback is that Lynch thinks he ought to be paid $50,000 for risking the title. No promoter will consider offering such an amount, but the fact that Lynch had the assurance to ask for it indicates that the champion gets the match will have to pay high for it.

COCHRAN TO EUROPE

Walker Cochran, one of the three leading American billiards players, is considering going to Europe with Edouard Heremans when the latter returns to his home in Belgium this month. Heremans has been trying to persuade Cochran to go with him for a tour of Europe, Belgium and Holland during the summer months. It is known that they have received an offer of a two weeks' engagement from the Paris Billiard Palace.

It seems, however, that Cochran wants to guarantee himself a certain amount for the tour, and this the Belgian cannot see his way clear to do at this time.

STYLE IN TENNIS

There is as much style in tennis as in the art of my body's dress. As the battle of masculine neckties. Any one who has followed the late of the young men many years, know this full well. The appearance of the French, Doherty brothers in the country in 1902 and 1904 had its effect upon American style. They taught the American that they were hazyards and that they were shabby, and that they were not to be taken for granted. They taught the American that they were not to be taken for granted. They taught the American that they were not to be taken for granted.

BRAVES HAND REDS SECOND BLANKING OF SERIES

CINCINNATI—Two shutouts in as many days!

That's the sorrowful record of the Cincinnati Reds in their series with Boston's bustling Braves. The second shutout of the series came Saturday afternoon when the clan Mitchell trounced the Redlegs, 5 to 0, showing the Moramans a little deeper into the cellar and piling a few more thrones of humiliation upon their bowed heads.

The Reds smote the old onion a ye merry clip at inopportune times, but during the pinches Hugh McQuillan held them in the

Giants 12-Pirates 7

PITTSBURG.—Gotham's giant pulverized the Pirates in their mad rush to the pennant and took the lead in the National race Saturday when big Phil Douglas allowed the locals only one fluke single and trimmed them 12 to 0. Fourteen safe aways and four glaring errors netted the Giants seven runs in the second, four in the sixth and one in the eighth and one in the ninth. It was Wilbur Cooper's first defeat of the season. Morrison relieved Cooper in the seventh. Score: NEW YORK AB R H PO A E

NATIONAL EVENT

CHICAGO, Ill.—The national intercollegiate track and field meet to be held at Stagg Field June 18, by the National Collegiate Athletic Association is to be more national in character than any meet ever held in this country.

Scores of central western athletes showed their hats in the ring shortly after the first announcement of the meet and southern schools were not far behind. The latest entries are from the Pacific coast and the southwest, while assurance that Eastern schools will send their stars has been received by the officials in charge.

CAMPS PREPARED

BENTON HARBOR, Mich.—Training camps for Benny Leonard, world champion lightweight fighter, and Sailer Freedman of Chicago, who will meet here in the open arena July 4, now are being put into shape by a corps of men under the direction of Ike Bernstein. The two fighters are under contract to come to Benton Harbor for training two weeks before the fight.

Johnny Lee, former manager of the Dayton Central league, who is well known here, is having a hard time with his hurling staff at San Antonio.

TILDEN WINS

PARIS. (By United Press).—William T. Tilden Saturday became the world hard court tennis champion.

Playing one of his famous slugging games in which he covered every inch of the courts and placed his shots with the accuracy of a knife thrower, "Bill" defeated M. Wachen, Belgian entry, 6-3; 6-2; 6-5.

ONLY FOUR CARS IN RACES HERE

The twelve cars were scheduled to race, only four entered, the 50 mile speed test held at the Lima Driving Park, Saturday afternoon. Of the four, only a Buick Special, dropped out on the 36th lap.

C. W. Frer, driving a Duesenberg, won the event his time being one hour and six minutes. Lavell finished a close second in his Road Special. The only other car to last thru the race, a Ford Special, was on the 39th lap when Frer finished.

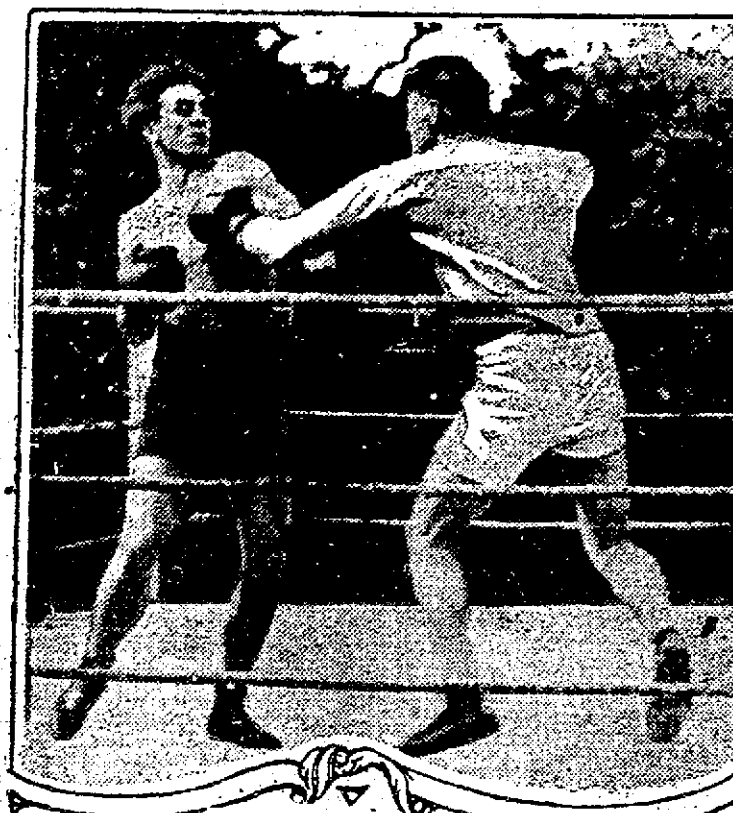

The winner's time in the half mile speed tests was 35 seconds. The time at the half way mark was 32 minutes and 50 seconds. The Road Special held an eighth of a mile before the Duesenberg until the last few laps when it crept up to within twenty feet of its rival.

The winner's time in the half mile speed tests was 35 seconds.

AUDACIOUS WINS

BELMONT PARK, New York.—Audacious won the 35th renewal of the suburban handicap here Saturday, going the mile and a quarter in 2:02.1-5. Mad Hatter and Seaming Park were second and third.

FINANCIAL HEADS OPTIMISTIC
Federal Reserve Bank, Holds a Hopeful Attitude.
TRADES ARE ACTIVE
Outlook in District is Near Normal.

Business conditions at the present time may be characterized as hopeful and fundamental conditions are being well constantly cause the different phases of the industrial and business world to work toward great activity, according to the monthly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

MONEY POSITION STEADY
Leads and discounts from the Federal Reserve Bank are growing smaller, while the demands from the country institutions are increasing in volume. Rates for the month have been steady, although brokers' offerings have been slightly larger. Lack of idle money rather than disinclination to purchase bills was the only thing that held back larger purchases of commercial paper.

STEEL BUSINESS SLOW
Orders from automobile factories have represented the greater part of the business of the steel mills. Oil operations also have caused a demand for tubular goods. Building demands are being held up in many cases by strikes and wage readjustments. Pig iron production was at a record low of 1,192,071 tons. The composite average of 14 different products is 59 per cent under the high for 1920 but is still nearly 100 per cent higher than May 1914.

LAKE FREIGHTERS IDLE
One stock at the various docks is large and as a consequence many bulk freighters are still idle. Practically the only movement in grain is seen in the United States Steel Corporation. Total shipments may run 23,000,000 tons under last year. Very little grain business is seen and the rates for this class of shipments has been reduced to one and three-fourths cents a bushel from Lake Superior ports to Buffalo.

Factories are busy
Reports from manufacturers are encouraging although some disappointment is shown because the improvement is not proceeding at a faster rate. Price cuts in automobile lines has brought increased business and this together with the seasonal demand is keeping many of the factories busy. Rubber tire factories are letting up a little but other lines of rubber goods are holding up well. Agricultural implements lines continue dull. Paint and white lead business is much better.

OTHER LINES IMPROVE.
Building materials are at reduced levels and labor is plentiful, however, opposition to wage cuts in some crafts is tending to cause a holding off in large contracts. Crops are about normal with farm work well advanced. Coal production is increasing and the depletion of stocks throughout the country is causing increased demand at the mines. Uncertainty as to freight rates is causing some hesitancy on the part of coal companies to quote prices for fall delivery. Heavy orders are being received in the various textile lines and wages have been satisfactorily adjusted.

OBITUARY
Rachel, daughter of Ethan and Lucy, John was born March 19, 1854 and died at the home of her daughter May 30th, 1921, aged 67 years, 2 months and 11 days. She was born about one mile west of Elida, O. Here she spent her girlhood days and was reared to womanhood. On December 21, 1871 she was married to William Stemen who preceded her in death 29 years ago the 29th of August. To this union were born three sons and one daughter, Wesley A. and Earl J. of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Dillon of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. J. W. Foust of near Delphos. She also leaves two grandchildren Myron Foust and Mrs. C. H. Stolzenbach, both of Lima. Besides these, she leaves two brothers and one sister, J. W. John of near Delphos, E. P. John of Lima and Mrs. D. L. Meachling of Crayville, Ind.

She united with the M. E. church at Elida, when but a girl and has been a faithful and consistent Christian ever since. After leaving Elida, she could not attend church services there, yet she still retained her membership. She was a faithful attendant of the Middle River church and of Sunday school and was always faithful to the trust God gave her. She was never too tired to attend any of the church services. Her last acts on earth were deeds of kindness in bestowing flowers upon strangers to decorate the graves of their loved ones. Not only by her children will this loved mother be missed, as she was a friend to every one. But God knows best, and to his will we submit. The parting is only for a brief time and while our hearts are sad and heavy over her going she awaits our coming in the land of love. She went to sleep on earth but awakened in heaven. Her mission was done and God took her to be with him forevermore. Our mother's chair is vacant now. We'll miss her well known form Her gentle smile, her placid brow The love her heart kept warm.

Forever stilled the kindly voice,
Forever closed the eye,
No more with her can we rejoice,
For cold in death she lies.
Darling mother we shall meet thee,
Where the angel music swells
Oh what joy will crown that meeting
Where there are no more farewells.
The funeral service was held at the M. E. church at Elida, Thursday morning, June 2nd, conducted by Rev. F. G. Boroff, assisted by Rev. Hance, minister of the Christian church.

BEGIN FIGHT FOR WOOLEY ESTATE

Case of Maude Michael Against R. E. Davis Opens Monday.

Trial of the case of Miss Maude Michael against R. E. Davis, as administrator of the estate of the late Joseph Wooley, for possession of real estate and other property owned by Wooley at his death, will be begun Monday in common pleas court.

Miss Michael, as housekeeper for Wooley, is seeking possession of the property of Wooley, which she says he gave her, in his life-time. However, as she will not be found, Miss Michael is contending the case, seeking to have her claimed rights declared.

ALL IS READY FOR TAXPAYERS

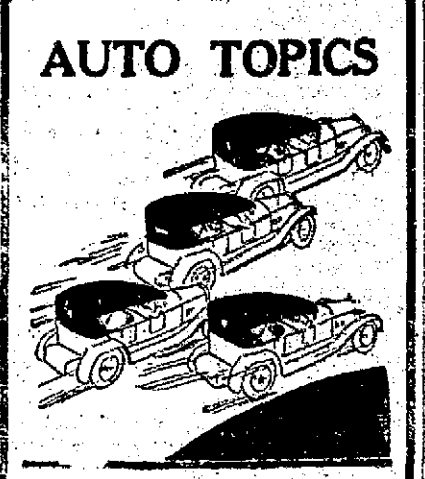

You Can Settle With County Treasurer Any Time Now.

Tax-paying time is here. County Treasurer Lehr E. Miller and his assistants have the duplicate already made up ready for citizens who wish to settle with the county. Taxes will be received up to June 20, the time legally allowed by law for turning over the books to the auditor, for the purpose of making out delinquent tax lists. "Taxes are coming in slowly," Treasurer Miller said Saturday. "There are only a few more weeks and we wish to impress upon the taxpayers the necessity of caring for this item of collection at once," he said.

The U.S. has a new signal code made up of numbers—something strange and wonderful. They talk it in the lobby and perfect strangers are with me in the lobby. Only the code can understand. From numbers, each combination of numbers means something—a new little code. It has a meaning all its own. This is about the way a code conversation sounds.

BOTH OHIO TEAMS BLANKED BY OPPONENTS

REDS LOSE TO BRAVES, 5 TO 0 WHILE INDIANS DROP STRUGGLE TO RED SOX, 6 TO 0—BATTING RACE TIGHTENS

BRAVES HAND REDS SECOND BLANKING OF SERIES

CINCINNATI—Two shutouts in as many days! That is the sorrowful record of the Cincinnati Reds in their series with Boston's bustling Braves. The second shutout of the series came Saturday afternoon when the clan Mitchell trounced the Redlegs 5 to 0, showing the Moraymen a little deeper into the cellar and piling a few more thrones of humiliation upon their bowed heads.

The Reds smote the old onion a very merry clip at inopportune times, but during the punches Hugh McQuillan held them in the

Giants 12-Pirates 7

PITTSBURGH—Gotham's great pitcher, the Pirates' first baseman, the National race Saturday afternoon big Phil Douglas allowed the Reds only one fluke single and timed them 12 to 7. Fourteen safe swats and four glaring errors netted the Giants seven runs in the second, four in the sixth and one in the eighth and one in the eighth.

It was Wilbur Cooper's first loss of the season. Morrison lost Cooper in the seventh.

NEW YORK—The Yankees

beat the Browns here Saturday afternoon 9 to 4, by sheer weight of numbers. New York used 14 men to 13 for St. Louis. Weaver, and Meusel were injured in a collision in right field.

CARPENTIER CAN TAKE PUNCHES; HEAVY PARTNER "SOCKS 'EM IN"

Paul Journee, French heavyweight, landing hard left to Carpentier's body in training bout.

taken while "Carp" and one of his best sparring partners were swapping punches in earnest, shows at least that the Frenchman can take a punch. Journee is a heavy man with a heavy kick in either mitt.

CHICAGO—The American league batting race has developed into one of the tightest in many years with

Harry Heilmann of Detroit leading and Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and George Sisler, last year's champion setting a terrific pace which dash promises to put any one of them ahead of the Detroit outfielder.

Heilmann's average, including points of Wednesday, is .435, ten points better than a week ago. Cobb and Speaker follow, each with a mark of .398. Sisler has hit better than any of them in recent games and in the past four weeks has boosted his average more than 150 points.

His mark now is .184 against .375

a week ago. The St. Louis first baseman hit safely seventeen times during the last week.

Babe Ruth continues to pole out home runs, getting his fifteenth sixteenth of the season during the past week and incidentally establishing a new record for total home runs with 119. Cravath held the old mark of 117. His batting average is falling off, however, and he has a mark of .338 against .345 a week ago and

.375 two weeks ago.

Stolen bases, Sisler also gained on the leaders and now is tied with

Harry of Washington for league supremacy, each man having ten thiefs to his credit.

HORNBY HEADS NATIONAL

In the National League, Rogers

Hornby, St. Louis, continues in a slight slump which gradually is pulling his average down, but he still holds the leadership over men who have played in 25 or more games.

Hornby's average, including games of Wednesday, is .413 against .455

a week ago and .457 two weeks ago.

Following Hornby is McHenry, another St. Louisian with a mark of

.391.

Meusel of Philadelphia and Kelly of New York are tied for the home run leadership of the senior circuit.

Southworth of Boston is an easy leader in stolen bases with nine.

Other leading batters, Johnston,

Brooklyn, .371; Schultz, St. Louis

FINANCIAL HEADS OPTIMISTIC
Federal Reserve Bank, Holds a Hopeful Attitude.
AUTO TRADES ARE ACTIVE
Outlook in District is Near Normal.

Business conditions at the present time may be characterized as hopeful and fundamental conditions are such as well constantly cause the different phases of the industrial and business world to work toward greater activity, according to the monthly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.
Labor difficulties are still seen in many sections and both labor and capital are trying to a certain extent at least to place the force of the readjustment upon each other. Workers are showing greater efficiency, however, and reductions in wages have been put into effect in many industries.

Good crops sound money conditions and a general readjustment to the tremendous changes, which have been occurring through the last few months, are causing better feeling in the different trades.
MONEY POSITION STEADY
Loans and discounts from the Federal Reserve Bank are growing smaller while the demands from the country institutions are increasing in volume. Rates for the month have been steady, although brokers' offerings were slightly larger. Lack of idle money rather than disinclination to purchase bills was the only thing that held back larger purchases of commercial paper.

STEEL BUSINESS SLOW
Orders from automobile factories have represented the greater part of the business of the steel mills. Oil well operations also have caused a demand for tubular goods. Building demands are being held up in many cases by strikes and wage readjustments. Pig iron production was at record low at 1,121,071 tons. The composite average of 14 different products is 70 per cent under the level for 1920 but is still nearly 100 per cent higher than May 1914.

LAKE FREIGHTERS IDLE
One stock at the various docks are very large and as a consequence many bulk freighters are still idle. Practically the only movement in cargo is seen in the United States Steel Corporation. Total shipments for May 23,000,000 tons under last year. Very little grain business is seen and the rates for this class of shipments has been reduced to one and three fourths cents a bushel from Lake Superior ports to Buffalo.

Factories are busy
Reports from manufacturers are encouraging although some disappointment is shown because the improvement is not proceeding at a faster rate. Good cuts in automobile lines has brought increased business and this together with the seasonal demand is keeping many of the factories busy. Rubber tire factories are letting up a little but other lines of rubber goods are holding up well. Agricultural implements lines continue dull. Paint and white lead business is much better.

OTHER LINES IMPROVE
Building materials are at reduced levels and labor is plentiful, however, opposition to wage cuts in some crafts is tending to cause a holding off in large contracts. Crops are about normal with farm work well advanced. Coal production is increasing and the depletion of stocks throughout the country is causing increased demand at the mines. Uncertainty as to freight rates is causing some hesitancy on the part of coal companies to quote prices for fall delivery. Heavy orders are being received in the various textile lines and wages have been satisfactorily adjusted.

OBITUARY
Rachel, daughter of Ethan and Lucy, John was born March 19, 1854 and died at the home of her daughter May 30th, 1921, aged 67 years, 2 months and 11 days. She was born about one mile west of Elida, O. Here she spent her girlhood days and was married in 1871 to William Stemen, who preceded her in death 29 years ago the 29th of August. To this union were born three sons and one daughter, Wesley A. and Earl J. of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Dillon of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. J. W. Foust of near Delphos. She also leaves two grandchildren Myron Foust and Mrs. C. H. Stolzenbach, both of Lima. Besides these she leaves two brothers and one sister, J. W. John of near Delphos, B. P. John of Lima and Mrs. D. L. Meachling of Crayville, Ind.

She united with the M. E. church at Elida when but a girl and has been a faithful and consistent Christian ever since. After leaving Elida she could not attend church services there, yet she still retained her membership. She was a faithful attendant of the Middle River church and Sunday school and was always faithful to the trust God gave her. She was never too tired to attend any of the church services. Her last acts on earth were deeds of kindness in bestowing flowers upon strangers to decorate the graves of their loved ones. Not only by her children will this loved mother be missed, as she was a friend to every one. But God knows best, and to his will we submit. The parting is only for a brief time and while our hearts are sad and heavy over her going she awaits our coming in the land of love. She went to sleep on earth but awakened in heaven. Her mission was done and God took her to be with him forevermore.

Our mother's chair is vacant now. We'll miss her well known form. Her gentle smile her placid brow. The love her heart kept warm. Forever stilled the kindly voice, Forever closed the eye, No more with her can we rejoice, For cold in death she lies.
Darling mother we shall meet thee, Where the angel music swells, Oh what joy will crown that meeting, Where there are no more farewells.
The funeral service was held at the M. E. church at Elida, Thursday morning, June 2nd, conducted by Rev. F. G. Horoff assisted by Rev. Hance, minister of the Christian church.

BEGIN FIGHT FOR WOOLEY ESTATE

Case of Maude Michael Against R. E. Davis Opens Monday.

Trial of the case of Miss Maude Michael against R. E. Davis, as administrator of the estate of the late Joseph Wooley, for possession of real estate and other property owned by Wooley at his death, will be begun Monday in common pleas court. Miss Michael, as housekeeper for Wooley, is seeking possession of the property of Wooley, which she says he gave her, in his life-time. However, as no will could be found, Miss Michael is contesting the case in court, seeking to have her claimed rights declared.
Distant relatives of both Wooley and of his deceased wife are endeavoring to secure control of the property. The entire estate amounts to about $75,000.
Miss Michael won the first lap of the race when she was awarded household goods and a high-powered automobile, belonging to Wooley, in a previous suit.
Miss Michael has summoned as witnesses Catherine Yeakam, Mrs. Mary Yeakam, Miss Blanche Reed, F. D. Carpenter, the Rev. J. M. Mills, R. E. Davis, Mrs. R. E. Davis and Mrs. R. B. Tolman. Witnesses for the defense include Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Banta, J. H. Banker, Mrs. Cora Cox and Otis E. Davis.

FERRALL ESTATE OF $13,216 TO CHILDREN

Estate of the late George K. Ferrall, Lima, amounted to $13,216, according to report of appraisers, filed with probate court Saturday. Ferrall formerly resided on S. Jackson-st. His son, James L. Ferrall, W. North-st., is executor.
Children share the estate. Real estate is valued at $7,000 and the remainder consists of money on deposit and outstanding notes and claims. David H. Tolman, Samuel Boose and John A. Mohr were appraisers.

LAST RITES FOR OTTAWA HERO OF THE WORLD WAR

OTTAWA—Honors due a soldier will be paid Leo Kerner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kerner of this city, Sunday, when his remains, recently brought from overseas, will be interred with military honors.
Kerner was a private in Company M, 146th Infantry, and was a battle casualty during heavy fighting in August, 1918, in which the 37th Division participated in the Arne-Marne sector. The body reached Ottawa Saturday morning and was escorted to the home of the parents by a guard of honor composed of members of the American Legion. Funeral will be held from the Catholic church Sunday afternoon.

THOMAS REED FUNERAL TO BE HELD ON MONDAY

Funeral services for Thomas Reed, 41, laborer, who died Friday at 5 p. m. at the home of a sister, Mrs. Lennie Richardson, 1430 W. Elm-st., will be held Monday at 2 o'clock at St. Paul's A. M. E. church. The Rev. J. A. Collins will officiate. Morning Star Lodge, K. of P., of which he was a member, will be represented at the services. Interment will be at Woodlawn.
Death was due to heart trouble. Besides Mrs. Richardson, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ida Beap, Covington, Ky.; Mrs. Henrietta Louory, Pittsburgh and three brothers, William D. Reed, Huntsville, Ind., Albert Reed, Washington, D. C.; S. P. Reed, Lima.

ALL IS READY FOR TAX PAYERS

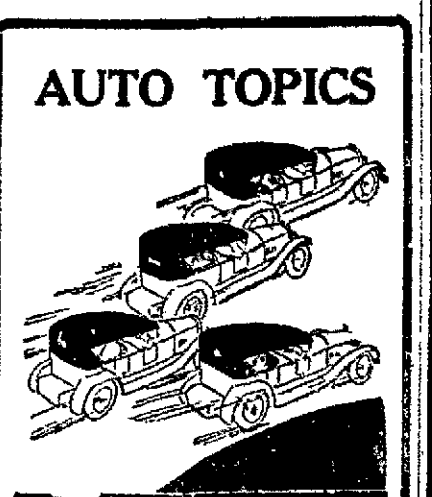

You Can Settle With County Treasurer Any Time Now.

Tax-paying time is here. County Treasurer Lehr E. Miller and his assistants have the duplicate already made up ready for citizens who wish to settle with the county.
Taxes will be received up to June 20, the time legally allowed by law for turning over the books to the auditor, for the purpose of making out delinquent tax lists.
"Taxes are coming in slowly," Treasurer Miller said Saturday. "There are only a few more weeks and we wish to impress upon the taxpayers the necessity of caring for this item of collection at once," he said.
To assist persons in various parts of the county who have not the time to come to Lima, a representative of the treasurer's office will visit certain towns within the next few weeks to receive tax payments.
Dates and places are as follows:

Farmers' and Merchants' bank, Beaverdam, on June 20; Mariners' bank, Elida, June 21; Lafayette bank, Lafayette, June 22; Harrod state bank, Harrod, June 23; Farmers' Spencerville, June 24; Citizens National bank, Bluffton, June 25; National bank, Delphos, June 28 and 29.

SUSPECTS TAKEN

TOLEDO — Following a trail of trinkets said to have been stolen from a house by burglars, police corralled two men on the Fasset-bridge Saturday. As John Murray and William Yerk, the burglar suspected fled across the bridge, pursued by cops, they ran into another police detail from the opposite side.

DECREES GRANTED TWO WIVES

Two Others Start Suits for Legal Separations.

SAYS HUSBAND IS DESERTER

Alimony Cases Disposed of by Judge Becker.

Two dissatisfied wives filed action for divorce in common pleas court Saturday. Two other wives were granted decrees.

Mrs. Vellone Swallow is asking separation from her husband, George, on grounds of neglect. The couple were married in Lima on May 3, 1915 and have no children. Mrs. Swallow sets forth her husband frequently allowed the payments on their furniture to lapse and that she was forced to take them up. She was dependent, she says, upon her parents for her clothing and never enjoyed the comforts of a happy home. She moved from place to place during her married life with Swallow, the petition asserts.

Mrs. Swallow secured an injunction, preventing her husband from annoying her at her home, 429 Pearl-st., or doing her bodily harm, which she charges he threatened. SAYS SHE WAS DECEIVED.

Mrs. Sarah Minnie Lathrop, charges William F. Lathrop deceived her at the time of their marriage, posing as a railroad man, earning good wages, with a comfortable home and able to care for her, the petition says. Instead, she says, he spent his time in idleness and with persons other than his wife. She asks his dower in her property in Marion-co be barred. The couple were married in Galesburg, Ill., on September 3, last. His residence is to her unknown, she claims. She was Sarah Minnie Hathaway before her marriage, and asks restoration of her maiden name.

Mrs. Nellie Davis was divorced from Homer Davis and restored to her maiden name of Switzer. Desertion is the ground.

Mrs. Evelyn A. Crawford was given a divorce from James B. Crawford on the grounds of neglect. She was restored to her maiden name of Holten. Both women will be obliged to pay court costs of securing the decrees.

CLAIMS HE'S DESERTER. Mrs. Crawford told Judge Becker that at the time of their marriage her husband had another wife living. She said as a member of the regular army he is now a deserter and is a fugitive from justice. The marriage took place on December 15, 1919.

STEURNAGLE SUIT BEGINS MONDAY

Van Wert Jurist to Preside in Divorce Trial Here

The divorce suit of J. Henry Steurnagle against his wife, Clara M. Steurnagle, will be heard in court Judge H. W. Blachly, Van Wert, Monday. Judge F. C. Becker has been called by Steurnagle as a witness.

Mrs. Steurnagle has called as witnesses Mrs. Anna Foley, Mrs. Ella Morgan-Hughes, Charles Beam, Daniel Allstaetter, William Hartman, Jacob and Waldo Allstaetter, Benj. Frost, Sheridan Yant, Albert Lammer, Ralph Williams, of Monroe-twp.; Dr. H. H. Shink, Daniel W. Shusser and W. M. Crawford of Columbus Grove; George Yant, Mr. and Mrs. Harky Miller, Charles Wentz and Eli Lora of West Cairo. Steurnagle's witnesses include Mrs. Isaac Billingsley, Clarence Billingsley, Sheridan Yant, Hal Best, Daniel and Peter Allstaetter, Mrs. Anna Foley, Mrs. Ella Morgan-Hughes, Judge Becker, Philip Bastinger, Mary Wright, Amos Evans and Peter Miller.

PROPERTY PARTICIPATION SOUGHT BY ATTORNEYS

Halhill, Quail & Kirk and W. L. Rogers, attorneys, have filed suit in common pleas court for partition of three properties located here.

John A. Earl, Jennie Earl and others, are made defendants. The plaintiffs claim they acquired an individual one-sixth interest in the property thru purchase of John A. Earl's holdings. The heirs inherited the property at the death of James S. Earl, in March, 1920.

Properties included are lots 3769, Sanford's first addition; lot 7689 in D. C. Dunn's sub-division and lot 3213 in T. K. Jacobs' thirteen add. all in Lima. Plaintiffs ask that the property be sold and that they be given their share of the proceeds.

SKY WEDDING TRIP

WARREN, O. — Judd "Pop" Yoho, wealthy manufacturer of Akron, flew here from Akron this morning arriving at the court house five minutes before closing time, where he met Miss Maude L. Romick, of Niles, and secured a marriage license for the couple's marriage Saturday afternoon at Miss Romick's home in Niles.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF. CHICAGO — Because he believed she had forgotten to place flowers on their baby's grave, Albert Beardsley, of Melrose Park, killed his estranged wife, Mrs. Alice Beardsley, aged 19, following a quarrel on the street and then shot himself. He died in a few moments.

NEW MEASURE TO GOVERN WALKS

City Solicitor Holds Ordinances Are Ineffective

Really owners who have been laying wide walks fronting their premises contrary to specifications on file in office of City Engineer Vaughn Miller, cannot be prosecuted under existing ordinances, Solicitor H. K. Garling ruled Saturday.

"The old ordinances are lame on the question," Solicitor Garling said. "Back in 1906 council passed an ordinance that covered the subject and provided a proper penalty. Specifications for the walks were included in the legislation."

"Again in 1912, further legislation was enacted, but in copying the ordinance, the clerk omitted the specifications. There is no record of what requirements were laid down by council. Nor is there any certainty that they were the same as those now on file in the city engineer's office."

It would be impossible to go into court and compel owners to change their walks, on so flimsy a case, Solicitor Garling declared.

The old ordinance passed in 1906 provided that property owners constructing walks not conforming to specifications, should be fined $10 and the walk removed.

To remedy the matter and compel construction of uniform walks, new legislation covering the subject will be introduced at council meeting Monday. The new ordinance, if passed, will be made effective immediately by making it an emergency act.

Willard STORAGE BATTERY

Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation

REASONS FOR WILLARD SUPERIORITY

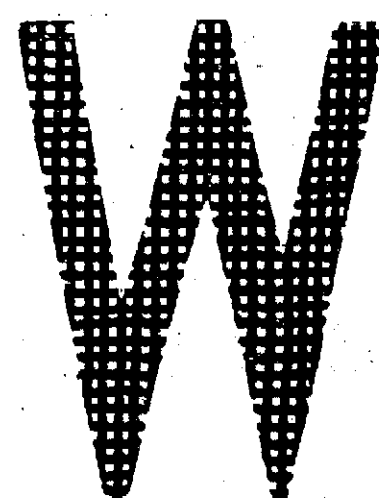

Everything that you could want in a storage battery for your car and every possible service is afforded through the Willard Storage Battery and the service that goes with every sale of a Willard.

In a Willard Threaded Rubber Insulated Storage Battery you get longer life, freedom from battery worries, the added protection of the threaded rubber insulation and the Willard Service, which is one of the greatest features of any battery.

Car builders who are particular about battery quality specify the Willard threaded-rubber Battery. Car buyers who are particular about battery performance look for the red threaded-rubber trade-mark.

Five Threaded-Rubber Reasons why you should buy Willard—

- 1—Willard Threaded Rubber Batteries are standard on 172 makes of motor cars and trucks and on export models of 2 others.
- 2—Most of the important battery improvements originated with Willard and are today found in the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery.
- 3—Threaded Rubber Insulation saves you money because it does not warp, puncture, crack or carbonize. It outlasts the plates.
- 4—Threaded Rubber Insulation—found only in the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery—permits "bone-dry" shipment that keeps the battery new.
- 5—As an authorized Willard Service Station we offer to every Willard user the benefits of the broad Willard policies.

NEW BUILDING ON NORTH-ST

Banquets of Real Estate Board During Summer.

Improvements on the front of the building occupied by the First National Bank have been completed. The enlargement of the windows and the application of a coat of stucco has much improved the appearance of the structure and added greatly to the convenience of the bank officials and assistants and its patrons.

With betterments here and at other points around the square, the central part of the city is assuming a new metropolitan aspect. The old beamland theatre has been transformed and various other fronts have been repainted and improved.

David Epstein has completed his new apartment building just west of the Main st bridge near the Elks' home. Two stories will be erected on the ground floor. One room will be occupied by the S. Auto Top Co., and will include a large room in the rear which will be used as a factory. The bargain store men and women's furnishings will occupy the other room. Apartments are located in the upper floor.

Charles Schmidt has purchased a lot of 20 feet on W. North-st, opposite the Elks' Home, from Frank Komminsk. The deal was handled by Michael & Fishel. This property is a part of the lot adjacent to the Buckeye Pipe Line building and the erection of a three-story brick business and apartment building is contemplated. The structure will provide a business room and two modern flats. The consideration was not made public.

There will be no banquet meeting of the Lima Real Estate board during June and July. The regular meeting of the board will be held early in August. The committee in charge is putting out lines to secure a good speaker for the occasion.

R. S. Fisher, president of the local board, and John Wyre, secretary, will attend the national convention of Real Estate boards at Chicago, June 12 to 15. A number of others from this city are also expected to be in attendance.

Regular business meetings of the board will be held during the summer. The next meeting takes place after the Chicago convention.

WILL SHOW ALLEN-CO JERSEY HERD SIRE AT VARIOUS STATE FAIRS

Chief Raleigh II, one of Allen-co's premier Jersey herd sires is starting on a long vacation tour, which will include leading state fairs in the central west and end at the National Dairy show, Minneapolis, Minn.

Several months ago J. S. Swannigan, owner of Longview Jersey Farm, Lee's Summit, Mo., visited the Koop farm, near Lima. He admired Chief Raleigh and sought to buy him, but his owner refused to set a price. A deal was struck, however, and during the show season, the two farms will make a trade. Chief Raleigh will make rounds of fairs and dairy shows with the Longview herd, and Raleigh Golden Premier, a blue blooded monarch of the Missouri farm, will be brought to Lima.

JUNE OBSEQUIES TO BE CONDUCTED HERE TUESDAY

Funeral services for Alvin B. June, 26, who died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Carl Rowlands, in Phoenix, Ariz., Monday of last week, will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin S. June, 762 W. North-st.

The body was accompanied to Lima, Saturday evening and taken to the home of his parents. Death was due to pulmonary tuberculosis, from which June suffered after having been gassed in the world war. He had been in the southwest for some months in an effort to recover his health.

Besides the parents and his sister, Mrs. Rowlands, June is survived by a brother, Orrin A. June, and another sister, Mrs. Walter Renz, both of Lima; George and Louis June, Joy, Ohio; Frederick June, St. Mar's and Charles June, in Montana.

ZIONISTS TO HELP KEREN HAYESEN

American Organization to Make Peace at Convention.

CLEVELAND — Leaders of the American Zionist organization, headed by Judge Julian W. Mack, of Chicago, are prepared to announce at the twenty-fourth annual Zionist convention, which opens Sunday, a number of proposals aiming to settle the differences which arose between the organization and Doctor Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization. It was learned from an authoritative source Saturday.

The proposal, it is learned, constitute a reversal of the former position of the American organization. They have withdrawn their demand for additional safeguards to the Keren Hayesod (Palestine Foundation Fund) and recognize the World

Zionist organization as the supreme authority in the disbursement of funds in Palestine, in view of the official recognition of that organization by the British mandate.

On the other hand the American Zionists will ask for amendments in the states of the Keren Hayesod which would give it, and individual contributors to the fund, a greater voice in the management of that fund.

The Zionist organization of America demands that it be given sufficient representation on the international budget committee, which decides the matter of expenditure of Zionist funds in Palestine and elsewhere.

The American organization is prepared to recognize and assist Keren Hayesod activities in this country. Heretofore it had been averse to participation in the activities for it as inaugurated by Dr. Weizmann and his colleagues on their arrival in this country.

ARRESTED FOR TAKING ARMS TO STRIKE ZONE

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. — Bringing fire arms and ammunition into the strike zone resulted in the arrest here Saturday of Archie E. Boyd on a charge of violation of Rule 8 of Governor Morgan's proclamation. Boyd was arrested in a room at one of the hotels here and a .45 calibre Colt Automatic pistol, together with a pocketful of cartridges, was taken from him. Private Cummins, of the state police, who made the arrest, is of the opinion that Boyd had a suit case full of ammunition, but search failed to reveal it. Boyd was placed in jail here and the ammunition confiscated.

An Announcement by The Studebaker Corporation of America

Eight months ago, when the costs of materials and labor appeared to have reached their peak, we made substantial reductions in the prices of Studebaker cars. These reductions were in anticipation of our ability, after the turn of the year to purchase materials and to fabricate them at lower costs.

The expected savings have been realized.

With them, other savings have been made, as a result of the greatly increased volume which Studebaker has this year enjoyed.

During the first five months of 1921, our volume of business has exceeded that of any other automobile manufacturer except Ford.

The Studebaker plants are running at capacity with unfilled orders on hand for over 7,000 cars.

In this quarter we shall produce 21,000 automobiles against 11,000 in the corresponding period of last year. This is an increase of approximately 100%.

No other automobile manufacturer is making a comparable showing.

We believe that the confidence of the buying public, which has made and is making this record possible, will continue, because it is supported by the quality and value of our products, and these we shall uphold.

We expect that as a consequence the present economical and efficient production basis can be maintained and that we are justified in making further reductions in the prices of Studebaker cars.

Take No Chances With Those Cherished Films

Most Kodak pictures are closely associated with a personality or an experience. They can seldom be re-taken. The way to protection against loss or spoilage, lies in the selection of a reliable efficient concern to do the developing and printing.

FASFOTO work is done by experts who have the physical support of a perfectly equipped plant. They bring out every detail in every negative. The prices are an important feature, and promptness is a foundation policy. But quality is never sacrificed for speed.

Always Take Plenty of Films Along

Generously anticipate your needs, then add another roll or two. Any Thompson Store will refund your money on unused rolls if returned within a reasonable time after purchase.

Everything In Kodakery —Plus Intelligent Service

In addition to a complete line of Eastman Kodaks and Films, all Thompson's stores feature developing and printing equipment. To give intelligent helpful service is the never-forgotten aim in this department.

FREE DEVELOPING

Thompson's are pleased to announce Free Developing of Kodak Films. When prints are ordered, no charge will be made for developing. Take advantage of this saving.

BUILD AND IMPROVE YOUR HOME THIS WEEK

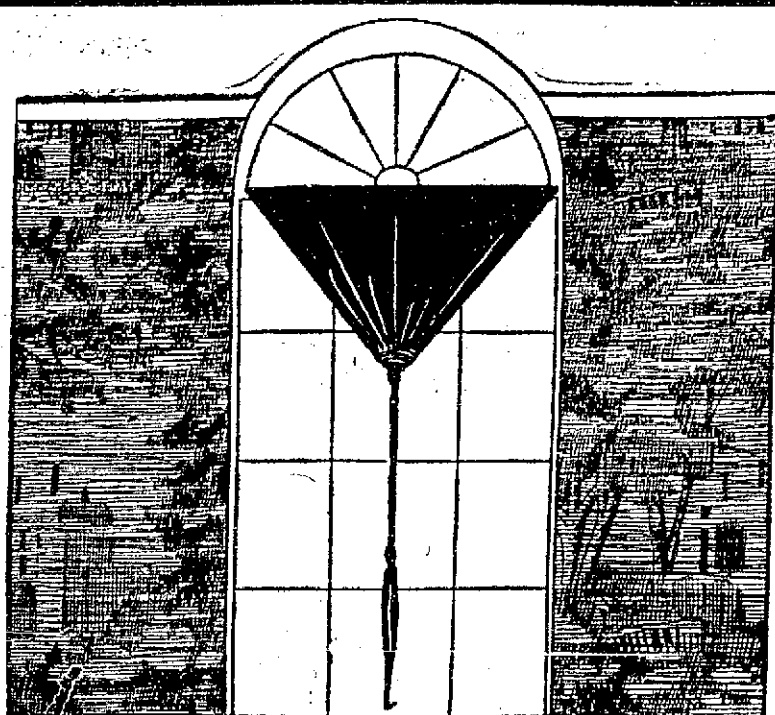

MATERIALS ARE VERY LOW IN PRICE, LABOR IS PLENTIFUL AND THIS WEATHER IS IDEAL FOR ALL BUILDING

DO YOUR BUILDING LIKE THE BUSINESS MAN GOES AFTER BUSINESS

Act quickly when the time for action comes. Surely there never will be a better time to build your home or to improve it, to add that porch or wing, to do that painting and interior decorating than right now.

The best of labor is plentiful, prices on materials have dropped tremendously, and weather conditions have been ideal for most any kind of work. Think of that new fence, that garage, the much-needed cement walks, a new foundation, etc.

Most everyone who owns property is taking advantage of present favorable conditions to do his building and improving now.

What kind of a background do you have for your living-room windows?

If they are the kind of windows pictured above we offer the suggestion that we be allowed to show you our line of scenic tapestries, damasks and leather effect wall-papers. We have many others, too, which are quite appropriate for any style and living-room you may have.

AND from our extensive stock we know you will be able to select a paper which will produce that much-to-be-desired harmonious effect.

You Will Like This House

Jolly, friendly, neighborly folks, who are fond of entertaining, will note at once the desirability of the clever house-plan shown here.

The living room, vestibule and dining room make one beautiful sweep across the entire front of the house, an arrangement which is ideal for little parties and social gatherings.

The hallway gives access to kitchen, bedrooms and bath without passing thru other rooms, and the front door can be reached from the kitchen without passing thru living or dining room.

Note the well sheltered porch in the rear.

The second story can be finished up if desired, with large sized, well lighted rooms.

This residence has an impressive appearance and will look well in any neighborhood. It is one of the most desirable shown in this series.

ACTIVE WEEK IN SOCIETY REALM IS CALENDAR

Open Meeting of Federation of Women's Clubs to be Held on Wednesday Evening—Mrs. Williams to Entertain Women's Club Members Monday

SUFFICIENT assurance of an important and active period, notably in clubdom, is afforded by the calendar for the coming week.

Of great concern to the many club women of the city will be the open meeting of the City Federation of Women's clubs, Wednesday at 8 p. m., at the Congregational church. The Department of Fine Arts, of which Mrs. Ralph Austin is chairman and in which are included the Committee of Literature, Mrs. Winona Vinson Forrer, chairman; Committee of Music, Mrs. I. R. Longworth, chairman, and Committee of Art, Mrs. William Daniels, chairman, will, thru the Federation president, Mrs. M. E. Williams, present Hortense Neilson, world famed dramatic reader, in "Doll House." This is Miss Neilson's last tour under Lyceum management before returning to the stage. Preceding the reading, the Women's club trio including Mrs. Andrew Dimond, cellist; Mrs. Gale Hamilton, violinist, and Miss Leona Feltz, pianist, will play the following numbers: (a) "To Spring," Grieg; (b) "A Dream," Bartlett, and "Hungarian Fantasy," Tobani.

The meeting will, no doubt, be a most enjoyable one and every club woman in the city is cordially invited to attend. Monday Mrs. E. A. Williams will open her home on S. Cole-st. to the members of the Women's club, who will entertain the members of the various clubs and a few guests. Mrs. Ralph Austin will give "Enoch Arden" as arranged with a musical setting by Richard Strauss, with Mrs. Ralph Eugene Sanders as accompanist. Mrs. Harriet Gayer will sing with harp accompaniment by Mrs. Shriver, Miss Annette Roby will play several violin numbers.

Monday evening, the City Hospital Loan scholarship fund committee will entertain with a dance at McCullough's Park.

Final meeting of the College Women's club will be celebrated in the form of a tea at the Shawnee country club, Tuesday. Committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. J. A. Harrison, Mrs. Carl W. Hughes and Miss Catherine Woodcock.

Tuesday at 8 p. m. Miss Esther Demaris Toy will appear in an Expression Recital at the Trinity M. E. church. She will be assisted by Miss Vida L. Fox and Miss Freda E. Beer, students at Ohio Northern university, Ada. Miss Toy was graduated in the class of 1921 from the School of Expression, Ohio Northern University.

The marriage of Miss Beatrice Sherwood, daughter of Mrs. D. L. Sherwood and Woolson Hartzler Davis, Newark, N. J., will be solemnized Wednesday at the home of Miss Sherwood's mother, Mrs. D. L. Sherwood, the Rev. Kirk B. O'Farrell officiating.

Miss Dorothy Kleinberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Kleinberger, will be united in marriage to J. J. Peltier Wednesday. The marriage will take place in Pittsburgh at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Fisher, Kalamazoo, Mich., were pleasantly surprised Monday afternoon when the members of the William E. Fisher family, Wapakoneta, arranged a delightful surprise in their honor at the home of Mrs. Fisher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hoover, 75 Market-st.

The rooms were attractively decorated with flags and a program of flowers and the afternoon was enjoyed in dancing, music and other pleasures. Later a dainty buffet luncheon was served. Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schimmel and daughter Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Blum, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fisher, Sr. and Mrs. Bernard Reeser and children, Richard, Frederick, and Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fisher and daughter Ruth Wapakoneta; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fisher and son Arnold, Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher, Jr., Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher and children Pauline, Mildred and William, Mrs. Cora Beert, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Reed, Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Fisher.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Fisher were again tendered a pleasant surprise when a group of friends gathered at the Hoover home. Dancing and cards were the diversions of the evening and at a late hour a dainty lunch was served. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Renz, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Renz, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ridenour, Mr. and Mrs. William Renz, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Renz, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lefer, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Alligier and Mr. and Mrs. Frances O'Connor.

Over this week-end Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schind, W. Spring-st., are entertaining as their guests the following young people: Miss Verna Wadsworth, O.; Miss Freda Wadsworth, North Carolina; Mr. Melvin Schindler, North Carolina; Lyle Strubaker, Washington, D. C.; all college friends of their daughter, Miss Schind, and their daughter, Miss Harriet and Winifred.

Miss Artridge Nelson and Pauline Nelson, Messrs. Dwight Clutter, O. J. Detrick and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Detrick are the week-end guests of friends at Wittenberg College at Springfield. They were in attendance at a sorority dance Friday evening and a sorority picnic Saturday.

Mrs. Albert Rothe will entertain the Women's Missionary society of the Reformed church Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. L. G. Lerch, 41-1/2 W. Spring-st.

Sorority club will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. L. G. Lerch, 41-1/2 W. Spring-st.

LIMA GIRLS WIN COLLEGE HONORS

Miss Harriet Thompson, left, daughter of T. E. Thompson, W. Spring-st., was graduated from the Training School for Nurses at Western Pennsylvania Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa., May 3, 1921. She will receive her diploma sometime the first of the coming year. Announcement of the engagement of Miss Thompson to Donald Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Cunningham, was made at an informal gathering given at the attractive country home of Mrs. Harry L. Gayer during the past week.

Miss Lenore Hyman, above, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Hyman, State-st., graduated in the Class of 1921 from Columbia university, New York City. She received a B. S. degree and majored in Physical Education. During her college career, Miss Hyman was very prominent in all school activities, holding several offices. She was a member of a number of committees and engaged in social work.

Miss Mary Parmenter, below, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Parmenter, W. Market-st., at the close of the school year at the Columbia university, received her Master's Degree in mathematics. Miss Parmenter received an A. B. degree at Wellesley college last year and was graduated in the class of 1916 at the Lima Central high school.

Three of the Lima clubs, the Arbutus, Lotus and Woman's have at various times united in attending lecture courses and during the past season enjoyed some of Oberlin's talented men.

The Lotus club, early in May, extended their hospitality by entertaining the members of the three clubs at a musical at the home of Mrs. Harry L. Gayer's beautiful country home and now the Woman's club will give a complimentary Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Williams, S. Cole-st.

The retiring president of the Woman's club, Mrs. Ralph Austin is to give excerpts from Tennyson's "Enoch Arden" with Mrs. Ralph Shriver at the piano playing the accompaniment as written by Richard Strauss.

Violin numbers will be given by Miss Annette Roby who has just returned from Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. Harry L. Gayer will sing a group of old time ballads accompanied on the harp by Mrs. Shriver.

Nine members of the Coterie club responded to roll call at the meeting Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. William Seaton.

During the business session plans were made for a picnic to be held at McCullough's park Wednesday, June 9. A social hour followed and Mrs. Clifford Stanyer and Mrs. Donald Faze were successful in a clever contest. At 4 o'clock a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Club will meet in a fortnight with Mrs. Stanyer.

Delta Sigma sorority will meet with Miss Gertrude Boose, W. Market-st Monday evening, at which time Misses Martha Roby, Eloise Cunningham, Florence Price and Mrs. Frank Wallace will be initiated.

W. C. T. U. Flower Mission Day will be observed at the county home, Sunday June 12th. The program will be announced later.

Postponed meeting of the Monday Knitting-club will be held Friday at 2 p. m. with Mrs. A. H. Créps, N. Collett-st.

VACATIONS ARE BEING PLANNED BY LIMA FOLKS

Seeks to Escape the Discomforts of the Heated Period—Resume of Events in Social Circles the Past Week, Reflects a Period of Enjoyment

ANOTHER week of joyous festivity and gaiety has closed and milady is now anxiously anticipating the numerous other entertainments and pleasures which await her during the coming week.

Many are, at this time, looking forward to and planning for their summer vacations. Women even now are arranging informal gatherings which will afford an opportunity to bid adieu to the more fortunate ones who will enjoy the heated months at delightful summer resorts.

During the past week a happy reunion was enjoyed Monday afternoon when the members of the William E. Fisher family, Wapakoneta, gathered at the W. F. Hoover home, W. Market-st, and tendered Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Fisher, Kalamazoo, Mich., a pleasant surprise. Greater Than the Book, Greater Than the Play Itself, Is the Picture, "East Lynne"

This immortal story, beloved universally and read by millions is showing at the Lyric today—A perennial in the garden of literature.

Certain stories, like certain songs, seem to possess the power of immortality and as "Home Sweet Home" is to song, "East Lynne" is to literature. Millions have read the book for, aside from the Bible itself, no book boasts of greater home distribution. Millions likewise have seen the play for, but few of the greater artists have at some time or another failed to include it in their repertoire. Not a hamlet, perhaps in America has failed to produce it in amateur theatricals and it has endured beloved by all for over five generations.

Almost may "East Lynne" lay claim to be the most powerful drama ever written and its popularity lies in its humaneness, its appeal in that throughout its entire thread of narrative it "rings true". Now "East Lynne" is to be presented on the screen. It comes to the Lyric today. It is one of the greatest stories ever written. It ranks highest among the plays ever staged and it may be said that thus far no screen production has ever excelled it as such applies to the field of melodrama.

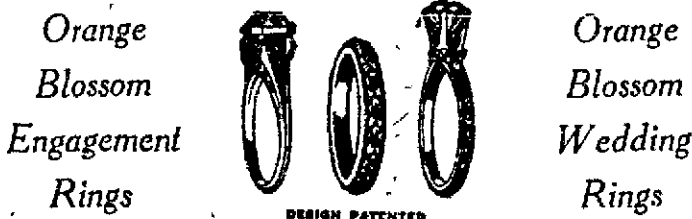

Every picture, every novel, every spoken play which aspires to greatness must morally ring true, must entertain by its close adherence to the truth in human life—must teach some great lesson. Millions have been entertained by this great story and no one has ever read it, has ever seen it without being made a better man or woman from the experience.

Now "East Lynne" is coming to the Lyric today for four days. You owe it to yourself to see this picture. You owe it to your wife and children that they see it. You will most assuredly be benefitted and highly entertained by the experience. And please come early today to avoid standing.

MISS CHRISTEN'S RESUME OF THE WEEK'S ACTIVITIES

Juniors of South High school gave a complimentary reception and hop Friday evening at the Lima club, honoring the Seniors of 1921. The rooms were prettily decorated with green and white, the class colors. The class president, Marcus Donovan, welcomed the guests, while Allen Ireland, senior president, responded.

George Roudeshush, principal, spoke in a happy vein while I. W. Pogue, former principal, spoke of his appreciation in being able to be with them again. Francis Sanford gave a violin number.

The Merry Makers orchestra furnished the music for the grand march and the dancing.

Mr. Roudeshush, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Pogue and son Owen, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robertson, Miss Geckler, Miss Acton, Miss Bonetta Jameson, Miss Irene Buckley, Miss Duffley, Miss Helen Meredith, Miss Ridgway, Miss Mary Mercer, Miss Shannahan, Miss Jane Cobrath, Mr. Morrison and Mr. Young made up the guests aside from the Seniors enjoying the occasion.

Members of the L. Q. V. club tendered Miss Mildred Downing, N. Jameson-ave a delightful surprise Friday evening when they gathered at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downing, N. Jameson-ave, in celebration of her graduation from Central high school. The affair was in the form of a "kid party" and games and contests were the amusement of the evening. Miss Downing was the recipient of many pretty gifts. At a late hour a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Downing.

Those present included Miss Jessie Sanders, Margaret Sanders, Lenore Stemen, Roma Tinkham, Tessie Haak, Lenore Sprague, Dorothy Sprague, Mrs. Charles Sprague and Miss Loretta Hartline.

Invitations have been issued to the marriage of Miss Ethel Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hardin Arnold, Hope, Arkansas and Robert J. Davis, son of Mrs. Lena B. Davis, of this city. The marriage will take place at the First Methodist church at Hope, Wednesday, June 15th. They will reside at 5329 Renmore-ave, Chicago.

Mr. Davis was connected in newspaper work in this city for some time and is very well known here.

Kecia club will meet Thursday with Mrs. Emma Pape, Park-ave.

Members of the Trinity Church choir motored to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kay, 10 miles west of this city, Friday evening and enjoyed a delightful evening.

Following choir practice, the evening was pleasantly whittled away socially and at a late hour a delicious lunch was served. The tables were arranged on the lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Crawford and children will motor Sunday to Summerfield, Ohio, where they will visit Mrs. Crawford's mother, Mrs. Crawford and the children will remain there for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berger, Jr., and Fred Berger, Sr., are home from Fremont, Ind., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cook. Miss Anna Mae Krelling accompanied them to this city.

Mrs. Mary Hazard is home from a visit with friends near Quincy.

LIMA GIRL WINS FIRST M. A. DEGREE ACCORDED BY BLUFFTON COLLEGE

MISS HILDA LEETE

To Miss Hilda Leete, 22, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. W. H. Leete, 1513 Lakeside-ave, goes the honor of not only being one of the youngest girls in Lima to receive a Bachelor of Arts degree, but the only woman on whom has ever been conferred a Master of Arts degree at Bluffton College.

The young in years, she is old in knowledge, as her grades are the highest ever received by a student at the Bluffton institution. At the annual commencement, held on Bluffton campus Friday, Miss Leete was paid signal honors. Amid impressive ceremonies the degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon her, in recognition of her excellence in studies in the past five years.

Despite her attainments in the realm of learning, according to her friends, she is still the happy-go-lucky school girl who graduated from Central high school in Lima a few years ago.

One year ago Miss Leete completed her college course at Bluffton and was graduated, winning an A. B. Last fall she returned to school for a post graduate course and was rewarded with a Master degree two days ago. Now she is back in Lima and will spend the summer with her parents, who are, to say the least, mightily proud of their daughter's success.

Wisdom and comeliness are rarely found in combination, but Miss Leete, who is just Hilda to her friends, can lay claim to both. She is of medium height, has a wealth of luxuriant brown hair and a pair of big flashing brown eyes that belie the store of knowledge that lurks behind them. She is just the typical American college girl.

Unspoiled by her two college degrees, she has evolved no elaborate plan to revolutionize the Universe. In fact, she has no great plans at all, but thinks that she may take up teaching for a few years until she decides what to do. Either that or she may enter the field of journalism. She has already written a number of stories that have been accepted by an eastern publisher.

When she finished high school her parents desired to send her to an exclusive eastern finishing school, but Miss Leete over-ruled their wishes and entered Bluffton College. She says that she has never regretted her decision.

Her friends say she loves all sorts of out door sports and horseback riding is her particular enjoyment. She believes that it is great exercise, rests and refreshes both mind and body and that more women should take it up as a means of recreation and health building.

Mrs. G. M. McCullough, W. Market-st., is home from a visit at Elvira.

Members of O. E. U. E. will enjoy an outing at Russell's Point Friday.

Miss Esther Damaris Toy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Toy, will appear in an Expression Recital at Trinity M. E. church Tuesday at 8 p. m. She will be assisted by Miss Vida L. Fox and Miss Freda E. Miss Ruth Wells, W. Elm-st is the week-end guest of Miss Abigail Sullivan, a student at Western College, Oxford.

Mrs. Abbie Crippen, Cleveland, house guest of Mrs. A. T. MacDonell, and Miss Isabelle Mackenzie left Saturday for Bluffton to visit Mrs. Sara Frick Swank.

Genevieve Johnson Bishop, who has many friends and admirers in Lima, has been shown a great honor by Mrs. Warren Harding, who was a girl friend of hers. In March Mrs. Harding brought Mrs. Bishop from Los Angeles to Washington, D. C. to take charge of the music at the White House, where she will conduct a Sunday evening concert along the line prevalent when Mrs. McKinley was hostess.

Mrs. Taft was the finest musician among the many distinguished women who have been the first lady of the land. Not only was she distinguished for her own musical ability but also for promoting all that was best in music during her regime.

Miss Margaret Wilson, during her residence in the White House, gave her time and talents along musical lines. One half of all her thousands earned by singing and community work was devoted to the Red Cross and at present the sales from her records are turned over to this national work.

Mrs. Bishop is such a splendid vocalist and exponent of all that is best in music that she will, doubtless, help bring about a reaction from the discordant music so much in vogue for the past year, thereby making Ohio women justly proud of her.

The Women's Missionary society of Central Church of Christ met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Robert Hughes, N. Metcalf-st. Mrs. E. Creps gave an interesting report on the recent state convention held at Marion at which she represented the local organization. The annual election of officers, resulted in Mrs. Charles Roberts being chosen president; Mrs. F. M. Hill, secretary Mrs. E. V. Smith, literary secretary Mrs. L. H. Earl, treasurer. The session closed with the serving of delicious luncheon.

Mrs. H. B. Hoffman was hostess with three tables of euchre at home Tuesday evening.

Scott McGinnis and Mrs. M. H. Lynch held high score and at a late hour the hostess served a dainty repast.

Guests included Mrs. Scott McGinnis, Mrs. Edward Fockler, Mrs. H. Krock, Mrs. John Kivel, Mrs. Stapleton, Mrs. W. Felsner, Mrs. L. Bates, Mrs. M. H. Lynch, Mrs. Joseph Edwards, Mrs. A. A. Stolly, Mrs. E. W. McElvain and Miss Margaret McConnor.

Thursday evening, Mrs. J. C. Light, S. Baxter-st, was hostess to a party of old friends and neighbors from Ottawa who came to enjoy the day with her and partake of a covered dish dinner.

To You-

Go back many years, dream days, your "play" —your doll days. Do house with the broken down furniture and And you were happy then weren't you? And dearest to your heart was the doll with the faded cheeks and the mis-fit dress; but it was not out of disloyalty to her that you dreamed of the new doll. SHE was wholly a creature of your own imagination. She had beautiful hair, beautiful eyes, and beautiful dresses, Lacy ones, cunning ones, O! you dreamed of a whole wardrobe for her!

Now as you read this perhaps you look up to see if that little one is in danger of mischief. And as it looks up to meet your eyes does it not look very much as that dream doll of yester-years?

On the fourth floor of our building is a fairy land for your baby, and you. The garments are not expensive but reasonable. They are patterned and fashioned for little folks and for busy loving mothers.

Go back to your dream days mother, and dream over that vision of the wonderful things you are going to have for your baby. You can have them, every one, for that priceless living doll, and you will find them in Babyland at Bluem's.

Your Baby

The love every baby inspires is reflected in a mother's care of it. That care is shown in its clothing, whether or not it is as dainty or as well chosen as it should be. We are confident that we can show you the extreme in daintiness as well as practicability. We have every thing for baby.

Your Girl

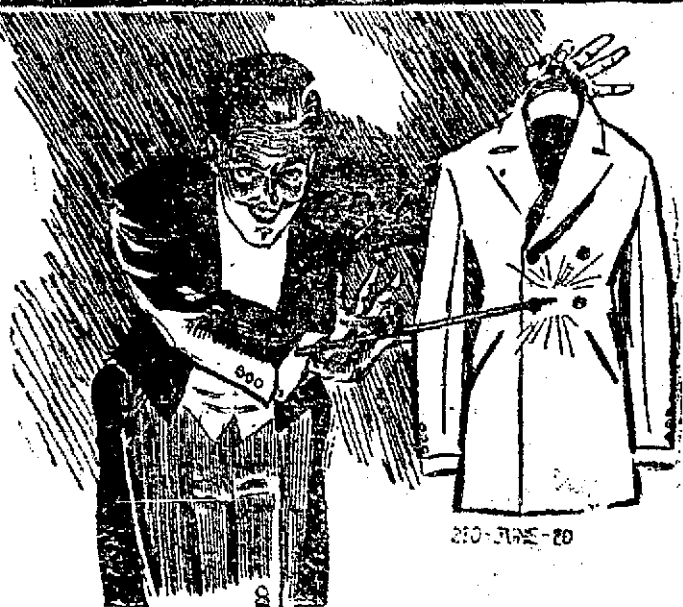

For the littlest miss we have the daintiest dresses she could wish for—lace, organdy, voile, etc. For daytime play we have gingham bloomer dresses, trimmed with piping, plain colors, embroidery or frills. We have socks, bonnets, wraps and every other garment imaginable for her too. They are all tasteful, well made and reasonably priced.

Your Boy

For that sturdy little lad we have a wash suit for his dress-up hours and for his roughest play time—white sailors, down to coveralls. Underwear whose quality and durability is a strong feature. Socks, hats, etc. The Men's Shop is on the lower floor, but mother can shop with just as much satisfaction for her little man on the 4th floor.

All sorts of baby furniture including nursery chairs, cribs, Kiddie Koops, baby nests, and books for the instruction of new mothers.

Now you see them and now you don't. That's the transformation that will take place with the spots, the grime, the shiny wear on your last season's clothes if you let us exercise our magic cleaning powers on them.

We'll surprise you with the amount of extended wear you can get out of those clothes. You'll be surprised at the fresh, crisp, bright, clean and dressy appearance that we'll bring to life in them. Buy new clothes if you like, but for economy's sake wear out the old ones especially when we can make them look like new at a trifling cost.

HE RESENTS CORRECTION

Young Man Admits His English is "Bad"

Is Advised to Read and Study and Improve Himself

"Just a Girl" Exhibits Pronounced Attack of Egotism

Dear Miss Smart: I like her very much, but she is always correcting me. Don't you think that if she truly liked me she would be satisfied with me as I am? JOE

I dear young man, you should not be satisfied to remain always as you are now. You say you are aware of the fact that your English is not the best. Don't you know that you are making a grave mistake in not trying to improve it at every opportunity and to better your education in every way possible? It is only a careless, unambitious and indifferent person who will be negligent in his or her English these days. To make anything of yourself you must know how to express yourself properly and to be thoroughly acquainted with the simple and the difficult rudiments of the English language. Read and observe and strive to improve yourself. No one admires a person who is thoroughly satisfied with him or herself.

The fact that your girl friend corrects you and tries to help you is not an indication that she does not care for you. On the contrary, it is an evidence of her deep regard for you and her willingness to make a splendid and polished man of you, whom she may admire and respect. Be grateful to her for her corrections and try to profit by them. Do not misjudge her friendly and helpful attitude.

Remember that you are a young girl just once. Forget self and clothes and thoroughly enjoy pleasures and diversions which are adapted to girls of your age.

Dear Miss Smart: I have been going with a young man occasionally for about a month and a half. I have grown to think very much of him. He took me out about two weeks ago and promised to call me within several days. I have not heard from him yet and it makes me feel very badly. Shall I speak to him when I meet him?

DISAPPOINTED

Speak to the young man just as usual and do not refer to his failure to call you. Do not permit him to know that you care so much for him and are hurt at his failure to keep his promise. Promises of this kind are very often made very lightly and you should not take them too seriously. Probably he meant to call you, but has been occupied with his work or numerous other things and has not had any time to spare. There is also a possibility that he is no longer interested in you. It may be painful to you, but you must be a woman and make the best of it. If that is the case, occupy your time with other friendships and do not brood over the loss of one.

In the future concern yourself with your studies and the outdoor sports you should be sharing with your girl friends. You will have plenty of time in the future to think about young men if you avoid the man who tries to flirt with you and ignore him if you chance to meet him. It is not likely that he will persist in annoying you. If this plan fails, you should ask your parents to handle the situation for you.

FRINGED FROCK IS SEASON'S CHOICE

By ELOISE

The popularity of the fringed frock cannot be denied. Fringe is appearing in long and short strands. It is used on sleeves, on skirts and tunics and is used in straight rows, curved lines, horizontally and perpendicularly, in fact, in every way one can imagine. Navy, black and gray are the most wanted colors in these fringed frocks and the material is usually georgette or crepe de chine. The fringe is invariably self color.

Here is an attractive straight-line model made of navy georgette. It is made on the chemise style and slips over the head, fastening on the shoulder. Three rows of heavy twisted fringe on the skirt forms the only trimming. This fringe is caught up higher on the sides than in the front and back, giving an unusually graceful line. The frock fastens on the shoulder, leaving a slash which piquantly shows milady's shoulder.

The following was taken from The Athens Messenger "Members of the Alouquin sorority were delightfully surprised Thursday at the regular meeting when the president, Miss Naomi Shreves, Lima, announced her engagement to Odie E. Long, Akron.

"Miss Helen Hockenberry, faculty adviser of Alouquin assisted the hostess in serving dainty refreshments. Between the layers of individual layer cakes the happy secret was concealed in the form of tiny pink hearts bearing the initials O. E. L. and M. L. S. in gold.

"Mr. Long is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at Ohio University, Delaware and is at present a student at the University of Ohio.

"Miss Shreves is a member of the Junior class at Ohio University and is well known on the campus, having recently been elected to membership in Cresset, Ohio's honorary organization for girls."

Thirty members of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Baptist church were in attendance at the final meeting of the year in the church parlors Friday afternoon. Miss W. F. Fields and Mrs. B. K. Clark were hostesses.

At the conclusion of the business session a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. C. E. Lynch favored with two solos, "Oh Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and "The Prayer Perfection." Mrs. Abbie Crippen accompanied at the piano. Mrs. Harry Chapman read while Mrs. John Morgan gave a whistling solo. Mrs. John Keith gave an interesting account of an extended eastern trip which she recently enjoyed and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses in charge.

Miss Lenore Hyman, who has been at Columbia University during the past year, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Hyman, State-st.

Honoring three brides-elect of June, Miss Ruthella Preble, bride-elect of Clarence Hutter, Miss Maude Parker, bride-elect of Homer Theising and Miss Mildred Parker, bride-elect of Maynard Jones, the Misses Geraldine Sites, Marcine Prosser, Mildred Patton and Alice Rossfeld entertained with a delightful dinner party at the Sites home on W. Spring-st. Friday.

The table was attractively decorated in pink and white, peonies of those colors, being used as a centerpiece. Pink cathedral candelabra with bows of tulle furnished a soft, mellow light throughout the dinner hour. Place cards were dainty affairs and nut baskets were presented as favors.

Following dinner the evening was enjoyed socially and the honor guests were presented a number of lovely gifts.

Members of the class present included Misses Ruthella Preble, Maude Parker, Mildred Parker, Juanita Anspach, Pauline Canby, Mary Baxter, Helen Hamilton, Helen Hanna, Violet Crider, Eleanor Sullivan, Grace Russell, Bernetta Stager, Mabel Tucker, Lybie Berndt, Mrs. Zay, Mrs. Sites, Mrs. Claude Preble and the hostesses. Guests other than members were Misses Mary Weak, Katharine Baxter and Marie Weller.

Members of the V. to L. club were entertained Friday evening at the home of Miss Hazel Moyer, 707 E. High-st. in honor of Miss Helen Newman, bride-elect of Clyde Shiek.

Decorations of blue and gold, the club's colors, were tastefully arranged throughout the house and the same colors were used in the various appointments. A delicious two-course luncheon was served.

Guests of the club were the Misses Gail Drennon, Marie Hildebrand, La Von Driver, Lula Sconer, Ruth Hardesty, Hazel Dolson, Treva Frankefelter, Louella Samone, Lucille Meyer, Vera North, Jessie Miller, Alberta Divere, Berdine Cramer, Louise Baty, Helen Moyer, Lourdetta Daugherty, Messrs. Summer Entertainment of a High

Theatre Patrons

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)

PROMINENT stars and eminent authors are well represented in the week's roster of film attractions. They are May Allison, Pearl White, Claire Windsor, Matt Moore, Ruby de Remer, Max Linder, Mabel Ballin, Madge Kennedy and others, all scheduled to appear in noteworthy silversheet attractions.

"East Lynne" for generations the American stage classic, opens a four day engagement today at the Lyric theatre. Hugo Ballin, the producer, has modernized the tale Mabel Ballin, his wife, has the leading characterization.

Max Linder, famous comedian comes to the Lyric the last three days of this week. In his five reel comedy, "Seven Years Bad Luck," Mr. Linder's photoplay has attracted wide comment wherever it has shown.

Another Lois Weber production "What's Worth While" is the feature attraction today at the Faurot. Mrs. Weber assuredly knows pictures, as those who saw her former release, "To Please One Woman," will testify.

"The Passionate Pilgrim" with Matt Moore and Ruby de Remer, is the second attraction at the Faurot this week. Samuel Merwin wrote the story which appeared in a popular monthly. Miss de Remer has been claimed by artists as the most beautiful woman on the stage today.

May Allison comes to the Sigma today in "Extravagance," an adaptation of a Ben Ames Williams story. Miss Allison ably portrays the extravagant wife role and is surrounded by a competent cast.

The Majestic's program opens today with Taylor Holmes in "The very idea, a comedy-drama, with plenty of laughs and a delightful romance.

The Lyric's Pictures

PROBABLY no other American stage product has enjoyed such a wide appeal and unlimited popularity as Mrs. Henry Ward's novel, "East Lynne." For generations it has thrilled and moved millions and now in its picture form, it will do more.

It is brought to us now clothed in the manner of the present day, so that none of the distractions of antiquated customs or clothing even mar its telling. The greatness of "East Lynne" lies in its humaneness, its sympathy, its sweetness and its moral lesson and Hugo Ballin, the producer, has lost none of its charm in its screen presentation. Mabel Ballin and Edward Earle head the cast, and two better artists could not be imagined.

The story is so well known that it hardly needs repetition. Isabel Vane and her husband, Archibald Carlyle loved each other devotedly until distrust crept into the heart of Isabel, because another woman came regularly to her home to see Archibald. He, sworn to secrecy regarding his client's visits, could not explain matters to Isabel, who finally left her small son and her husband, going away with Francis Lovison, who had told her that Barbara, the client, was the woman her husband really loved.

Disillusionment followed and learning the true state of affairs, Isabel plans to return to her husband and child. On the way, however, a terrific wreck occurs, and she is badly injured. Archibald, in the meantime, more to obtain solace and sympathy, had married Barbara. The final chapter is beautifully told.

The success of "Way Down East" is ample proof that the American wants and appreciates pictureizations of genuine stage classics. The fact that "East Lynne" is presented as a modern drama, however retaining the original theme and moral, should prove of great interest to the theatre-going public.

The Faurot's Pictures

TWO Paramount pictures are scheduled at the Faurot this week. Lois Weber's production, "What's Worth While" heads the bill for today, Monday and Tuesday and on Wednesday the Cosmopolitan production, "The Passionate Pilgrim," opens a four-day engagement.

According to expert reviewers of the films, "What's Worth While" will be well worth seeing. The story was written and the picture directed and produced by Lois Weber, the distinguished woman producer whose recent picture, "To Please One Woman," was so thoroughly enjoyed by the patrons of the Faurot. It is not only a picture of the highest grade from a technical standpoint, but the story is one that will impress and entertain. The principal scenes are laid in the oil fields of the west, with a blue-blooded aristocratic southern girl and a practical man's man as the central figures. The cast is headed by Claire Windsor, Mona Lisa, Louis Calhern, Edwin Stevens and Arthur Stuart Hull. As in all Miss Weber's productions, you may look for real artistry in the matter of settings, groupings and photography.

"The Passionate Pilgrim" is a pictureization of one of the most popular of contemporary novels. It was written by Samuel Merwin, an author of eminence, and the direction was in the capable hands of Robert G. Vignola. It is a romance of typical American life, with a novel plot and much native humor. The cast is one of distinction and magnitude and includes Matt Moore, Ruby de Remer, Julia Swayne Gordon, Mary Newcomb, Thomas Guise, Claire Whitney, Charles Gerard, Frankie Mann and many others of repute. Miss de Remer has not only played many important screen roles, but, according to Paul Hellen, the famous French artist, is the queen of American beauties. Matt Moore you know and like very well and Julia Swayne Gordon's acting in "Heliogabrus" certainly impressed her upon your memory.

More wedding bells! June first, Ned Norworth, vaudeville player, was married to Hazel Howell, film player. Blossom Seeley and her husband Bessie Fields stood up with the pair. AND Betty Ross Clarke, pretty well known to picture fans, was married last Saturday to Lieut. Arthur Collins. Mrs. Collins declares that marriage shall not sever her relations with the screen.

Allen Holubar announces that next fall he will go to Italy to make a picture in which his wife, Dorothy Phillips, will play the lead.

REGENT CLOSING FOR SUMMER

In announcing the closing for the summer of the Regent theatre, Manager F. Zartman states there is a possibility that, when the house is reopened September 4, it will be with the best in pictures and the best in vaudeville acts, a combination which has been proving immensely successful in many cities. During the summer the Regent will be given an overhauling and it has been known for some time that plans for alterations have been under consideration. Plans which have been prepared indicate not a great expenditure will be necessary for the changes, which would also bring about added seating capacity. Even if vaudeville is not added the usual high grade pictures for which the Regent is noted, will be shown at very popular prices. Mr. Zartman will leave this week for his home at Dayton, and following a short rest, it is understood he will take charge of a theatre which is operated by the company which operates the Regent. He will quite likely return to Lima to manage the Regent when it is opened in the fall.

Larry Semon, confined to the hospital for a brief time, spends his odd moments drawing cartoons. It seems he cartooned before he clowned.

Pola Negri, it is announced, is a Jewess, born in Vienna. Says Variety: "Her name was Paulette Schwartz. Schwartz means black, which accounts for her name."

MOVIES OF LIONS' DAYTON PARADE

These pictures, which were taken by the camera-man of the National Cash Register, give considerable prominence to the Lima delegation numbering about fifty. The large Lima banner which played an important part in securing the 1922 convention for this city came in for quite a bit of film footage.

So many requests have been made by local Lions and their friends for a showing of this parade that Manager Deardourf of the Sigma secured the film thru the courtesy of the N. C. R. It will be shown for one day only.

Charles Meredith will play opposite the beautiful Miss Katherine MacDonald in her coming picture "Peachie." (Some title NOT!)

New Titular Designation Has Been Found For At Least One Summer Show

"Snapshots of 1921" Is Revue as a Summer Show
In Gotham

No Longer Fashionable for Actors to Loaf About Rialto

(By FREDERICK F. SCHROEDER)

NEW YORK — (Special) — The changes have so often been rung on the titles for the usual summer shows that it is worthy of note to mention the fact that at least a new titular designation has been devised, discovered or unearthed. One of the theaters this week launched a revue as a summer show under the name of "Snapshots of 1921." We have had "Snapshots of Shows," "Reveues," "Follies," "Whirls" and the like that "Snapshots" is greeted as a happy variation from an order that began to be a little shopworn. In the cast are Lew Fields, Nora Bayes and De Wolf Hopper. A group of authors is mentioned as individual contributors to the satires, musical episodes and specialties that enter into the composite of fourteen scenes. They include Marie Nordstrom, James Montgomery Flagg, the artist, and Glen McDougough, certainly a formidable array of literary big bugs. Speaking of "Follies" suggests a theme which has to do with prohibition. Ziegfeld's famous "Midnight Follies" has been permanently abandoned and will probably be transferred to London. It has been demonstrated that "Midnight Follies" do not thrive in a dry atmosphere. As a proof show it was a great success as long as the boundaries were able to give their art mixed with refreshing high balls and champagne; but when the dry laws began to draw their circles closer and closer it became folly to laugh a drouth out of existence. The stage lost its charm and the roof its patrons.

Late in the week Eugene O'Neill's second long play, "Gold," started a run at the Frazee Theater, with William Black in the principal part. Other well-known players are George Marion, Katherine Grey and E. J. Ballantine. The story deals with the sea and the play is called a study in conscience.

Zona Gale's comedy, "Miss Lulu Bett," has had a successful run and closes on Saturday night. "Irene" has completed its eighty-second successive week. Belasco's production of "Deburau" comes to a close and will not be sent on tour. The reason for this is difficulties with labor. Belasco declares the cost of the production has been too great to send it out with the high cost of labor starting him in the face. It is an extremely artistic performance, but to make any extraordinary claims on the intellect and has a succession of beautiful settings. The theme is predominantly psychic. Everybody doesn't comprehend the French psychology of Deburau, the pantomimist, which governs his actions and Belasco has had too much experience in trying to give the public something to make it think. Whether later on, perhaps next year, he may send it out to make the circuit of the larger cities, or whether the production will be simply abandoned, is not stated. Perhaps it will end its career here.

"It is an inspiring work," said Belasco. "I produced it as I produce every season some unusual play as a duty to the public, to the critics and to my friends. 'Deburau' is as near perfect as I can make it. Such a play must be a thing of charm with its crowds, its men and beautiful women of French society and literature. Its powdery beauty would be dashed from its petals if I attempted to change it and many changes would have to be made if it were to be produced on tour."

"The Three Musketeers," which has been produced in a musical form, has some of the charms of the famous Dumas story, but its intricate nature and great diversity of characters renders it exotic as an operetta and while it has some musical moments and is pretty well sung, it suffers materially in an acting sense. The performances at the Manhattan Opera House hardly warrant more than a commendation of the artistic object which the producer had in view and which he partly achieves, but only in part. The lyrics are in the main excellent, but the acting marred the production and only Charles Angelo gave a performance of Louis XIII that gave satisfaction.

George M. Cohan has discovered a boy author with a three-act play or rather farce, which he considers good enough to present to a metropolitan audience. Harold Stetson is the boy-writer. He is not yet eighteen years of age, which has not deterred him from writing three three-act plays and a howling farce, "Husbands and Wives," in which he looks with the supreme cynicism of an observer upon the follies of matrimony and, safely entrenched in celibacy himself, agrees with Shakespeare, "What fools these mortals be!"

The Actors' Equity association is raising a fund to provide a decent headstone over the grave of Elizabeth Arnold Poe at Richmond, Va. She was an actress—and reputedly a good actress—but what entitled her to far greater consideration is the fact that she was the mother of Edgar Allan Poe, the most widely-read of American poets and writers. The mother died in 1811 when the future great author was little more than three years old and one of three children left orphans by the mother's death, the father having died a year before of tuberculosis. One of the Richmond papers not long ago printed a story of Elizabeth Arnold Poe's career in Richmond and her popularity as an actress and a singer and dancer. It attracted the attention of some actors and led to the present movement to collect a fund to repair the grave and provide a suitable headstone. About $85 has been sent in to headquarters of the A. E. A. in amounts of $1. Fisk O'Hara sent $20 and William Trevor $10.

It is no longer fashionable for actors to be seen lounging on the sidewalk around Times Square, the Rialto of the metropolis. This statement is an indication that the ethics of the drama as denoted by its professors have taken a decided upward turn. A few years ago actors out of an engagement largely monopolized the section referred to. The Rialto was an open-air theatrical exchange where kindred spirits greeted one another after a season's absence "on the road" and by their presence afforded intimations to the secluded theatrical offices that so-and-so had been seen and was open for an engagement.

"They used to be thick in the vicinity of the Knickerbocker hotel, which is a hotel no longer, probably for the same reason that actors are no longer seen clustered near its hospitable doors. There was a good-natured policeman on that particular beat whose business it was to keep the crowd moving along. "Up stage, gentlemen; up stage!" he used to say with an imperturbable gravity as he moved among the tangle of people congesting the sidewalk at Forty-second and Broadway. For one thing, there were a number of high-class bars in that immediate environment and one of the most popular was at the Knickerbocker. And almost every manager in town had to pass that corner some time during the day and was thus afforded a fine opportunity to inspect the available talent.

Prohibition closed the bars and removed one incentive for the congestion of theatrical people of the male persuasion. But it was not the main reason. Just a few blocks above is the headquarters of the A. E. A. It has a large assembly room and an information bureau with a staff of employees and instead of loafing about the street, actors now transact a large part of their business there.

Another cause accounts for the change. There is apparently more summer employment for actors than there used to be. Tent shows and boat shows have increased in popularity. Just as at one time no self-respecting actor or actress wanted to be known as playing in the motion pictures, it took a long time to overcome their prejudice against playing "under canvas" and engaging themselves to managers who travel from town to town by river boat.

That prejudice is rapidly wearing away and reports from members at A. E. A. headquarters indicate that they rather enjoy their experiences and are glad to put in the summer months playing with tent and boat shows.

Here's the way one man writes about theatrical life on the river: "I wonder if you are personally acquainted with this little-known branch. If you are not, then there is something coming to you and it will be pleasurable. Have you ever considered what an engagement of this kind means to the road-weary troupers? No tiresome trains, lugging of grips, skirmishing for hotels, crowding into taxis, waiting for late trains, loafing at country junctions, rising at unseemingly hours, battling with rain and mud, long drills in the theater, worming thru alleys to stage doors, dragging back to the hotel after the show—and all the other drawbacks that take much of the pleasure out of life.

"I am at this minute sitting in my own comfortable state room, writing to you as we journey from place to place. I have headed this letter Marietta, Ohio, that being our next stand. Just where we are at the moment I couldn't possibly say—on the Ohio river somewhere—maybe miles from Marietta, I don't know. And why should we care? Marietta doesn't mean any more to us than Podunk. We have our meals at the usual hours, regardless of anything else—and just let me remark to the credit of this management—these same meals average very much better than the best hotels in which we have been paying three and four dol-

Brought to Lima under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., Hortense Nielsen, reader, will portray the characters of John Drinkwater's great play, "Abraham Lincoln," at the First Congregational church, the evening of June 8th. Miss Nielsen has been given permission to portray in her future contrants Drinkwater's "Mary Stuart." A demonstration of Miss Nielsen's artistic ability to present the arts of the drama is given in the fact that William Harris, Jr., producer of the Drinkwater plays in America, has granted her alone, among the numerous category of readers and others of like class, authorization to read and interpret the characters of a Drinkwater play.

lars a day on the road. Our state one-night stands, but there is nothing in our home—my wife's and mine. It is all arranged for our small possibility of changing our comfort and convenience. We play minds and seeking another engagement. Yesterday I turned down a very nice stock offer. We took this in preference to a number of others," etc.

To the New York Thespian it may seem that floating theaters are a novelty, but a little investigation will show that they were in vogue before the Civil War and only declined in popularity with the advent of the railroads and their extensions into every corner of the country. The river show is at last coming again in to its own.

The Sigma's Pictures

BEN AMES WILLIAMS story forms the basis of May Allison's new stunning vehicle "Extravagance" which opens a four-day engagement today at the Sigma theatre.

"Extravagance" is presented with all the lavishness and wealth of detail that the title and the prominent of the author justifies. Nothing has been slighted in presenting this feature and beautiful blonde Miss Allison has about the best role of her career as the beauty-loving, extravagant life, who gets her husband into all sorts of trouble because of her inane love of luxury and finery.

Dick Vane, a young lawyer with lots of hopes but not much cash, marries Nancy Brown, daughter of his father's lifelong chum. They have an elaborate church wedding and soon after the event, Nancy is delighted at the receipt of an invitation to Mrs. Van Ruyper's dinner. This is a virtual open sesame to social aspirations. After much wheedling, Nancy is allowed to buy a special gown, not to exceed $30. She goes shopping with Mrs. Van Ruyper, al-who picks out a gown that takes three times Nancy's allowance.

During the dinner someone proposes a dip in the ocean. All hilariously agreed and Dick's heart sinks as he sees Nancy come dripping wet from the waves, her new evening gown utterly ruined. The above just gives you an idea of Nancy's foolishness and extravagance. The final chapter, however, shows the wife in the role of a saving angel, when she comes down to earth and starts to undo the mischief which her thoughtless love of luxury has caused. The supporting cast includes Robert Edeson and Theodor von Eltz, besides others of merit. Scenery and photography are up to the usual Metro standard.

"Extravagance" opens a four-day run today at the Sigma theatre.

NEW PASTOR OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH HERE

The Rev. Warren L. Steeves, new pastor of the First Baptist church, has arrived in Lima from Carbon-dale, Pa. He takes the place of the Rev. Franklin A. Stiles, who resigned to accept a pastorate at Middletown, Ohio.

The Rev. Mr. Steeves will deliver both the morning and evening address Sunday at the First Baptist church.

SALOON HELD UP

CINCINNATI — Four bandits held up a saloon of John Murray in the east end Saturday, robbed Murray of a little more than $2,000 and several other men in the place of about $100. One of the quartette of robbers who drove up to the saloon in an automobile bearing a Kentucky license, beat Murray with a revolver so severely that it was necessary to take him to a hospital.

THE POLICE SITUATION

ANOTHER grand jury, after an exhaustive investigation, has failed to start action against the Lima police department. Prosecutor Lippincott's probers did not return indictments Friday evening after they had heard a large number of witnesses. Neither did they make recommendations as did a former grand jury under the direction of Lippincott's predecessor.

The grand jury had authority to go into every phase of the police situation. The prosecutor could have had any angle brought out. It is not known what specific information was submitted to the probers, but it is probable that an effort was made to throw light on all accusations made recently.

The mayor of the city, who has made more or less serious charges against the department during the last several weeks, has not submitted any concrete evidence. He still has a case pending in the common pleas court, taken there on appeal from the civil service commission of the city. This suit resulted from the mayor's attempt to oust the chief of police, which was overruled by the commission.

Public sentiment is with the department. It was strengthened a few weeks ago when the chief led a detail of men into a battle with desperadoes. Very few are to be found in sympathy with the mayor's puerile charges against the chief.

A cloud has been cast over the department thru insinuation and open charges. This is not conducive to good work. The public is paying a big sum annually for police protection and wants the protection for which it pays. If the department is not up to the standard, the public has a right to know the facts, but sufficient time has been spent and enough money has been wasted in investigations without results. If the city officials have undisputable proof that there is laxity they should come forth with it. They have had time to prepare their case. If they have not, the department should be exonerated completely and given a chance to function.

IN WASHINGTON

ECHOES of condemnation of Ambassador Harvey's London address are still heard, as protests are received at the White House. Some of the criticism is of the most virulent nature, demands being made that Harvey be immediately recalled.

The Senate appropriations committee, in reporting the deficiency appropriation bill, recommended increases aggregating $53,850,000 over the $100,000,000 total carried in the measure as passed by the House. The principal increase was one of $50,000,000 for the shipping board. Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, Republican, opposed the deficiency appropriation, charging that the operation of the government merchant fleet by the shipping board is "reckless with graft," and urged an investigation. The Senate, in the face of the attack, increased the appropriation to $75,000,000.

Hearing on the Ford-Newberry election contest will begin June 8. Demand has been made for the elimination of "hear-say" evidence.

Chairman Boies Penrose of the Senate finance committee announced the appointment of a subcommittee to investigate affairs of the public health service. The committee consists of Senators Reed Smoot, James E. Watson and James A. Reed.

Formation of a $100,000,000 Federal Farmers' Export Financing corporation, to buy farm products in the United States and sell them abroad is proposed in a bill introduced by Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska.

Efforts made to bring about the destruction of the provisions of the Federal Reserve law have thus far met with no success and very little encouragement. Senator Porter J. McCumber, North Dakota, Howard Sutherland, of West Virginia, and Joseph Walsh, of Massachusetts, were named as a committee to investigate problems in connection with soldiers' bonus legislation. The commission will go into the question of costs to the government, plans of administration and various other problems that the government would face under legislation of this character.

The Senate adopted Senator Lenroot's bill authorizing a general agricultural survey by a joint Congressional committee.

There is a serious G. O. P. party split over the size of the naval appropriation bill. House leaders threaten to knife the bill unless the Senate agrees to an appropriation of about $400,000,000 instead of $494,000,000. The House also insists that the Borah disarmament amendment be broadened so as to include other nations than Great Britain and Japan and to give the President an opportunity to call a conference on reduction of land and sea forces. House leaders are wroth over the Senate increases in the bill and declare they will never yield.

On Friday the House foreign affairs committee voted to report the Porter resolution for the termination of a state of war with Germany and Austria-Hungary. Republican members voted solidly to adopt the Porter measure as a substitute for the Knox resolution passed by the Senate repealing the declaration of war.

The House passed and sent to the Senate the packer control bill. Regulation of the packing industry under the measure is vested in the Department of Agriculture.

To meet conditions in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, the Senate passed the House bill authorizing the consolidation of telephone companies wherein the interests of better and cheaper service by such consolidation is shown.

POOR RICH OLD LIMA

WITH more than a half million dollars in her coffers, according to figures compiled in the office of the city auditor, yet this city is poor. This statement is one that requires explanation. It's a case similar to the man who is termed "land poor."

He owns vast acres, representing many thousands of dollars, yet in actual cash he is poor.

This city had on June 1 a balance of $583,543.79. More than 90 per cent of this money on hand is paid in for improvements, by property owners, for sewers, pavements and bridges. The total is $569,064.93 in special funds, the statement discloses. This leaves only $24,478.76. There is little or no money for operating expenses.

It is a task of no small dimensions for the city auditor's office to "keep the city's head above water." It is going to require some fine scheming and manipulation to keep current expenses paid until the next tax settlement.

IN COLUMBUS

ALTERNATE hope and fear surged thru the hearts of friend and foe of the state reorganization measure alike here during the past week, as the merits—and demerits—of the bill enacted by the Legislature were laid before the Supreme court of the state. The question of whether it could by rights be determined an emergency and whether the "immediate peace, health and safety" of the people is threatened if this act does not go into effect on July 1 were debated. This will be the case if the high court holds that the emergency clause is constitutional and those opposed to it do not succeed in bringing about a referendum.

The general interest that attaches to the court's decision on the measure was attested by the large number of people attending the sessions. There appears to be little question remaining but that a great majority of the people of Ohio are opposed to summary legislation such as the Governor Davis "ripper" bill appears to be. Its enemies charge that the bill was hastily planned for political benefits and not for the good of the people and the government, lacking in the safeguards that should surround the expenditure of taxpayers' money.

The appointment by Governor Davis of Miss Rose Moriarity of Cleveland to be a member of the State Industrial Commission has caused the launching of a legal inquiry into the status of that body under the changed condition brought about by this action. In view of the fact that Miss Moriarity succeeds H. L. Elliott of Delaware, Republican, who was appointed by former Governor Francis B. Willis in 1916 and who relinquished his post June 1, the political complexion of the commission is not changed.

The pardon, by the Governor, of a Cincinnati man sent up for wronging a young girl in his employ is still causing a storm of resentment the length and breadth of the state, despite the elaborate explanations the Governor has given.

Representatives of the majority party in Ohio, now in complete control of all branches of the state government and all activities of Ohio governmentally, no longer endeavor to hide the fact that there is serious disaffection in the party ranks and that factions have developed to the extent that the usefulness of the party is well nigh destroyed. The war has been carried into the open and there is scant opportunity for anything of a constructive nature. The fight for and against classification has become bitter, taxation legislation has been lost in the shuffle and even Simon D. Fess recognizes the fact that the leaders are piloting the party onto the rocks. Efforts made to bring order out of chaos has thus far only resulted in making the factional feeling more bitter.

Certain elements of the party would gladly have the Legislature rescind its action on the reorganization measure, if an opportunity was afforded. The action by the Governor in adjourning the Legislature against the wishes of the members of the Senate is resented by that body to the extent that it is seeking a way to override the order of the Chief Executive.

As the facts come to the surface concerning the carefully laid plans to smother the workmen's compensation law, but which failed, the two principal factions of the state G. O. P. are endeavoring to fasten responsibility, each on the other.

President Harding is greatly alarmed over the Ohio situation, fearing its effect on the party in the future, but he is still being importuned to keep hands off.

HEALTH HINTS

AMBULATING AROUND.

What do you think about what you are taking your two miles of oxygen three times a day or you six miles once a day on the hoof? One of the things I think about is how hard it is to find such an object as a pedometer. If you must, ask for a pedometer, the clerk tell you to "come again," and when you repeat your remarkable inquiry he shakes his head sadly and calls the manager or the owner, who bids you repeat it for his benefit. Finally he spell it out and maybe give a brief cinematogram to help the man understand. But no use. You are allowed to go, but with a feeling that it is only a special favor that the proprietor has not summoned the police. Maybe you smother your man's sad experiences and take a chance on a so-called sporting goods store. "Have you any pedometers?" you ask the aristocrat who accidentally discovers you in good time. He smiles sympathetically and tells you you are interested in speedometers. Pedometers — PEDOMETERS, you pronounce with some vehemence. "Pedometers?"—the clerk brightens up—"sorry, but we're all out, except some shortly, within three weeks. Pretty heavy demand lately, and the cleaned us out."

The course I use for my oxygen treatment is just exactly a mile straightaway, from one circle to another. I cover this mile in an average of 2,300 steps, which is a lot more steps than I imagined a regular steeple adult would take to cover a mile. I find that sailing along at what I consider fair speed it takes me around sixteen or seventeen minutes to walk a mile. That is a lot longer than I imagined it should take to walk a mile. I used to think that a mile in fifteen minutes or four miles an hour was only fair time, but I find I was guessing wrong—a habit with doctors which is hard to break. I fear I have given some far-fetched assurances to readers about the time necessary to get in six miles of oxygen on the hoof every day. It takes nearly two hours—but even at that, believe me, fellows and ladies too, it is worth the price.

Another mistake I wish to correct insofar as possible was a hint I gave in one talk here that a man might drag along his plucky stride for companionship while taking his oxygen. I withdrew that now, for find that while smoking a man can take in oxygen—part of the pleasure a man feels from smoking is the intoxication he gets from diminished breathing, more shallow breathing which means less oxygen absorbed and more carbon dioxide retained, increased acidity, and all that. I now prescribe a wife or a prospective wife, or some other fellow, or a stick or a dog for companion on the daily cruise. One might take along even a son or daughter, especially if the young one occupies a perambulator.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This is not a lucky day. The death of a famous scientist is predicted. Romance will be prevalent at this time, but both men and women are warned against deception. Letters, especially those addressed to women, will have a good augury today. It is best to follow routine matters while the stars are thus posited. Persons whose birthday this is, should avoid speculation. Children born today will be restless and extravagant. (Copyright, 1921.)

PRESENTING MISS CECIL LEITCH--GOLF MARVEL

Hard Work and Brilliancy Mark Record of British Champion, and Close Students of Game Greatly Admire Her Iron Play Despite Odd Swing She Uses in Her Mashie Shots---Experts Criticise Peculiarities of Her Style but Results Speak---Story of Her Career Much Like That of the American Title Holder

TOP OF SWING, FULL IRON SHOT.

TOP OF SWING, FULL CLUB DRIVE.

MISS CECIL LEITCH.

STANCE ADDRESSING BALL FOR DRIVE.

FINISH OF FULL IRON SHOT.

KERR N. PETRIE.

THE consistency with which Miss Cecil Leitch, the British champion, led Miss Alexia Stirling, the American champion, in the first three tournaments in which the latter has competed abroad has gone far toward convincing golfers in the United States that there is something in the claim that the English girl is indeed queen of most that she surveys in the realm of the tee, the putting green and the bunker.

Miss Stirling had not lost a match in five years in her own country, but the moment she started out to cavort across the green toward her golfing British cousins at Ranelagh, at Burhill and at Brookwood she found that there were several others who could accomplish from tee to pin as much as she could do herself and that these others, moreover, were always intent upon one question, namely, whether these best efforts of theirs would be good enough to forestall Miss Leitch in her quest of the honors.

In a game in which a pit out purposely in the ground may change the complexion of a match and where the missing of a short putt or two may discount superexcellence in other respects it would be unwise for any one to count another championship already won for Miss Leitch or to fall into the mistake of saying that Miss Stirling's title quest abroad came to an end with her medal play defeats on the three courses named. As a matter of fact Miss Leitch won in only one of these events, at Ranelagh, while she was second and only a stroke in front of Miss Stirling at Burhill and only three strokes better placed in the third competition, where she took no better than sixth place against the American champion's sixth.

Miss Leitch's Present Position

Much Like Vardon's a Decade Ago

However, there are certain other facts to be considered in connection with such an argument. When Harry Vardon was at his best he had such other stars to contend against as James Braid and J. H. Taylor, both of them five times winners of the British open championship. Vardon did not always win in tournament play, but he defeated the others more often than they defeated him, and it was this edge which he had on his opponents individually that won him the name of being the greatest golfer of all times.

Miss Leitch is pretty much in the same position to-day as Vardon occupied some ten or fifteen years ago. From a group of high class performers she stands forth just as much as Vardon did, and she is being noticed, being here and there as this one and the other flashes a superlative game occasionally, but showing a maximum of that superlative brilliance herself, more than taking the measure of each one individually and in open competition reaping so decidedly the lion's share of the honors that all dispute as to her superiority is set at rest.

Granting that as matters now stand women's golf in Britain is on a slightly higher plane than American women's golf, the history of the champions in their respective spheres reads very much alike. Both Miss Stirling and Miss Leitch have both their championships over the period of the war, retaining the titles on the resumption of competitive play and therefore resuming where they left off. During the war Miss Leitch acted as an assistant in the town clerk's office at Carlisle and then, the Miss Stirling, learned to drive a motor truck or something of the kind. And to carry the analogy still further, Miss Leitch, the Miss Stirling, is the daughter of a Scottish father and an English mother, the British champion's father also being a doctor.

What Miss Leitch Owes to

Paternal Guidance on the Links

How much Miss Leitch owes to paternal guidance is a question that is not to be answered by her present exalted position in the realm of the mashie-niblick can only be guessed at. With her sisters she had the doctrine of fresh air preached and the elementary principles of hygienics expounded to her at an early age, with the result that all five of the now celebrated Leitch sisters took to the links with as much zest as ducklings take to water. At least two others of that remarkable family, Edith and May, have gained renown on the golf course, and the only reason that they are not in the front rank of women players is that their sister has seen fit to usurp that privilege for herself.

But while heredity, precept, example and so forth may have had their share in fashioning this wonderful woman of the links, let it not be thought that she has come by her honors lightly. Natural ability there must have been to begin with, of course, but if chess prodigies are born golf is not a gift of the gods. Its innermost secrets and treasures are there for those who would seek them, but to reach the goal one must also travel down the road of hard work.

Miss Leitch undoubtedly has worked over these mashies and brassies and drivers and cleeks harder than most realize. Phenix-like, too, she has built some of her greatness up on the ashes of defeat and disappointment, for while she went as far as the semi-final the first time she entered the British championship, that being at St. Andrews in 1908, when she was no more than seventeen, it was six years later, six years of grim, determined plodding in the face of fate, before she found herself in the final bracket. And then, as if the gods at length had relented, the veil was lifted and forth upon the centre of the stage stood Miss Cecil Leitch, the laurel wreath at last upon her brow.

How often Miss Leitch would have won the championship had that strange perversity of fate which in her early years as a championship aspirant not again interjected itself in the shape of the war is open to conjecture. But for the European strife Miss Leitch by this time probably would have had a record unparalleled. Undoubtedly the war smothered some of her very best championship golf and perhaps kept her name from being emblazoned over the horizon and from going down the ages as the greatest woman golfer of any past, present or yet to come. Nevertheless, it is something to be able to carry over the championship from 1914 to 1920 and to retain it in the latter year evidently with glory, power and skill undiminished.

Her Many Startling Feats

And Few Sensational Defeats

In the last ten years or so Miss Leitch has some startling feats to her credit and very few defeats that smack of the sensational. To consider the latter first as being the more easily disposed of, there is the one astounding example as furnished by the match with Miss Joyce Wethered at Sher-ingham last year. Miss Wethered's margin of victory was only 2 and 1, but the sensational element enters into the case by the disclosure that Miss Leitch was 4 up on the first half of the thirty-six hole contest and still in that position with nine more to play. Of these remaining holes Miss Wethered won five consecutively, a feat worthy of being shouted from the hilltops against a player of the calibre of Miss Leitch.

There is also on record a score of 96 made by Miss Leitch in 1913, the year before she first won the championship. That was made on the occasion of the international matches for prizes valued at $1,000. For that tournament the Silloth girl missed her train, or, at least, arrived very late and, apparently in her agitation of mind and perhaps her eagerness to get in her round before the affair broke up, made so many slips that her total showed 48 for each half.

Such mishaps as these only serve to demonstrate that Miss Cecil Leitch is human. On the other hand, she has some marvellous achievements to her credit, many of her best rounds, games which have set the whole world of golf talking, having been played against men. Miss Leitch it was who was selected to show how the sexes measure up at golf.

In this series of interesting experiments, receiving a "half," or, in other words, nine strokes on eighteen holes, she defeated the renowned Harold H. Hilton at Sunningdale and Walton Heath by 2 and 1. That was in 1911. Two years ago, or, to be exact, in November, 1919, she defeated J. H. Taylor 3 and 2 under the same conditions. She also played Hilton another match at Worpleston and finished all even, the only concession allowed her on this occasion being that calculated to even up the contestants in physical power, Miss Leitch using the

In another handicap match played against Abe Mitchell, December 14, 1919, in which she also received a half, Miss Leitch was scarcely so successful, the professional winning by 9 and 7 over thirty-six holes. Such lapses on the part of this wonder girl of the links are rare, however, for usually she can give the best male players a stern battle, asking no more than the odds that would be necessary to bridge the factor of physical strength of the two sexes. Sometimes she does not even require that. For at Stoke Newington the other day she defeated Cyril Tolley, the British champion, by 6 and 4, and on another course she asked but four strokes from the local professional and beat him 3 and 2.

Among her own sex she frequently is rampant, as note the defeat of 10 up and 8 to play in eliminating Mrs. Temple-Dobell (nee Miss Gladys Ravenscroft) in the English championship of 1919. That tourney was played at St. Ann's-on-Sea, and in addition to winning the championship Miss Leitch also won the medal with a card of 84. In April of the same year she played Walton Heath, James Braid's course, in 80, this being 6 under the women's par.

It is worthy to mention also that Miss Leitch has never lost for England in the international matches. To win her first British championship she defeated Miss Gladys Ravenscroft in the final 2 and 1, and to retain the crown last year at Newcastle, County Down, Ireland, she defeated Miss Mollie Griffiths by 7 and 6, repeating against the same player in the final of the French championship at La Boule by 6 and 5. She won the British, English and French championships in 1914. In April of last year Miss Leitch took the Ranelagh challenge gold medal for the fourth consecutive time.

Americans recently have had their attention directed toward this Ranelagh by the fine play of the women in the tournament held there with Miss Stirling as a competitor. This is where Miss Leitch, after standing tied with the American champion on the first day at 73, forged to the front on the second with a card of 70. A card of 69 was handed in by one contestant, but even this does not constitute a record, seeing that in the international tournament in 1914 Miss Cecil Leitch played the course in 67. She had to do it to be anywhere, as her sister May the first day had handed in a 69. Not only that, but in the long run the thirty-six hole gross prize went to still another of the Leitch sisters, Miss Edith, who played around in 71, 70-141.

An account of that tournament has this to say of Miss Cecil Leitch's 67:

"She started by driving almost on to the first green, which is 228 yards, and both there and at the second she nibbled for three; in fact, when the 67 was handed in it was possible to say with truth and justice that the play, so to speak, was well inside those figures and that a little luck would have made her even less. It is a great deal shorter to enumerate the mistakes than the good shots, so we will only say that at the new fifth her second did not quite find the green; that there were three putts on the seventh, and that at the seventeenth, after driving into a bunker 240 yards from the tee, she took three putts and with them a five. Otherwise it was splendid golf, long, straight, and punctuated by thoroughly reliable putting."

Miss Leitch has her own way of doing things, albeit a very sound way, judging by results. Nevertheless she has some little tricks which the average professional would be very careful to warn his pupils against copying.

To begin with, Miss Cecil Leitch is a palm-griper, or was. Her told by Harry Vardon that she had this defect, if defect one might be allowed to call it in the face of such play, she promised to correct her grip, and thereupon conceived the idea of blending her hold upon the club into something which she termed a modification of the Vardon grip. But if there is anything of the Vardon grip about Miss Cecil Leitch's hold recent photographs of her do not disclose it save on the putting green, when she overlaps the little finger of the right hand over the index finger of the left. For the rest she takes a hold not as if she were waving a fan, but as if she meant to put all her heart and soul into the contact of club and ball, with her right hand well under the shaft of the club and the left hand remarkable for the expanse of knuckles which it exposes to the camera.

In short, as she takes her stand addressing the ball all the knuckles of the left hand can be seen distinctly. Of the right only the knuckle is visible. The club, instead of slipping down to the first and second finger joints, is kept up more toward the palm and the web of the thumb, the fingers doubling back on the top of the shaft. Neither thumb lies along the shaft, but instead both are laid over the outside of the grip.

The stance of Miss Leitch is very appealing, for she drops naturally into that pose which one is apt to associate with the professionals or those who have come by their game naturally or have played it since childhood. Known as the open stance, this attitude of address affected by Miss Leitch brings the right foot a trifle further forward than the left, the ball nearer the right heel and the right shoulder slightly lower than the left.

George Duncan, the British open champion, has remarked upon the wonderful natural balance of Miss Leitch, which enables her to use the open stance very successfully. This idea of perfect balance is what one immediately gets by looking at the photograph of the Silloth girl's stance. It enables her to carry back the club in perfect rhythm and to snap everything into the ball on the down swing, shoulders, waist, hips, arms and wrists, after the manner of the recoil of a spring.

Much Charm and Novelty In Her Iron and Mashie Play

Close students of golfing style Miss Cecil Leitch's methods are in some respects the quintessence of charm, particularly as regards the movements for some of her iron and mashie play. No finer mashie finish could be wished for than that depicted in one of the accompanying photographs, but in one respect at least her swing discloses an oddity. This will be seen by referring to the pictures depicting her at the top of her drive and at the apex of her swing on a full iron shot. The novelty is in the position of the club, which everything into the ball on the down swing, shoulders, waist, hips, arms and wrists, after the manner of the recoil of a spring.

Miss Leitch has a very flat swing. Evidently her left arm carries well out from the body. This and the solid palm grip of the left and the thrust of the wrist as she comes to the top of the swing doubtless would account for this peculiarity. Slight as a girl, Miss Cecil Leitch as a woman is sturdily built powerful one might almost be justified in saying. She has broad shoulders and a wrist strong and ideal for her purpose, which is the leading of her sex in affairs of the links. She is essentially the open air girl, a walking testimonial to the efficacy of golf and the great out of doors as the giver of health, strength and womanly charm, and it at any time Dr. Leitch of Silloth had cause to feel concerned for the health of his offspring he must often since have found time to congratulate himself on his foresight in handing his brood some golf clubs and balls and chasing them out into the open.

Because in her first three tournaments Miss Stirling has been forced to trail Miss Leitch is no reason why Americans should renege. In match play temperament has almost as much to do with the result as ability. But even should Miss Stirling fail to win the British championship, or whether or not Miss Leitch wins, all will be forgiven and forgotten if the present British champion remains true to her word given last year, or so it is said, to the London press, to the effect that if Miss Stirling should visit Great Britain during the season of 1921 she (Miss Leitch) would return the compliment by visiting the United States for our national championship.

If Miss Leitch feels that it behooves her to visit America for the purpose of regaining any laurels she may have lost to Miss Stirling at Turnberry, no one will quarrel with her motive. The main thing is that Americans want to see this wonder girl of the British links in action at the earliest possible moment.

Scouting in the Dark Has Its Joys

NEW YORK, May 14.

SCOUTING without eyes--do you think you can do it? Lynx eyed scout and eagle eyed, and so on down the length and breadth of the animal kingdom are the terms that Cooper and Henty and Oliver Optic fastened on the mighty scouts of yore. The idea of a blind scout who knows the birds by their call and the flowers by their touch and the ways of the road by experience never entered into their lists of the great.

Yet there are in New York more than two score blind scouts. They are all between the ages of twelve and fifteen, all boys; all keenly interested in the affairs of boys and boys' heroes. And they are the members of the Boy Scout Troop of the Lighthouse for the Blind, the only troop of blind scouts in the country.

It was several years ago that the nucleus of the troop of this kind was formed. To inaugurate a permanent programme for the development of the blind boy, who, because of his handicap, seemed cut off from the normal boy's whole world of sport. Only such things as were obviously impossible for him, such as map making, were omitted from the regular scout programme.

"In training a blind boy athletically we lay special emphasis on all exercises of self-defence," says Howard Anderson, scoutmaster of the blind troop. "Naturally the blind boy has to combat a more difficult world than the boy who can see. We therefore emphasize the importance of boxing and stage bouts for all our boys. We try to keep them alert and quickly responsive by having races and playing games."

Swimming, according to Mr. Anderson, is the easiest sport for the blind boy, and the one he takes to most naturally and enjoys most. "We go through the arm and leg motions with the boy, and when he has finally mastered these into the tank he goes--sink or swim. He usually swims."

And dives, too. For being without sight the blind boy loses to some degree the fear derived from seeing too much with too much imagination.

Every Saturday morning the troop gathers at the Lighthouse. Arm and abdominal exercises precede the scout drill, then the whole troop marches to Central Park to play games or to Jersey to hike and continue its nature study.

The process of playing a game when you can't see your opponent and he can't see you and you have to run along straight lines and catch balls is what confronts the scouts at the ball grounds. But all this is expedited by systems devised by Mr. Anderson. The boys are trained to run in straight lines by practice in lanes marked off by ropes. In the ball games the scoutmaster shouts the name of the boy whom the ball is approaching. The blind boy does not actually throw a ball, but in all games substitutes rolling for throwing. Knotting and semaphore signalling are also among the blind boy's scoutcraft.

An important work is now being done by the New York Lighthouse for the Blind through the summer school which the organization maintains for scouts and all other blind boys who care to attend. Handicrafts are taught here and reading, and thousands of sightless boys have benefited by this training.

In order to continue this work among blind American boyhood, and to offer it to the sightless boys of France and Italy, the committee for Lighthouses for the blind is now carrying on a campaign for $2,000,000.

This is the campaign of which President Harding accepted the honorary chairmanship on his recent visit to New York, when Miss Winifred Holt, the founder of the Lighthouse, received him at that institution.

A new Medium Weight Scripps-Booth six-cylinder model in four body designs has been added to the present line of light six-cylinder cars.

The observance of a few of the important units used in the construction of these new models is sufficient evidence of their mechanical excellence.

An examination of these new models will prove to you that they stand high in design and finish.

A short ride will convince you of their easy riding qualities and their easy manipulation in congested districts.

The belief that the motor car purchaser is more critical now than ever before in his demand for power, quality, riding comfort and dependable performance was the motive for the building of this new model.

MR. BILLINGS SPENDS HIS DIME

(By DANA BURNET.)

The distressed man trembled perceptibly as the cigar band was released to him. He held it up to the light as tho it had been platinum and rubies. Instead of mere paper and red ink, he thrust it into his inside coat pocket at last with a sigh of relief.

Mr. Billings laughed lightly. "What a 'Venga' he asked. The effect of this innocent question was astonishing. The proprietor's yellow skin grew gray. His eyes blazed out again.

"Senor! You know! You have read the message?"

"Ah, then it is done! You must come with me, senor."

"Come with you?"

"It is of a necessity," the man's voice had grown suddenly colder, cold, a trifle desperate.

Mr. Billings was not deaf to the importunities of that voice.

"Well," he said, "I always like to see you."

"You will come with me, senor? That is good! It is not far, and—"

He turned and beckoned with his hand. The proprietor turned at once and led the way back into the Cafeteria. As he reached the door, however, a man came out of it, an elderly looking nondescript individual in a slouching Panama hat, who, apparently being wrapped in his own thoughts, bumped squarely into the proprietor. The shock evidently startled him, for he put out both hands and clung for an instant to the latter.

"Cumbia, senor! Why do you go back where you are going?"

The man glanced up—Mr. Billings had a clear view of his face—muttered some embarrassed apology and disappeared down the street. The proprietor, drowning curses, gathered his disarranged clothing and entered the cafeteria. Mr. Billings followed him.

They walked the length of the restaurant, passed thru a door at the rear of it and up a shadowy staircase. Mr. Billings' heart began to throb a little faster, but his high spirits did not desert him. Treading gently on the footsteps of the guide, he passed thru a second door, traversed a narrow corridor and came to a halt against a blank wall, which the proprietor knocked upon and opened with his hand.

A panel of the wall swung back, revealing with magic suddenness a large, light room of simple aspect, at the far end of which a man sat writing at a plain oak table.

Beside the wall stood an iron bed and near it a bureau covered with heavy silver toilet articles. A clothes-dress and a chair or two completed the furniture. Mr. Billings had time to observe these few details, then the man at the table beckoned up from his writing.

He was as dark as the proprietor of the cafeteria, and had much the same sort of foreign air. But he was as different from the latter as the fox or wolf is different from the house dog. He had a long, thin, pointed nose, and ears that stood out sharply from his head. His swart face was half covered by a thick, curling growth of beard, blue-black in color. About the mouth this heavy matting of hair was cut away like a slit in a mask, showing the red line of his lips and, when he smiled, a gleaming array of teeth. His eyes were small, black and beady. His hair he wore brushed straight up from his forehead.

When he saw Mr. Billings advancing across the room, he sat back a little, dropped his hand into his side pocket.

"What is it, Manuel?" he asked coolly, in the precise and excellent English of the foreign-born.

The proprietor snapped his heels together and saluted.

"Excelencia!" he groaned; then, stumbling forward, he addressed the wolfish gentleman in floods of liquid vowels, his hands fluttering continually in the air, his tone a mixture of explanation, apprehension and pleading. Finally, reaching the climax of his recital, he thrust his fingers into the pocket, only to draw them out empty!

"Sangre de Dios!" he wailed. "It is gone!"

Thereupon his expression changed to one of fury. He whirled about and, leveling his finger at Mr. Billings, shouted: "You, senor; you have stolen it!"

"Stolen it?" cried Mr. Billings indignantly. "Why, confound your impudence! As tho I would steal—"

At this juncture the bearded man, who had been closely observing this scene, rose to his feet and swept the sputtering proprietor aside with a wave of the hand.

"Senor," said he, "I apologize for my friend's language. He is a trifle excited. May I ask your name, senor?"

"My name," said our hero, "is Billings—John Percival Billings, of New York—and Brooklyn."

"Ah, Senor Billings," exclaimed the wolfish gentleman with a smile that showed his grinning teeth, "will you kindly take a chair? There is a small matter which I should like to discuss with you." He turned to the abashed proprietor and said, still in his polite English: "If you should be so good, Manuel? I will talk to Senor Billings alone."

"Buena. Excelencia!" mumbled the man, and, saluting once more, slunk out of the room.

Mr. Billings experienced a faint discomfort as he heard the secret panel swing shut, but he accepted nonchalantly enough the chair that Excelencia drew out for him.

The latter sat down once more at his desk and, looking Mr. Billings, smiled.

"You are a business man, Senor Billings?"

"I ah—I have been."

"Yes, of course. You will understand me, then, when I say that I wish to make you a business proposition."

Mr. Billings made a little gesture with his head. "It so happens," said he, "that I am in a position to—ah—entertain a proposition."

Excelencia leaned forward a bit. "You have something that is valuable to me, Senor Billings. I am willing to buy that something from you—at a price."

"Humm!" said Mr. Billings, uttering mere noncommittal sound.

"You bought a cigar just now from our friend Manuel?"

"I did."

"That cigar had on it a paper ring, which you broke?"

"Yes."

"You saw something written upon the inside of that ring, Senor Billings?"

"Yes."

"You remember what it was—that writing?"

"Perfectly."

Excelencia nodded, took a key from his pocket, opened a concealed drawer in his desk and drew forth a thick packet of banknotes.

"Senor Billings," said he, "I have observed your character and I think that you are an honest man. I will pay you $5,000 to tell me truly what was written upon the inside of that cigar band."

"But I gave back the cigar band to your friend 'Manuel'!" cried Mr. Billings.

"And Manuel lost it," returned the other, "Manuel's memory is shaken by excitement. He is not sure of the message. You alone are sure. Will you kindly tell me what it was?"

The voice of the speaker had lost none of its suavity, but in his level glance was an almost deadly glitter. Mr. Billings cleared his throat.

"There were two numbers and a word."

school teacher, as her mother wished, and accept the hum-drum existence of this life at 19. Jane attracted the older men of the town rather than the youths, which was a constant source of discomfort to her mother, and of joy to her brother Jack. He had long ago decided that a "young fellow could never stand for any one like Jane. She was all right, but too cranky about things." Older men didn't seem to mind this trait. Withal, Jack had a great affection and admiration for his sister.

As for Jack, well he was just hobby-boy, sixteen, wholesome, lovable. He was addicted to a saxophone, which almost drove his mother wild, for Jack was apt to play it at any hour of the day or night. Jane considered the family lucky not to have him enamored of the coronet—as her chum's brother was. Of two evils, the saxophone, had as it was, was the lesser. Cherry never seemed to mind his "noises" on the old "sax," so they were friends at once. And he spent long hours explaining his love of it and all music to her, and in trying to teach her how to play his favorite instrument.

His one weakness, where his person was concerned, was neckties. Strange and wonderful were the ones that he wore, and he constantly startled and pained his family by appearing in them before guests. He had no interest whatsoever in girls. In fact, he had confided to Cherry that he had no use for the sex, not a little bit. Altho his new interest in fancy ties might have led most people to suspect that Jack had suddenly awakened to the light that lies in women's eyes.

Cherry and Jack got on famously together from the start, and altho she was not quite sure of Jane, she felt that she was her ally.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Brown was the possessor of very large feet and a very bad cough. He entered a boot shop and the young assistant turned the shop upside down to find something to fit him. Brown had just tried on the fortieth pair when he started coughing.

"Nasty cough!" said the assistant.

"Yes," gasped Brown. "Doctor says I've got one foot in the grave." "I shouldn't worry," said the assistant. "You'll never get the other in; it's too big."

Two negro girls were discussing the merits of a certain beauty specialist.

"Ah she the goods?" asked one.

"Can she make yo' beautiful?"

"Lissen, Pansy," came the answer, "at woman am so proficient she can make a human scarecrow look like the Venus de Milo standing knee deep in a lily pond."

"O Henry!" exclaimed the wife as she threw her arms rapturously round his neck. "I do love you so! Don't forget to leave me a couple of fives when you go to town this morning will you, dear?"

"And this," muttered Henry, as he gently disengaged himself from her fond embrace, "this is what I call being pressed for money."

"It is a question in my mind," remarked the dentist who had got up from a warm bed to respond to a cry from his baby. "If a fellow makes the most noise when his teeth are coming, or when they are going."

INGROWN NAIL

Toughen Skin and Toe Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

AH! EPSOM SALT LIKE LEMONADE

You can now buy epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea by asking your druggist for a handy package of "Epsomade Salts" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts, because it is real epsom salts combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade.

Take a tablespoonful in a glass of cold water, whenever you feel bilious, headachy or constipated. "Epsomade Salts" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association.—Adv.

Compare Marmon Performance as you compare price

While the Marmon 34, introducing 1922 prices now, means a saving of over 20%, think also of its supremacy in comparative demonstrations.

WE realize this fact: the reduction of the Marmon 34 to $3985 has quadrupled its appeal.

Our new obligation is to extend its acquaintance amongst the many who can now become owners of this quality car but who hitherto have not included it in their considerations.

We have felt a quick response to the price reduction. But we are still as insistent upon presenting the performance of the Marmon 34 as a fundamental superiority as we were when it was $5000.

We ask, therefore, for the opportunity of giving you a comparative demonstration.

MARMON 34 PRICES

	NOW	WAS
7-Passenger Touring	$3985.00	$5000.00
4-Passenger Touring
Club Roadster	4185.00	5300.00
Speedster	4375.00	6150.00
Coupe	5275.00	6600.00
Sedan
Limousine	5400.00	6800.00
Town Car

All prices at Indianapolis and subject to war tax

Either start from our showroom or telephone for a Marmon 34 to come to your office or home.

We present you with a simple score-card, the sort of test-sheet used by automotive engineers. On it are listed the 12 vital tests of performance.

Let us put the Marmon 34 through these tests. Sit at the wheel yourself, if you choose. Then compare the results with any car you know. Or with any car you are considering.

Thus you gain complete information on the two decisive factors in buying: price and performance.

May we expect a visit or telephone call today?

White Trucks First—

in Variety of Uses

The uses of White Truck are so varied and widespread that there is literally no transportation undertaking in any line of business in which they have not had a part.

in Long Mileage Records

There are numerous owners' records of 100,000 miles, many of 200,000 miles and some of 300,000 miles.

in High Earning Power

The earning power of White Trucks results from low costs and high performance, without a parallel in motor trucking so far as we have any records.

in Construction Hauling

White Trucks are used by contractors in 156 cities. They are used by 431 lumber dealers; by 218 dealers in building supplies and by 224 miscellaneous concerns in the building and contracting field; 363 states, counties and municipalities use White Trucks on road construction and maintenance work.

These owners know from their cost records that White Trucks not only do the most work, but they do it for least money.

in Fleet Installations

No fleet record of truck owners has ever been published which compares in extent of progressive growth with the White Annual Roll Call.

in Service to Owners

Millions have been invested in White owner service and factory facilities built up throughout the country.

White Trucks are an Investment of recognized earning power, backed by a responsible truck manufacturer with years of successful experience, thousands of trained employees, tens of thousands of trucks in active service.

We are White Truck Distributors for Van Wert Co., Mercer, Allen, Auglaize, Hardin, Marion, Morrow, Crawford, Richland, Ashland Counties and six townships in the southern part of Putnam County.

THE BUYING POWER OF GREAT RESOURCES

Dodge Brothers resources have always made it possible to purchase materials far in advance of their requirements.

They have never been obliged to buy at the peak market.

The price of their car has always been based upon this purchasing ability and never on current costs.

Dodge Brothers have always given the purchaser the benefit of this saving.
